Seized In Raids

Hancock 'Slots' Go Up In Flames

By CHARLES CRONIN

Billowing clouds of black smoke from a gasoline - fed, fire signaled the end for a moving van load of gambling equipment destroyed at a junk yard in Weirton Friday afternoon by West Virginia State Police and Hancock County constables.

This scene at the "hot hit" for gaming equipment seized in raids at Hancock County taverns shows two State Police officers and Constable Harold Davis of Chester tossing a $3,500 roulette wheel into the flames.

The officers destroyed 10 slot machines, cards and dice, the roulette wheel, barbout table, electric gaming clock, large chalk boards used in horse book joints, and a number of barstools used to seat patrons playing barbout.

Two of the "one - armed bandits" were seized by Constables Davis, J. Carl Durham and Sam Swain in a raid on the Rio Club behind the Cactus Bar east of Chester Dec. 2.

Two others were confiscated by State Police at Club 2 in Brooke County and eight more at the Serbian Athletic Club in Weirton. Produced by a Chicago novelty company, the slot machines were worth an estimated $2,500. Officers smashed them into worthless junk before dousing them with gasoline and setting fire.

The previous owners of the gambling machines had signed waivers authorizing their destruction, including William Watson of Chester, arrested in the raid at the Rio Club by the three constables.

Among those looking on in the numbing cold were Constable Davis of Chester and Constable Durham of Newell, County Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr, and Lt. W. R. Seal of Shinnston and Cpl. C. W. Tighe of State Police. Lt. Seal supervised the burning of equipment seized by

20 Banking Institutions Are Indicted

Minnesota Firms Cited; First Time Law Used On Banks

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The federal government has begun a double-barrelled legal action against 20 Minnesota banking and financial institutions, marking the first use of the Sherman Antitrust law against banks.

Three indictments returned by a federal grand jury Friday named 18 banks, a bank holding company and a clearing house in the criminal action.

Government attorneys said they will bring companion civil suits Monday asking courts to prohibit the rate-fixing activities charged in the indictments.

The indictments climaxed an investigation that began in September 1961. It was headed by Samuel Flatow, a Justice Department attorney.

Among the counts in the indictments were charges that the banks acted in concert to fix rates, terms and conditions on loans secured by bank stock, fixed rates of interest for correspondent banks, and in general agreed on relations with correspondent banks.

Correspondent banks are those in smaller towns which rely on big city banks to clear checks and make loans larger than the legal limits applied to the rural banks.

Officials of Minneapolis banks called a quick news conference Friday night to deny the charges.

"We seem to be the guinea pigs," said J. H. Colman, chairman of the board of First Bank Stock Corp., a big bank stock holding company.

The bankers said the government's move is a test action to determine "if, and to what extent, antitrust laws apply to banking."

Maximum penalty for each defendant in the criminal actions would be a $50,000 fine. Chief officers of each bank must appear for arraignment Monday.

U.S. District Judge Edward J. Devitt said each defendant firm will be allowed at least 30 days to file motions resisting the indictments.

The first indictment charges banks in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth with fixing terms and rates for correspondent banks.

Cubans Get Arms Pointers

Mr. K Says U.S. Need Not Fear Of Buildup In Cuba

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told newspaper magnate Roy Thomson today that Soviet troops in Cuba are there only to instruct Cubans in advanced weapons.

Thomson said the Soviet premier told him there need be no concern by the United States about a Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

Thomson met Khrushchev in the Kremlin for 2½ hours, and told newsmen afterward that their discussions were most frank and ranged over many subjects.

Kennedy Eyes Troop Solution Before Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is reported to have expressed hope that the problem of Soviet troops in Cuba will be resolved by the time he leaves for Costa Rica in mid-March.

U.S. diplomatic informants said Friday that Kennedy voiced this hope during a White House meeting Thursday with Costa Rica's foreign minister, Daniel Oduber.

However, the sources emphasized that Kennedy did not specify or predict a deadline after which some action might be taken.

At his Thursday news conference, the President recalled that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had promised that Russian troops will be withdrawn from Cuba in due time. He said the United States is trying to determine through discussions when this may come about.

U.S. and Latin-American diplomats discounted one report which quoted the President as telling an unidentified Latin-American diplomat Thursday that he is confident Soviet troops will be off the island by March and that if they are not he plans concerted action with other hemisphere nations.

Driver Hurt Slightly In Rt. 7 Mishap

R. L. Brammer, 21, Of Hammondsville Victim Of Accident

A young Hammondsville area man was killed but his companion suffered only minor injuries when their car wrecked at the intersection of Routes 7 and 213 at Yellow Creek below Wellsville early today.

Dead in the accident at 2:40 a.m. was Ronald Lee Brammer, 21, of Hammondsville R.D. 1, a passenger in the car driven by John Goleno, 21, of Irondale, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Mr. Brammer was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital at 3:30 with a fractured neck and possible fracture of the lower back.

The patrol said Goleno was headed south on Route 7 at a high rate of speed when he lost control on a left curve. The car plunged off the right side of the highway and first struck a flasher light standard at the intersection. The car then sideswiped a tree and continued into a field along the highway.

It never overturned, officers said.

The patrol said the main impact with the light standard was on the passenger's side.

The 1958 sedan was demolished.

This was the first traffic fatality investigated by the Wintersville Patrol in Jefferson County this year although it was the third this week in the East Liverpool area. A truck driver was killed Thursday and an autoist Tuesday, both in Columbiana County mishaps.

Mr. Brammer was born in Carrollton Sept. 19, 1941, to Herbert and Virginia Rossey Bram-

Borders Sealed Off In Revolt

Iraq Premier, Top Aides Executed, Broadcast Says

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rebel firing squads have executed Iraq's overthrown Premier Abdel Kerim Kassem and three of his top lieutenants, the Baghdad radio announced today.

The executions took place after the capture of Kassem and his aides by army rebels who staged a lightning revolt Friday, the broadcast said.

Earlier broadcasts by the new pro-Nasser regime had said Kassem was "destroyed" but gave no details of his reported death. It was believed by some that he could have fled from his besieged defense ministry and made good his escape by boat on the Tigris River.

Another broadcast today said that the bodies of two of Kassem's lieutenants had been found by soldiers in the rubble of the bombed-out ministry. As soon as the announcer read his statement, other voices were heard shouting that the "mad dictator has met his death beneath the feet of the people."

Indicating that anti-Communist rebels may not yet have extended their supremacy everywhere, other broadcasts urged people to report to recruiting centers and enlist to defend the revolt against Kassem's supporters.

Borders and airports remained sealed off from the rest of the world and Iraqis were warned that violators of a curfew would be shot.

Syria, Iraq's northwest neighbor closed its own borders and braced for possible trouble from the pro-Nasser new regime. The situation in Damascus, where pro-Nasser students had demonstrated against the government last month, was described as tense.

Turkey, on the northeastern border, alerted its gendarmerie and air force units on the frontier. Prime Minister Ismet Inonu was quoted in the Turkish press as saying "my guess is Nasser has a finger in this affair."

The tenor of accounts in the Turkish press indicated the writers believed the revolt was justified.

The three executed besides Kassem were Col. Gadel Abass El Mahdawi, president of the People's Court; Taha Sheikh Ahmed, described as a notorious Communist agent, and a Lt. Kanaan of the military police.

The bodies uncovered in the Defense Ministry ruins were those of Col. Wasfi Taher and Brig. Abdel Kerim El Jedda, the radio said. Taher was Kassem's chief military aide and El Jedda, was chief of the Defense Ministry guard.

Jury Indicts Columnist As Dictator Aide

Cassini Cited For Failing To Register As Dominican Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—Debonair Igor Cassini, who writes of the Smart Set under the name "Cholly Knickerbocker," has been indicted on charges of failing to register as a publicity agent for the Dominican regime of the late Rafael Trujillo.

The 47-year-old society columnist, younger brother of Mrs. John F. Kennedy's dress designer, Oleg Cassini, labeled the charge untrue.

"I am confident I will be cleared of this technical charge of non-registration," he said.

The Justice Department said a federal grand jury, investigating Dominican lobbying in the United States, returned a four-count indictment against Cassini Friday.

A department spokesman said the jury accused Cassini of sharing fees of almost $200,000 for spreading "political propaganda" to improve the tarnished image of the Trujillo government.

The period covered in the indictment is from June 1959 to November 1961. Dictator Trujillo was assassinated in May 1961.

Also named in two counts of the indictment was R. Paul Englander, 76-year-old New York lawyer.

Prison Board Report Slated On Jailbreak

2 Turnkeys Remain Under Suspension In Beaver Incident

A full report by the Beaver County Prison Board on a jailbreak Wednesday night by three prisoners will not be made until early next week.

The board met Friday afternoon to begin its investigation but District Atty. Richard P. Steward, whose office is investigating, was unable to attend because of illness.

Commissioner James Ross, chairman, presided at the meeting at which a report was made by Sheriff John Hineman and statements were submitted by Vincent Kosloski and Andrew Mihalic, the two turnkeys who were overpowered by the three inmates.

The two turnkeys will remain under suspension until the investigation has been completed. Suspension is automatic in any case dealing with an escape from the county jail, authorities said.

Robert Lenigan and Albert Sheetz, both of Pittsburgh, and Charles Groves of Wooster, awaiting sentencing on armed robbery charges, overpowered Mihalic Wednesday night in the cell block and then entered the main office and surprised Kosloski.

They were recaptured early Thursday afternoon in Industry by Ohioville Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich after police were tipped off the trio had purchased beer in Mary's Bar.

Local Cancels Strike Called At Patterson

East End Concern And Union Ratify New 2-Year Pact

United Steelworkers Local 1322 called off threatened strike Friday midnight against the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. after East End company and union officials formally signed a new two-year contract which the union said was negotiated in early November.

Local union officers posted a strike notice Tuesday morning, asserting the company had not signed the agreement. It advised the members the strike would take effect last midnight.

The new contract was ratified by company and union officials at 6 p. m. yesterday, the local said.

William Barker, general manager, could not be reached for comment.

The only direct monetary issue in the pact is a 1½-cent hourly cost-of-living raise, retroactive to Nov. 1, the local said. It also provides for fringe benefits, including supplementary unemployment benefits. However, the SUB pay will not be available until a fund is built up from which it can be paid, the local said.

The contract covers approximately 100 men. Its effective date is last Aug. 1, when the former

Woman Hurt In Car Mishap

City Autoist Cited For St. Clair Crash

A Burgettstown area woman was hospitalized late Friday afternoon with a possible back injury and a North Side woman was cited following a collision on St. Clair Ave.

Mrs. Sarah Harris, 40, of Burgettstown R.D. 2 was in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital where she was admitted for X-rays.

Mrs. Alberta G. Cochran, 38, of 1100 Oliver St. was cited by police for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

Mrs. Cochran told officers she was headed up St. Clair Ave. when she rounded a bend and saw the Harris car, which she believed to be moving. Mrs. Cochran said she was unable to stop in time to avoid striking the rear end of the 1962 compact. The mishap was timed at 5:21 p.m.

A slippery street was blamed for a crash at 10:30 p.m. on W. 4th St., about 100 feet west of Monroe St., police reported.

Donald M. Balsar, 16, of 414 19th St., Wellsville, told officers he was headed west. Realizing W. 4th St. was a dead end after he had passed Monroe St., the youthful driver said he applied his brakes but skidded on ice into the path of Hilda J. Richmond, 404 W. 4th St., damaging the left door and rear panel.

May Take Steps To Find Out

U.S. Judge Hints Ransom To Castro May Be Illegal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A federal judge says the flow of ransom to Fidel Castro may be illegal, and indicates he may take steps to find out.

U.S. District Judge Emett C. Choate made his remarks in rejecting a petitioner's contention Friday that shipment of food and drugs from this country to Cuba is treason.

While Choate was discussing the legality of ransom payments, more than 100 new refugees, including some with U.S. citizenship, were reaching Miami by airlift that took 15,000 pounds of ransom to Havana.

Choate gave plaintiff Douglas R. Voorhees and three defendants 10 days to submit briefs on whether Choate has jurisdiction to rule on Voorhees' petition to halt continuing deliveries of $53 million in goods as payment for 1,113 Cuba invasion prisoners Castro freed last December.

Voorhees, who has tried physically several times to block the ransom deal, also contends that individuals engaged in it violate the Logan Act that forbids private citizens to negotiate with foreign governments.

Choate said the deal would be a clear violation of the act if conducted by individuals. But, he said, "There's no question the government's in it."

Choate, a 72-year-old Republican, made one ruling in Friday's hearing. He rejected Voorhees' contention that treason was invoked in the ransome issue.

Friday's first Pan-Am plane to Cuba unloaded vital commodities and brought back 113 passengers—all that could be crammed abourd the DC6B.

Safecrackers Obtain Cash In Loblaw Entry

Safecrackers escaped with an undetermined amount of cash when they drilled the strongbox of the Loblaw's Super-market on Dresden Ave. Ext. sometime Friday night or early today.

City police said the market management declined to estimate the loss but it was presumably large as it may have represented receipts from Friday's business, one of the heaviest foodmarket shopping days of the week.

The burglars broke into the safe by drilling out the combination. The burglary was discovered at 7:57 a.m. when the assistant manager, George Stockdale, opened for business.

Moore Seen As Favorite For GOP Post

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Republican Executive Committee was to choose a successor this afternoon to the late Walter S. Hallahan as GOP national committeeman.

Hallahan, who served on the Republican National Committee for many years, died last Dec. 27.

The apparent pre-meeting favorite for the post was Rep. Arch Moore of Glen Dale. Moore was the only Republican to win a major office in last November's election. He overcame a heavy Democratic registration advantage to defeat veteran Democratic Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey of Clarksburg by more than 32,000 votes.

Moore has been the only party leader showing apparent interest in the job, although former U.S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of Charleston has said he would be willing to serve if named.

One GOP source said there are some misgivings about Moore in party ranks, because naming Moore would concentrate much of the leadership in the Northern Panhandle. State Chairman Howard V. Corcoran is from Wheeling.

Others mentioned for the post include Corcoran, former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of Huntington, former State Chairman Dan Louchery of Clarksburg and Cooper Benedict of Lewisburg.

Cash In Truck 'Lifted' In Driver's Absence

An unknown amount of cash was stolen from a dry cleaning firm's truck while the driver was absent for a few minutes to make a delivery early Friday night, police reported.

The unidentified driver for Resnick's, Inc., of Washington, Pa., told officers a "bagful" of clothing receipts and a manila envelope were stolen from his truck when he parked at St. Clair Ave. and E. 6th St. about 6:30 p.m. to make a delivery at Peter Pan Cleaners.

The driver said he had placed the sack and envelope behind the seat but they were missing when he returned. Police said the driver explained the articles usually are put into a locked safe in the truck but he neglected to follow the procedure because of the short time he would be absent.

City Spared Another Zero But Snow's Due

East Liverpool was spared another zero morning as temperatures fell to "only" 9 above despite a forecast that the city might have had 5 below. It hit zero Friday morning.

But the relief from severe cold was offset with a prediction of possible light snow this evening and Sunday, then changing to flurries.

The mercury may climb to a range of 18 to 25 today and dip to only 15 to 20 tonight with the more moderate conditions expected to last through the weekend.

Boston had its coldest day of the year with a minus 3 reading. New York City's 2 below on Friday was the lowest there in two years, as the temperature dropped 46 degrees in less than 24 hours.

Search Continues For Missing Tanker

NEW YORK (AP)—The air and sea search continued today for a missing American tanker with a crew of 39 aboard. The Coast Guard described the captain as a punctual man who ordinarily would report by radio if his ship was delayed.

Since noon Thursday, when the Marine Sulphur Queen was due at Norfolk, Va., there has been no word from the 524-foot ship, a converted T2 tanker of World War II vintage.

Accused Slayer Seeks Release From Hospital

BEAVER — Nearly 24 years after being committed to Fairview State Hospital following the slaying of his parents and sister, Paul Cook is seeking his release despite knowledge he still is subject to a murder trial.

Cook is scheduled to be returned here for a hearing on his request on an order signed by Judge Morgan H. Sohn.

A sanity commission ruled Cook insane at the time his parents and sister were slain in 1939 in South Beaver Township and he was committed to the hospital without being brought to trial.

A slippery street was blamed for a crash at 10:30 p.m. on W. 4th St., about 100 feet west of Monroe St., police reported.

Donald M. Balsar, 16, of 414 19th St., Wellsville, told officers he was headed west. Realizing W. 4th St. was a dead end after he had passed Monroe St., the youthful driver said he applied his brakes but skidded on ice into the path of Hilda J. Richmond, 404 W. 4th St., damaging the left door and rear panel.

May Take Steps To Find Out

U.S. Judge Hints Ransom To Castro May Be Illegal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A federal judge says the flow of ransom to Fidel Castro may be illegal, and indicates he may take steps to find out.

U.S. District Judge Emett C. Choate made his remarks in rejecting a petitioner's contention Friday that shipment of food and drugs from this country to Cuba is treason.

While Choate was discussing the legality of ransom payments, more than 100 new refugees, including some with U.S. citizenship, were reaching Miami by airlift that took 15,000 pounds of ransom to Havana.

Choate gave plaintiff Douglas R. Voorhees and three defendants 10 days to submit briefs on whether Choate has jurisdiction to rule on Voorhees' petition to halt continuing deliveries of $53 million in goods as payment for 1,113 Cuba invasion prisoners Castro freed last December.

Voorhees, who has tried physically several times to block the ransom deal, also contends that individuals engaged in it violate the Logan Act that forbids private citizens to negotiate with foreign governments.

Choate said the deal would be a clear violation of the act if conducted by individuals. But, he said, "There's no question the government's in it."

Choate, a 72-year-old Republican, made one ruling in Friday's hearing. He rejected Voorhees' contention that treason was invoked in the ransome issue.

Friday's first Pan-Am plane to Cuba unloaded vital commodities and brought back 113 passengers—all that could be crammed abourd the DC6B.

Safecrackers Obtain Cash In Loblaw Entry

Safecrackers escaped with an undetermined amount of cash when they drilled the strongbox of the Loblaw's Super-market on Dresden Ave. Ext. sometime Friday night or early today.

City police said the market management declined to estimate the loss but it was presumably large as it may have represented receipts from Friday's business, one of the heaviest foodmarket shopping days of the week.

The burglars broke into the safe by drilling out the combination. The burglary was discovered at 7:57 a.m. when the assistant manager, George Stockdale, opened for business.

Moore Seen As Favorite For GOP Post

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Republican Executive Committee was to choose a successor this afternoon to the late Walter S. Hallahan as GOP national committeeman.

Hallahan, who served on the Republican National Committee for many years, died last Dec. 27.

The apparent pre-meeting favorite for the post was Rep. Arch Moore of Glen Dale. Moore was the only Republican to win a major office in last November's election. He overcame a heavy Democratic registration advantage to defeat veteran Democratic Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey of Clarksburg by more than 32,000 votes.

Moore has been the only party leader showing apparent interest in the job, although former U.S. Sen. Chapman Revercomb of Charleston has said he would be willing to serve if named.

One GOP source said there are some misgivings about Moore in party ranks, because naming Moore would concentrate much of the leadership in the Northern Panhandle. State Chairman Howard V. Corcoran is from Wheeling.

Others mentioned for the post include Corcoran, former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of Huntington, former State Chairman Dan Louchery of Clarksburg and Cooper Benedict of Lewisburg.

Cash In Truck 'Lifted' In Driver's Absence

An unknown amount of cash was stolen from a dry cleaning firm's truck while the driver was absent for a few minutes to make a delivery early Friday night, police reported.

The unidentified driver for Resnick's, Inc., of Washington, Pa., told officers a "bagful" of clothing receipts and a manila envelope were stolen from his truck when he parked at St. Clair Ave. and E. 6th St. about 6:30 p.m. to make a delivery at Peter Pan Cleaners.

The driver said he had placed the sack and envelope behind the seat but they were missing when he returned. Police said the driver explained the articles usually are put into a locked safe in the truck but he neglected to follow the procedure because of the short time he would be absent.

City Spared Another Zero But Snow's Due

East Liverpool was spared another zero morning as temperatures fell to "only" 9 above despite a forecast that the city might have had 5 below. It hit zero Friday morning

But the relief from severe cold was offset with a prediction of possible light snow this evening and Sunday, then changing to flurries.

The mercury may climb to a range of 18 to 25 today and dip to only 15 to 20 tonight with the more moderate conditions expected to last through the weekend.

Boston had its coldest day of the year with a minus 3 reading. New York City's 2 below on Friday was the lowest there in two years, as the temperature dropped 46 degrees in less than 24 hours.

Search Continues For Missing Tanker

NEW YORK (AP)—The air and sea search continued today for a missing American tanker with a crew of 39 aboard. The Coast Guard described the captain as a punctual man who ordinarily would report by radio if his ship was delayed.

Since noon Thursday, when the Marine Sulphur Queen was due at Norfolk, Va., there has been no word from the 524-foot ship, a converted T2 tanker of World War II vintage.

Accused Slayer Seeks Release From Hospital

BEAVER — Nearly 24 years after being committed to Fairview State Hospital following the slaying of his parents and sister, Paul Cook is seeking his release despite knowledge he still is subject to a murder trial.

Cook is scheduled to be returned here for a hearing on his request on an order signed by Judge Morgan H. Sohn.

A sanity commission ruled Cook insane at the time his parents and sister were slain in 1939 in South Beaver Township and he was committed to the hospital without being brought to trial.

Chester Wife Struck By Car

A Chester woman was hospitalized Friday at 11:40 a. m. with injuries suffered when she stepped into the path of a car on Carolina Ave. near 7th St., Chester.

Mrs. Sylvia Kester, 54, of 701 Carolina Ave., was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received when struck by the car driven by Francis Doherty, 410 Summit Ln., East Liverpool, police said.

Mrs. Kester and her husband, Merle Kester, had just alighted from a bus at 7th St. They proceeded to walk around the rear of the bus to cross the street. Mrs. Kester stepped from behind the bus into the path of the Doherty car.

She was knocked to the pavement. Her husband was not hit. Doherty took the couple to Chester City Hall and reported the accident to Patrolman Clifford Beebout and then took them to the hospital.

Doherty told police he was traveling about 15 miles an hour. Kester agreed that the car was moving slowly and Mrs. Kester told police she was at fault.

Mrs. Kester suffered fractures of the right ribs and multiple contusions and lacerations of the right face, arm and leg.

Vietnamese Forces Kill 73 Viet Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese air and ground forces flushing out guerilla units from Communist jungle strongholds killed 73 Viet Cong troops in widespread mop-up operations, a government spokesman said today.

He said Vietnamese Air Force planes made 53 sorties on strafing and bombing missions Thursday, killing 57 Viet Cong. Later in the week ground forces killed 11 Communist guerrillas and destroyed a supply depot in mountains 350 miles northeast of Saigon, he added.

Slots

State Police, and Davis and Durham were in charge of destruction of the equipment impounded at the Rio Club.

Constable Swain was unable to be present. He recently underwent surgery at Weirton General Hospital.

The officers had stored the equipment in the basement of the State Police Barracks in Weirton, and had twice postponed the bonfire because of freezing weather. The slot machines were first emptied of silver and the working parts were smashed.

No estimate was given on the total value of the equipment destroyed, although State Police said the roulette wheel—built of polished mahogany and precisioned balance apparatus—was worth $3,500. It was seized in one of the area clubs and a seal pasted on its top indicated it had been used in Reno, Nev., before arriving in Hancock County.

A yellowed mailing label on the bottom of one of the impounded chairs revealed it had been manufactured in Cincinnati and shipped to "Club 30, Chester, W. Va." Once the most notorious night spot in the Northern Panhandle, Club 30 was closed by State Police several years back, and some of its furnishings apparently found their way into other gaming casinos along Route 30 east of Chester.

A sign hauled away by the law officers from one of the clubs indicated the size of poker games played by patrons. It set table stakes at $10, with a $3 limit on bets.

Police were thorough in the raids, with the confiscated equipment even including a curved stick used by the croupier to rake in the chips at the roulette table.

Banks, Some Offices Here Shut Tuesday

contract expired. The local said its members worked on a day-to-day basis while negotiations were under way following expiration of the old pact.

James Mullen, District 20 representative of the United Steelworkers, was the chief negotiator for the union. The contract was signed by Mullen, Glenn A. Ramsey, president, and other officers of the local union and Barker and other officials for the company.

Ramsey said the pact constitutes an agreement between the company and the international union.

The local's strike notice was not removed from the bulletin board until last night—after most of the work force had gone home. Only a small force normally is on duty Saturday and Sunday. The local advised its members of the signing and asked them to report as usual Monday morning.

Wareboys' Walkout At Pottery Is Brief

A brief walkout at Plant 4 of the Homer Laughlin China Co. ended late Friday afternoon after forcing a shutdown of a portion of the plant.

The dispute was settled about 5 p.m. after some wareboys walked off the job about 1 p.m. causing the shutdown in other portions of the plant, a company spokesman said.

There was no explanation of the walkout.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George S. Heitzler Jr., assistant Hamilton County prosecutor, has received Gov. James A. Rhodes' appointment as a judge of Cincinnati Municipal Court.

Equipment Bids Received

Discussions on the purchase of various pieces of new equipment highlighted a meeting of the Liverpool Township trustees Friday night at City Hall.

Firemen had requested various supplies and equipment and Simon Hall, clerk, said bids have been received from three firms. They were taken under advisement.

A discussion also was held on the purchase of a special type slag spreader for use in "chipping" jobs in townships during the summer. The Adams Machinery Co. of Salineville offered a price. A discussion also was held on whether to repair the present road roller or trade it in.

A deed was received from the West volunteer fire department for a small strip of land along the north side of the LaCroft station. The land will be used for construction of hose - drying racks.

Hall will leave next week for a vacation in Florida. No action will be taken on bills or any fund matters at future meetings until his return about mid - March. The road payrolls will be made.

He will be present for the meeting March 22.

Drugs Taken At Pharmacy

NEW CUMBERLAND — An intruder obtained a large supply of drugs and $42 in change in a breaking and entering at Walton's Pharmacy on Chestnut St., Police Chief William Webster reported.

The robberty was discovered Friday morning about 9 and an investigation revealed phenobarbital and other drugs missing from shelves during the day's business.

About $42 in silver was stolen, along with the drugs. Chief Webster estimated the loss at $93.81.

Meanwhile, the officer arrested Harry G. Tenazer, 62, of Coraopolis on a charge of reckless driving Friday morning at 11:20 on Court St. near the high school.

Chester Wife Struck By Car

A Chester woman was hospitalized Friday at 11:40 a. m. with injuries suffered when she stepped into the path of a car on Carolina Ave. near 7th St., Chester.

Mrs. Sylvia Kester, 54, of 701 Carolina Ave., was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries received when struck by the car driven by Francis Doherty, 410 Summit Ln., East Liverpool, police said.

Mrs. Kester and her husband, Merle Kester, had just alighted from a bus at 7th St. They proceeded to walk around the rear of the bus to cross the street. Mrs. Kester stepped from behind the bus into the path of the Doherty car.

She was knocked to the pavement. Her husband was not hit. Doherty took the couple to Chester City Hall and reported the accident to Patrolman Clifford Beebout and then took them to the hospital.

Doherty told police he was traveling about 15 miles an hour. Kester agreed that the car was moving slowly and Mrs. Kester told police she was at fault.

Mrs. Kester suffered fractures of the right ribs and multiple contusions and lacerations of the right face, arm and leg.

Vietnamese Forces Kill 73 Viet Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese air and ground forces flushing out guerilla units from Communist jungle strongholds killed 73 Viet Cong troops in widespread mop-up operations, a government spokesman said today.

He said Vietnamese Air Force planes made 53 sorties on strafing and bombing missions Thursday, killing 57 Viet Cong. Later in the week ground forces killed 11 Communist guerrillas and destroyed a supply depot in mountains 350 miles northeast of Saigon, he added.

Resumes Flights

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Spanish airline Iberia is resuming the Madrid-Havana flights which were suspended during the October blockade, the Cuban radio said today. Iberia will fly the route twice a month.

Motorist Forfeits

LISBON — Donald Edward Degarmo, 29, of R.D. 1 forfeited a $10 appearance bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's court Friday for failing to obey a traffic signal. He was cited by police.

Slots

State Police, and Davis and Durham were in charge of destruction of the equipment impounded at the Rio Club.

The officers had stored the equipment in the basement of the State Police Barracks in Weirton, and had twice postponed the bonfire because of freezing weather. The slot machines were first emptied of silver and the working parts were smashed.

No estimate was given on the total value of the equipment destroyed, although State Police said the roulette wheel—built of polished mahogany and precisioned balance apparatus—was worth $3,500. It was seized in one of the area clubs and a seal pasted on its top indicated it had been used in Reno, Nev., before arriving in Hancock County.

A yellowed mailing label on the bottom of one of the impounded chairs revealed it had been manufactured in Cincinnati and shipped to "Club 30, Chester, W. Va." Once the most notorious night spot in the Northern Panhandle, Club 30 was closed by State Police several years back, and some of its furnishings apparently found their way into other gaming casinos along Route 30 east of Chester.

A sign hauled away by the law officers from one of the clubs indicated the size of poker games played by patrons. It set table stakes at $10, with a $3 limit on bets.

Police were thorough in the raids, with the confiscated equipment even including a curved stick used by the croupier to rake in the chips at the roulette table.

Banks, Some Offices Here Shut Tuesday

The city's banks, a few savings and loan firms and a number of public offices will not be open Tuesday because of Lincoln's birthday.

The Columbiana County Courthouse at Lisbon will be closed but the East Liverpool City Hall will remain open although Municipal Court will be closed. Parking meters will operate as usual.

Closed will be the First National Bank and the Potters Bank & Trust Co. of East Liverpool and the Central Federal Savings & Loan Association and the Perpetual Savings & Loan Co. of Wellsville.

State Liquor stores in East Liverpool and Wellsville also will be closed for both Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

The Ohio State Employment Service office also will be closed with Tuesday claimants reporting on Wednesday.

The Chester liquor store will be closed, also for Washington's birthday Feb. 22.

Strike

contract expired. The local said its members worked on a day-to-day basis while negotiations were under way following expiration of the old pact.

James Mullen, District 20 representative of the United Steelworkers, was the chief negotiator for the union. The contract was signed by Mullen, Glenn A. Ramsey, president, and other officers of the local union and Barker and other officials for the company.

Ramsey said the pact constitutes an agreement between the company and the international union.

The local's strike notice was not removed from the bulletin board until last night—after most of the work force had gone home. Only a small force normally is on duty Saturday and Sunday. The local advised its members of the signing and asked them to report as usual Monday morning.

Wareboys' Walkout At Pottery Is Brief

A brief walkout at Plant 4 of the Homer Laughlin China Co. ended late Friday afternoon after forcing a shutdown of a portion of the plant.

The dispute was settled about 5 p.m. after some wareboys walked off the job about 1 p.m. causing the shutdown in other portions of the plant, a company spokesman said.

There was no explanation of the walkout.

Appointed Judge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George S. Heitzler Jr., assistant Hamilton County prosecutor, has received Gov. James A. Rhodes' appointment as a judge of Cincinnati Municipal Court.

Equipment Bids Received

Discussions on the purchase of various pieces of new equipment highlighted a meeting of the Liverpool Township trustees Friday night at City Hall.

Firemen had requested various supplies and equipment and Simon Hall, clerk, said bids have been received from three firms. They were taken under advisement.

A discussion also was held on the purchase of a special type slag spreader for use in "chipping" jobs in townships during the summer. The Adams Machinery Co. of Salineville offered a price. A discussion also was held on whether to repair the present road roller or trade it in.

A deed was received from the West volunteer fire department for a small strip of land along the north side of the LaCroft station. The land will be used for construction of hose - drying racks.

Hall will leave next week for a vacation in Florida. No action will be taken on bills or any fund matters at future meetings until his return about mid - March. The road payrolls will be made.

He will be present for the meeting March 22.

Drugs Taken At Pharmacy

NEW CUMBERLAND — An intruder obtained a large supply of drugs and $42 in change in a breaking and entering at Walton's Pharmacy on Chestnut St., Police Chief William Webster reported.

The robberty was discovered Friday morning about 9 and an investigation revealed phenobarbital and other drugs missing from shelves during the day's business.

About $42 in silver was stolen, along with the drugs. Chief Webster estimated the loss at $93.81.

Meanwhile, the officer arrested Harry G. Tenazer, 62, of Coraopolis on a charge of reckless driving Friday morning at 11:20 on Court St. near the high school.

Wellsville Women's Club Sets Installation

Improved Farm Practices Listed

LISBON — Improved farm practices were stressed in 1962, Floyd Lower, county agricultural agent, pointed out in his summary of activities of the Columbiana County Agricultural Extension Service.

Lower, who is retiring Feb. 28 after more than 43 years in extention service, said better fertility practices, use of new varieties, chemical weed control and increased soil and water management helped contribute to greater crop yield.

ACTIVITIES in which producers engaged included the Soils and Crops Institute, conservation field meeting and tour of the Mahoning County Experiment Farm.

More soil samples were tested by the Soils Laboratory at Ohio State University than in any previous year.

Most farmers are now using soil tests to determine the lime and fertilizer needs of their various crops, Lower said.

Livestock progress was made by tuberculin testing of cattle and the county became reaccredited July 1. Brucelloisi testing proceeded according to the state plan and progress was made in the control of other livestock diseases.

More cattle were bred artificially than in any previous year and more dairy herds participated in butter fat testing of individual cows in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

COLUMBIANA county beef cattle breeders made a good start on production testing with seven herds enrolled.

Sheep, swine and poultry producers attended various meetings to obtain up-to-date information on feeding, management, marketing and other phases of their business. A sheep dipping service was provided for sheepmen and both summer and winter meetings were held for most farm enterprises.

A high-quality potato crop was produced by county growers last year and with the use of test plots the search continues for new varieties for both table stock and chipping with improved production and marketing practices being followed.

Dairymen studied methods of caring for and handling cattle on the dairy barn tour and at various dairy meetings. Many dairymen obtained plans from the extension service for buildings and equipment.

HOMEOWNERS attended a meeting to discuss annual and perennial flowers in which the various varieties, colors and growing practices were reviewed.

Development of woodland resources of the county received new impetus through an Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program providing for tree planting and woodland improvement and through the work of the County Forests and Parks Council organized in the fall of 1960.

Improvement of the quality of fruit marketed continued as a result of better growing practices and grading. More apples were graded and marketed co-operatively than in previous years. Orchardmen participated in winter and summer meetings, the spray information service, a mouse control program and co-operative marketing.

The volume of strawberries marketed through the Salem Fruit Growers Co-operative Association was considerably greater than last year. Berry growers also participated in meetings and in a disease control program.

HOMEMAKERS learned of nutritional value and skill of preparation of salads and of seafoods in local salads meetings and the countywide Seafood Institute.

Five young farm families participated with the extension service in the farm and home development program in which each family makes an intensive study of the farm and home business to make adjustments toward greater income and better living.

Two countywide meetings held to discuss regional planning for Columbiana County were well attended and action was taken to set up a study committee.

Efforts were continued by the County Agricultural Council to promote farm-city activities, provide information and speakers on various farm topics, promote the Ohio Future's project by encouraging rural - urban discussion groups and to provide facilities for discussion of various public questions. A number of groups worked on activities which provided an opportunity for better understanding of farm and city problems.

COMMITTEES of various kinds planned all phases of extension work in the county. They include the County Extension Advisory Council and three sub-committees, the Home Demonstration Council and 12 sub-committees, the 4-H Council and 13 sub-committees, 17 agricultural committees and 6 committees on community development and public affairs.

The long-time objectives of the Agricultural Extension Service in Columbiana County are to carry on an educational program that will enable farmers and homeowners to obtain the knowledge and develop the skills necessary for improved farm income and a satisfying farm life, Lower said.

They also include work with young farm families, promotion of conservation, marketing of farm products along with marketing information for consumers, leadership development, all phases of the 4-H Club program, assistance in community development, information and public affairs topics and matters partaining to family living for both farm and nonfarm families.

GOP Told Plans On Revitalization

LISBON — Atty. Charles Pike, Columbiana County Republican chairman, outlined steps being taken to revitalize the GOP at grass-roots level at the Mid-County Republican Club meeting Thursday evening at the Village Hall.

He also reported on Gov. James Rhodes' inauguration he and many other county Republicans attended in January.

Mrs. Delores Stockman, president, introduced out-of-town guests, including Robert Bell of Steubenville, 18th District state committeeman; Allen Dalrymple of Wellsville, president of the Republican $5 Club; Paul Baxter of East Liverpool, Charles Boso, president of the East Liverpool Republican Men's Club, Ernest Whitacre of Salem and Pete Johnson, president of the Salem Republican Men's Club.

Boso invited all Republicans to attend a meeting March 6 in the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex in East Liverpool.

Mrs. Stockman appointed Mrs. Genesta Barr, Mrs. Vida Davies and Atty. Donald Lewis to the program committee.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Blanche Neill, assisted by Mrs. Ila Farmer, lunch chairman.

Next meeting is March 6 at 7:30 p. m. in the Village Hall.

Ruling Due Monday On Holiday Working

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A ruling is expected Monday from the 10th District Court of Appeals on whether the state can make its employes work Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays without compensatory time off.

The decision, to come the day be fore the Lincoln holiday, will follow up on arguments presented Friday. The state appealed after Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds granted an injunction requested by the Ohio Civil Service Employes Association to stop Gov. James A. Rhodes and Finance Director Richard L. Krabach from taking away the two holidays for economy reasons.

Saxbe Appoints 3

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe has announced three new appointments to his staff. They are Hugh K. Martin, Columbus attorney, as part-time special counsel; Ted R. Greiner, assigned to workmen's compensation, and Ralph C. Godwin, assigned to the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Bargaining Continues In Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Publishers' and printers' representatives met across the bargaining table for more than four hours Friday in efforts to end the 64-day-old strike of the city's nine major newspapers.

The joint talks, spaced throughout the day until past midnight, brought little comment from spokesmen for both sides.

After talks were recessed until this morning, Elmer Brown, president of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, was asked if he thought a settlement might be reached before his scheduled departure Sunday for Colorado Springs, Colo. Replied Brown:

"I'm a perpetual optimist."

Brown flew in from ITU headquarters at the request of Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Walter N. Thayer, president of the Herald Tribune Corp. and a spokesman for the publishers, would say only that he expected joint sessions to resume today.

In the New York strike, 3,000 printers walked out Dec. 8 against the Times, News, Journal-American, and World Telegram & Sun. Shutting down voluntarily were the Post, Mirror, Herald Tribune, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press. The Press continues to publish its suburban Long Island editions.

The printers have been demanding an $18 weekly wage increase in a two-year contract, plus fringe benefits. The publishers, who have offered a $10 package over two years, say the printers' demands amount to $37 per week per man.

Meanwhile, nationwide voting by ITU members on a special assessment for the union's strike fund showed 3½ to 1 in favor, an official said Friday in Colorado Springs.

Harry A. Reifin, assistant to Brown, said the unofficial tally from 100 of the union's nearly 800 locals was 36,220 to 9,765.

The voting, on an extra 3 per cent assessment, would be in addition to a one-half of one per cent assessment which went into effect Feb. 1 when the union's defense fund dropped below $500,000.

Each union member also pays a regular one per cent assessment for the ITU's strike defense and benefit fund.

Homemade Bomb Rips Cab Of Truck

Sheriff's deputies said the bomb, a can filled with black powder, was placed on the floor of the cab and lighted with a fuse.

Deputies reported about 75 pickets on the scene of the explosion, at the $215,000 construction project. The building is being erected by the E. R. Miller Construction firm with the help of several non-union sub-contractors.

Miller said pickets have been primarily from the Dayton Trades Council, Ironworkers, Hod Carriers and Masonry Unions.

The truck had been used to haul machinery from the construction site to a gravel pit and was parked at the time of the blast about 75 feet from a group of workers.

Midland Mothers' Group Plans Banquet

Tentative plans were made for the annual spring banquet at a meeting of the Mothers' Athletic Association of Midland Thursday evening at the high school.

Mrs. Milan Kovacic, president, presided.

Plans were also discussed for a fund - raising project this month. The date will be announced.

Mrs. Milan Kovacic, president, presided.

Computer Course Set

ADA, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Northern University, keeping up with the times, is going to provide undergraduates training in electronic computer operation. The school announced a $25,000 grant from the National Science Foundation, which will match from its own development funds, to set up a computer center on campus.

NEW YORK (AP)—Publishers' and printers' representatives met across the bargaining table for more than four hours Friday in efforts to end the 64-day-old strike of the city's nine major newspapers.

The joint talks, spaced throughout the day until past midnight, brought little comment from spokesmen for both sides.

After talks were recessed until this morning, Elmer Brown, president of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, was asked if he thought a settlement might be reached before his scheduled departure Sunday for Colorado Springs, Colo. Replied Brown:

"I'm a perpetual optimist."

Brown flew in from ITU headquarters at the request of Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Walter N. Thayer, president of the Herald Tribune Corp. and a spokesman for the publishers, would say only that he expected joint sessions to resume today.

In the New York strike, 3,000 printers walked out Dec. 8 against the Times, News, Journal-American, and World Telegram & Sun. Shutting down voluntarily were the Post, Mirror, Herald Tribune, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press. The Press continues to publish its suburban Long Island editions.

The printers have been demanding an $18 weekly wage increase in a two-year contract, plus fringe benefits. The publishers, who have offered a $10 package over two years, say the printers' demands amount to $37 per week per man.

Meanwhile, nationwide voting by ITU members on a special assessment for the union's strike fund showed 3½ to 1 in favor, an official said Friday in Colorado Springs.

Harry A. Reifin, assistant to Brown, said the unofficial tally from 100 of the union's nearly 800 locals was 36,220 to 9,765.

The voting, on an extra 3 per cent assessment, would be in addition to a one-half of one per cent assessment which went into effect Feb. 1 when the union's defense fund dropped below $500,000.

Each union member also pays a regular one per cent assessment for the ITU's strike defense and benefit fund.

Homemade Bomb Rips Cab Of Truck

Sheriff's deputies said the bomb, a can filled with black powder, was placed on the floor of the cab and lighted with a fuse.

Deputies reported about 75 pickets on the scene of the explosion, at the $215,000 construction project. The building is being erected by the E. R. Miller Construction firm with the help of several non-union sub-contractors.

Miller said pickets have been primarily from the Dayton Trades Council, Ironworkers, Hod Carriers and Masonry Unions.

The truck had been used to haul machinery from the construction site to a gravel pit and was parked at the time of the blast about 75 feet from a group of workers.

Midland Mothers' Group Plans Banquet

Tentative plans were made for the annual spring banquet at a meeting of the Mothers' Athletic Association of Midland Thursday evening at the high school.

Mrs. Milan Kovacic, president, presided.

Plans were also discussed for a fund - raising project this month. The date will be announced.

Mrs. Milan Kovacic, president, presided.

Computer Course Set

ADA, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Northern University, keeping up with the times, is going to provide undergraduates training in electronic computer operation. The school announced a $25,000 grant from the National Science Foundation, which will match from its own development funds, to set up a computer center on campus.

Why Does Doubt Exist?

Sen. Keating of New York, a single voice from the Kennedy administration's political opposition, is being heard over the official chorus of the Kennedy administration on the issue of Russian offensive weapons in Cuba.

What makes this possible?

Why does doubt exist that the Kennedy administration can be or should be taken at its word when it says Russian weapons in Cuba are not offensive in nature?

The doubt exists because last Oct. 10 this same Sen. Keating told the Kennedy administration that Cuba was starting to sag under the weight of Russian offensive weapons, chiefly intermediate range missiles, and the administration said Sen. Keating didn't know what he was talking about.

TWO WEEKS LATER it acknowledged that the missiles were there and had been photographed on Oct. 16. It further said that Russian bombers were there.

It was concerned enough at that time to slap an embargo on Cuba and to tell the Soviet Union to get its offensive weapons out of Cuba.

But Sen. Keating had been concerned a fortnight earlier and the administration had tried to shove him out of sight.

That wasn't a grateful or a graceful act.

It became part of a growing body of evidence that the Kennedy administration believes that it wants to believe when it wants to believe it and has a weakness for manipulating all the official news it thinks is fit to print.

Confidence in the Kennedy administration's presentations is not high at this time. This is tragic because it cuts the ground from under the solid presentations as well as the flimsy ones.

IT LEAVES a confused public uncertain about what it can believe in, because on the face of it Sen. Keating, one Republican senator from New York State, is more believable at the moment than the Kennedy administration, which told him last Oct. 10 he didn't know what he was talking about, then admitted on Oct. 23 that he was right.

This is the penalty of being careless about public confidence. It is not to be had for the asking, only for the earning.

Nemesis For Wanted

Three more fugitives are back behind bars as the result of speedy work by district law enforcement officers.

Ohioville Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich, with an assist from Industry Chief Guy St. Esprit and Patrolman Arthur Hendershot, apprehended the escapees from the Beaver County jail 18 hours after their break.

Recapture of the men adds to a tradition that has been building up over the years that the tri-state area is a nemesis for wanted men.

Last month Columbiana County Sheriff Russell VanFossan and Deputy Howard Gray nabbed a former county man who fled from the Trumbull County Jail.

And it was only 2½ years ago that Gordon (Spunky) Firman, ill-famed gunman and escapee from a Coshocton jail, was caught by a Wellsville special officer near Sherrodsville.

Bringing an end to the freedom of a hunted criminal is a result of coincidence, luck, intelligent police work and no small amount of risk.

At any rate, the hills and valleys which saw the demise of Charles Floyd, also known as "Pretty Boy", in 1934 continue to prove snares to men who think they can outwit the law.

Long Live The Filibuster

The United States Senate has gone through the solemn mockery of pretending to have a debate on limiting debate. The outcome was as usual; the debate-limiters lost.

They expect to lose. If they were to win, the fun would be over. They no longer could go through the motions each year of outlawing Senate filibusters. They would be broken-hearted if it happened.

It is not the filibuster they want to outlaw. They want to outlaw the filibusterers. They want to make their use of unlimited debate so unpopular it will not be feasible for them to try it without overwhelming provocation.

The point is, every member of the U.S. Senate would carry on a filibuster if he had overwhelming provocation. The reason southern senators are noted for filibustering is because the civil rights issue gives them more overwhelming provocations than are common to senators from other parts of the country.

But let the others have good and sufficient cause and they would filibuster until the Senate chamber was three feet deep in boredom. Talk — "unlimited debate," legislators like to call it — is a minority's bulwark against oppression by the majority.

It is to be used but not abused. Its abuse is the issue in the Senate. Anti-filibusterers again have lost the debate over its use. But they have not lost the debate over its abuse. They have served notice that if the filibuster is abused they are within striking distance of having enough votes to outlaw it — 54 to 42 this time. All it would take to outlaw the filibuster would be a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Medical Care Vs. Medicare

The American Medical Association took so much abuse from the frustrated backers of medicare last year that its new position on health care for the elderly is of extraordinary interest.

It is recommending a re-evaluation of attitudes toward the elderly, to keep them from being set apart. It thinks there should be changes in federal income tax laws to help aged taxpayers and to help those in a position to help them pay medical expenses.

As if this idea of meeting expenses on the spot instead of sending money to Washington for handling and discounting, then asking to get it back, weren't startling enough AMA has another startler:

"The AMA will stress in its program for the aged that more can be done for them by recognizing them as individuals than by treating them as a 17-million-member national problem. The AMA will urge that the aged be given the chance to use their time, talents and capabilities in worthwhile and productive activities which encourage self-reliance and independence. It urges second thought about policies that help to bring on medical problems by premature retirement."

Along with its insistence on giving the elderly a chance to be useful in their own right, AMA says it favors changes in the Kerr-Mills Act that would give well-to-do elderly citizens financial help for major illness. As the law is written now, only citizens in poverty can qualify for aid.

The AMA program will not divert socialized medicine advocates; they will continue to use their scalpels on the organization that speaks for most doctors. One thing, however, is more obvious than it was when the debate on medicare got under way last year.

No politician, no advocate of socialized medicine, ever made a patient get well.

Doctors have as much right to say how they feel about medical care as the interlopers who have tried to box them in with a plan to centralize control of medical care in Washington.

And it really would make more sense to help elderly citizens and their families than to turn their problems over to a new medical bureaucracy in the federal government.

Contrary Opinion

By Truman Twill

This story is threadbare from use. But the point is as sharp as ever.

There was this man who had a magic touch for getting things done. He did not do them himself; he was a genius at getting other people to do them.

He was asked his secret. "No secret," he replied. "I have a technique. Whenever something difficult needs to be done, I suggest to the person I think able to do it that I doubt if he can handle it."

That's a technique—the secret of success?

"It works," said the genius. "It is psychologically sound. It is based on the contrary streak in human nature. Instead of going against you he makes a tremendous effort to prove you are wrong.

"If you tell a child he cannot have something, his contrary streak makes him want it—the way it was with prohibition of hard liquor—the way it is with sale of merchandise on Sunday. But tell the same child he can have all he wants of the same thing and he loses interest in it. If we'd forbid kids to learn, they would knock themselves out to go against us.

"If the administration had told Congress it didn't want tax reform or tax reduction in 1963, Congress would be hairy with determination to adopt tax reform and tax reduction. If De Gaulle had tried to push Britain into the Common Market, it would have struggled to stay out.

"What it addes up to, generally speaking, is that people hate to agree with each other. They talk about cooperaton and harmony, but the idea of cooperating and harmonizing doesn't appeal to them. Consequently, the best way to get things done is to take advantage of the perversity and harness it for your own use."

So much for the man with the magic touch. He made it sound simple. But wherever you look there's evidence that it isn't simple.

Opposition for the sake of opposing is complex. For one thing, the strength of the opposition is in ratio to the nature of the people involved. Some people breed opposition. Others minimize it.

Let an opposition breeder get into a key spot and problems will multiply. It will appear as if everybody but him had become stubborn and obtuse. The whole world will seem to be fighting everything he proposes —and it is doing just that.

It is opposing him because he invites opposition.

It is not opposing his ideas, some of which are good. It is opposing him. He rubs their fur the wrong way.

Congress is full of people who do this. They are a dime a dozen in national and international affairs. Private life is full of them. No wonder it takes a genius to minimize the damage they can do.

The catch is in finding enough geniuses. They have contrary opinions too, but they know how to repress them for the sake of getting things done.

Could Be From Any Of Old Pals

A Fable In The Field Of Finance

By Raymond Moley

The idea came to Ace Divider, class of '40, as he sat at his desk in February 1963 frowning at the financial calculations which plainly told him that, come April, he would once more have to borrow to meet his tax bill.

"Here I am again," he thought, "short as usual. It's always the same, no matter how good my intentions are."

As he puzzled, fragments of his past came to mind — the days before he had a fairly good practice as an architect, a growing family, a circle of friends in his profession. "When I was back on the old campus, I never figured that I would have financial troubles."

Then the idea struck him. "Say," he muttered, "my old economics professor ought to be able to help me solve this problem. I'll drive up there and see him tomorrow."

AND SO, refreshed and assured, encouraged by a serene wife, he left his three-bedroom ranch house early next morning, and three hours later drove his 1960 moderately priced automobile through the inviting gates of Alma Mater.

The days when a bright future beckoned came back, along with the regret that life should have proved such a rat race with debt. But here, he believed, would be hope, and he entered the social science building.

A secretary told him that his old professor had retired some years before. "Professor Wayout heads the department now," she said. "He always enjoys meeting any of the old alumni. This way, please."

Ace found himself in an office facing a desk which he noted was as untidy as his own. Behind the desk Prof. Wayout greeted him pleasantly. Thus encouraged, Ace explained the purpose of his visit and his need for advice.

THE PROFESSOR listened attentively, tapping a red pencil idly on a blue volume entitled, as Ace could see, "Economic Report of the President."

At the conclusion of his sad narrative, Ace added that he could not see why with a substantial income his expenses always left him with a deficit at tax time.

At this, Prof. Wayout replied with some emphasis, "Ah! But you must realize that times have changed since your college days. Your debts aren't big enough. They are therefore bad debts. You must think in terms of years.

"This year you can run pretty deep into the red. All right. Borrow. Don't worry about a big debt which will bring in a bigger income. Big debts are good debts. I can assure you that you will make it up in the future.

"YOU ARE driving a car that lacks class. Turn it over to your wife and get one of those big ones that have prestige written all over them. Move into a larger house in a better surburb. The people you will know will be better prospects.

"And by all means join a first-rate golf club where you will play with people who are successful and planning expansion in their plant. You can see where a good architect enters that picture."

Ace said warily, "You mean that I can spend myself into prosperity?"

"Exactly! Not just you. Your wife can help. Hire a cook and get your wife a new mink coat. Send your children to better schools. Through them you will meet well-to-do-parents. Entertain more at your home. Spending becomes all-important nowadays."

BEHIND the professor there were displayed on the wall various professional items — a certificate from the London School of Economics and a graduate diploma from Harvard. There also was an autographed photograph of the major figure in the New Frontier.

Dr. Wayout picked up the copy of the President's Economic Report and handed it to Ace. "Read this. The concept behind my advice to you is all explained in this, with irrefutable proof.

"Keep this copy. I have several more. I am called to Washington frequently for consultation by friends on the staff of the President's Economic Advisors like many other people in the social sciences. I live a sort of double life. Part time in government, and the rest teaching what I learn there."

Ace glanced at a framed photograph of the former department head, his old professor. Prof. Wayout commented, "You see, it was different in his days when you were here taking his course in economics. Fine chap. But old hat, you know."

ACE ROSE and moved toward the door. Dr. Wayout came from behind the desk and extended his hand. "Another suggestion. Why not take your wife to Florida for 10 days? Fly now. Pay later. A good coat of tan will help.

"And I hope you won't mind any suggestion. A new wardrobe is in order. Those lapels are a bit wide."

Ace walked into the cold February day. But within he already felt the warm Florida sun.

More Fear Than Cheer

By Mark Frankland

MOSCOW

There are grounds for believing that the Soviet Union is more concerned than pleased by Britain's failure to enter the Common Market.

The key to the Soviet approach seems to be Moscow's deep distrust of the Franco-German treaty, aimed at increasing military and political cooperation between the two countries.

There has been no official reaction yet to the events in Europe and the press has mainly contented itself with reporting the confusion in the West. But one line of reaction of informed Soviet sources in private has been to stress the dangers of an independent third force in Europe.

Visions of a European nuclear power, independent of America and unchecked by British restraint, would seem to cancel out the pleasure Moscow might take in the sight of such deep cracks in the Western alliance.

The continued presence of American troops in Western Europe — and even America's multilateral nuclear policy for Europe — seem less objectionable and safer when measured against this specter.

Britain's presence in what is to the Soviets an objectionable economic alliance is similarly felt to be safer than its absence.

Suggestions of a Moscow-Paris axis seem a little too simple in this light. Here is pointed out that De Gaulle would be a poor third-power strategist if he did not try to play off Washington against Moscow at this point.

There are certainly Francophiles in Moscow who like the tradition of good Russian-French relations. However, France now drags West Germany behind it and West Germany will be mistrusted in Moscow long after Chancellor Adenauer has gone.

It is pointed out also that De Gaulle soon may have another unconventional partner—Franco's Spain.

In this connection it is worth stressing that the detailed provisions for military co-operation in the French-German treaty will not have escaped notice, although little as yet has been written about them in the press.

Soviet appreciation of the dangers of a third power in Europe would seem likely to have been strengthened by their own troubles with China.

To put it crudely, a world in which all outstanding difficulties can be settled by the two Mr. K's is better and safer, from the Soviet viewpoint than one in which the Chinese and the French have to be consulted too.

The United States' inch differed from that of Canada until 1959.

The Powell Case

By David Lawrence

New York Congressman Gets Special Aid

Equal opportunity now has given way here to "preferential opportunity." A Negro congressman who is chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor is apparently being given favors that white citizens generally do not get.

David Lawrence

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has just made a comprehensive report on the situation which was published in the Congressional Record. He charges that agencies of the government are "shoveling out the taxpayers' dollars" to Adam Clayton Powell, chairman of the all-important House Committee on Education and Labor, while Mr. Powell himself is "delinquent" in his federal income taxes for the years 1949 through 1955.

The Delaware senator made public a letter he had received from the commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service listing a total of $13,000 as a "fraud penalty" imposed on Mr. Powell. Mr. Williams added:

"While the Treasury Department states that, as yet, it hasn't accepted a compromise for the settling of these taxes, I find no evidence where the department is really trying to collect the money."

SEN. WILLIAMS pointed out in his speech over favors or preferential opportunities allegedly given Rep. Powell, and said:

"Notwithstanding this tax delinquency, three agencies of the government were vying with each other as to which could curry the most favor with Mr. Powell by opening the doors of the federal treasury.

"The Department of Health, Education and Welfare tapped a fund which had been approved by the Congress for the control of juvenile delinquency, and made an outright grant of $250,000 to a foundation which Mr. Powell and his administrative assistant, Mr. Wingate, had organized just eight days before the receipt of the gift.

"The officials of this agency were not quite clear as to whether they thought Mr. Powell would spend this money in studying the juvenile delinquency problem or whether he would use it to organize a domestic peace corps in Harlem. There is one point on which they did agree — that the money would be spent at Mr. Powell's discretion, and apparently without any exercise of control by the federal government.

"The housing and home finance agency, the third government agency, was equally generous; it approved three loans totaling nearly $11 million on property which was being purchased for approximately $8.5 million, and, as further evidence of the administration's philanthropy, it endorsed a bill which would provide complete exemption from all real estate taxes on one of these properties as long as it was owned and controlled by Mr. Powell's outfit."

THE QUESTION that is being asked here now is whether anybody else has gotten or could still get such favors from the Kennedy administration, and whether the rules of "equal opportunity" will be followed hereafter.

It will be interesting to see whether the House of Representatives institutes a full investigation of the whole series of charges made by a member of the upper house. While each house is the sole judge of the behavior of its own members, either house has a right to investigate just what the federal agencies did and what pressures, if any, were brought to bear and by whom to grant Mr. Powell the requests that he made for federal funds.

Before making his speech, Sen. Williams wrote to all the federal agencies involved and received general information concerning the grants. In his address, Mr. Williams made this further comment:

"During the past 12 months various agencies of the government have been scrambling around to see who could give Mr. Powell the most favorable deal. . .

"I cite an example of Mr. Powell's influence with this administration under the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Long-term loans totaling nearly $11 million at interest rates as low as 3⅛ per cent have been approved to Mr. Powell and his associates . . . .

"Not only were these loans sufficient to cover 100 per cent of the acquisition cost of the properties in question, but in one instance the loan approved was for exactly double the acquisition price."

THIS IS something which will certainly cause an arching of eyebrows among those citizens who have applied for loans but have not been given more than the acquisition price.

The real point is not whether any fault lies with an applicant who seeks to get all he can, but whether the federal agencies — anxious to "curry favor" with Chairman Powell, for instance, as Sen. Williams describes it, have overstepped the bounds of propriety.

Soviet Trial Balloon

Russia Weighs Use Of Dirigibles

MOSCOW

The Soviet Union, working hard to improve its domestic and international air services, is seriously considering the reintroduction of big dirigibles.

The first hint of this came in an interview in the government newspaper Izvestia with the head of a state aeronautical design office reported to be planning the airships.

Since then, the government has instructed both the Ministry of Transport Construction and the Soviet Academy of Construction to look closely into the possibility of building and financing them.

The Russian authorities seem to have two main tasks in mind for big airships:

1. The airlifting, to the virgin lands and new development areas in Siberia, of huge components for construction work and factories, without the need to dismantle them beforehand.

2. The dropping of plant and personnel into Arctic regions where extensive new economic and scientific projects are under way.

The official Arctic Research Institute said that it backed airships as a means of overcoming problems of surveying ice conditions and landing men and material where neither fixed wing aircraft or helicopters could put down.

The Russian government seems to be supporting the airship drive on the ground that the serious disadvantages of pre-war ships can now be overcome. The worst of these was the high inflammability of hydrogen, generally used as a lifting gas.

The alternative non-inflammable gas, helium, was available only in the U.S., and it was the hydrogen hazard, cause of the disastrous burning of the German 800-foot, 50-passenger "Hidenburg" at Lakehurst, N.J., on May 6, 1937, which brought the commercial airship era to an end.

Now, however, the Russians are believed to have substantial natural helium supplies available in several areas and there are reports that a big gasfield discovered in recent weeks in the Usthurt Desert between the Aral and Caspian Seas may have a high helium content.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Jess Shaw was named head of the East Liverpool Soccer Club.

Raymond Jacobs of Chester Ave., Wellsville, received the Purple Heart from the War Department.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Miss Mildred Stepanovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stepanovich of near Wellsville, accepted a position in an office of an aircraft firm in Cleveland.

Mrs. William Oyster and Donald Allison were named community leaders of the Allison School District at a meeting of the Neighborhood Leaders Club.

Lucille and Loretta Adney, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Adney of Georgetown, first sister WAAC team in the East Liverpool district, left for basic training at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Horace Mann Home and School Association endorsed the action of the Board of Education concerning the proposed location of new schools.

Chandler Keys was introduced as a new member of the East Liverpool Rotary Club.

This is the penalty of being careless about public confidence. It is not to be had for the asking, only for the earning.

Nemesis For Wanted

Three more fugitives are back behind bars as the result of speedy work by district law enforcement officers.

Ohioville Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich, with an assist from Industry Chief Guy St. Esprit and Patrolman Arthur Hendershot, apprehended the escapees from the Beaver County jail 18 hours after their break.

Recapture of the men adds to a tradition that has been building up over the years that the tri-state area is a nemesis for wanted men.

Last month Columbiana County Sheriff Russell VanFossan and Deputy Howard Gray nabbed a former county man who fled from the Trumbull County Jail.

And it was only 2½ years ago that Gordon (Spunky) Firman, ill-famed gunman and escapee from a Coshocton jail, was caught by a Wellsville special officer near Sherrodsville.

Bringing an end to the freedom of a hunted criminal is a result of coincidence, luck, intelligent police work and no small amount of risk.

At any rate, the hills and valleys which saw the demise of Charles Floyd, also known as "Pretty Boy", in 1934 continue to prove snares to men who think they can outwit the law.

Long Live The Filibuster

The United States Senate has gone through the solemn mockery of pretending to have a debate on limiting debate. The outcome was as usual; the debate-limiters lost.

They expect to lose. If they were to win, the fun would be over. They no longer could go through the motions each year of outlawing Senate filibusters. They would be broken-hearted if it happened.

It is not the filibuster they want to outlaw. They want to outlaw the filibusterers. They want to make their use of unlimited debate so unpopular it will not be feasible for them to try it without overwhelming provocation.

The point is, every member of the U.S. Senate would carry on a filibuster if he had overwhelming provocation. The reason southern senators are noted for filibustering is because the civil rights issue gives them more overwhelming provocations than are common to senators from other parts of the country.

But let the others have good and sufficient cause and they would filibuster until the Senate chamber was three feet deep in boredom. Talk — "unlimited debate," legislators like to call it — is a minority's bulwark against oppression by the majority.

It is to be used but not abused. Its abuse is the issue in the Senate. Anti-filibusterers again have lost the debate over its use. But they have not lost the debate over its abuse. They have served notice that if the filibuster is abused they are within striking distance of having enough votes to outlaw it — 54 to 42 this time. All it would take to outlaw the filibuster would be a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Medical Care Vs. Medicare

The American Medical Association took so much abuse from the frustrated backers of medicare last year that its new position on health care for the elderly is of extraordinary interest.

It is recommending a re-evaluation of attitudes toward the elderly, to keep them from being set apart. It thinks there should be changes in federal income tax laws to help aged taxpayers and to help those in a position to help them pay medical expenses.

As if this idea of meeting expenses on the spot instead of sending money to Washington for handling and discounting, then asking to get it back, weren't startling enough AMA has another startler:

"The AMA will stress in its program for the aged that more can be done for them by recognizing them as individuals than by treating them as a 17-million-member national problem. The AMA will urge that the aged be given the chance to use their time, talents and capabilities in worthwhile and productive activities which encourage self-reliance and independence. It urges second thought about policies that help to bring on medical problems by premature retirement."

Along with its insistence on giving the elderly a chance to be useful in their own right, AMA says it favors changes in the Kerr-Mills Act that would give well-to-do elderly citizens financial help for major illness. As the law is written now, only citizens in poverty can qualify for aid.

The AMA program will not divert socialized medicine advocates; they will continue to use their scalpels on the organization that speaks for most doctors. One thing, however, is more obvious than it was when the debate on medicare got under way last year.

No politician, no advocate of socialized medicine, ever made a patient get well.

Doctors have as much right to say how they feel about medical care as the interlopers who have tried to box them in with a plan to centralize control of medical care in Washington.

And it really would make more sense to help elderly citizens and their families than to turn their problems over to a new medical bureaucracy in the federal government.

Contrary Opinion

By Truman Twill

This story is threadbare from use. But the point is as sharp as ever.

There was this man who had a magic touch for getting things done. He did not do them himself; he was a genius at getting other people to do them.

He was asked his secret. "No secret," he replied. "I have a technique. Whenever something difficult needs to be done, I suggest to the person I think able to do it that I doubt if he can handle it."

That's a technique—the secret of success?

"It works," said the genius. "It is psychologically sound. It is based on the contrary streak in human nature. Instead of going against you he makes a tremendous effort to prove you are wrong.

"If you tell a child he cannot have something, his contrary streak makes him want it—the way it was with prohibition of hard liquor—the way it is with sale of merchandise on Sunday. But tell the same child he can have all he wants of the same thing and he loses interest in it. If we'd forbid kids to learn, they would knock themselves out to go against us.

"If the administration had told Congress it didn't want tax reform or tax reduction in 1963, Congress would be hairy with determination to adopt tax reform and tax reduction. If De Gaulle had tried to push Britain into the Common Market, it would have struggled to stay out.

"What it addes up to, generally speaking, is that people hate to agree with each other. They talk about cooperaton and harmony, but the idea of cooperating and harmonizing doesn't appeal to them. Consequently, the best way to get things done is to take advantage of the perversity and harness it for your own use."

So much for the man with the magic touch. He made it sound simple. But wherever you look there's evidence that it isn't simple.

Opposition for the sake of opposing is complex. For one thing, the strength of the opposition is in ratio to the nature of the people involved. Some people breed opposition. Others minimize it.

Let an opposition breeder get into a key spot and problems will multiply. It will appear as if everybody but him had become stubborn and obtuse. The whole world will seem to be fighting everything he proposes —and it is doing just that.

It is opposing him because he invites opposition.

It is not opposing his ideas, some of which are good. It is opposing him. He rubs their fur the wrong way.

Congress is full of people who do this. They are a dime a dozen in national and international affairs. Private life is full of them. No wonder it takes a genius to minimize the damage they can do.

The catch is in finding enough geniuses. They have contrary opinions too, but they know how to repress them for the sake of getting things done.

Could Be From Any Of Old Pals

A Fable In The Field Of Finance

By Raymond Moley

The idea came to Ace Divider, class of '40, as he sat at his desk in February 1963 frowning at the financial calculations which plainly told him that, come April, he would once more have to borrow to meet his tax bill.

"Here I am again," he thought, "short as usual. It's always the same, no matter how good my intentions are."

As he puzzled, fragments of his past came to mind — the days before he had a fairly good practice as an architect, a growing family, a circle of friends in his profession. "When I was back on the old campus, I never figured that I would have financial troubles."

Then the idea struck him. "Say," he muttered, "my old economics professor ought to be able to help me solve this problem. I'll drive up there and see him tomorrow."

AND SO, refreshed and assured, encouraged by a serene wife, he left his three-bedroom ranch house early next morning, and three hours later drove his 1960 moderately priced automobile through the inviting gates of Alma Mater.

The days when a bright future beckoned came back, along with the regret that life should have proved such a rat race with debt. But here, he believed, would be hope, and he entered the social science building.

A secretary told him that his old professor had retired some years before. "Professor Wayout heads the department now," she said. "He always enjoys meeting any of the old alumni. This way, please."

Ace found himself in an office facing a desk which he noted was as untidy as his own. Behind the desk Prof. Wayout greeted him pleasantly. Thus encouraged, Ace explained the purpose of his visit and his need for advice.

THE PROFESSOR listened attentively, tapping a red pencil idly on a blue volume entitled, as Ace could see, "Economic Report of the President."

At the conclusion of his sad narrative, Ace added that he could not see why with a substantial income his expenses always left him with a deficit at tax time.

At this, Prof. Wayout replied with some emphasis, "Ah! But you must realize that times have changed since your college days. Your debts aren't big enough. They are therefore bad debts. You must think in terms of years.

"This year you can run pretty deep into the red. All right. Borrow. Don't worry about a big debt which will bring in a bigger income. Big debts are good debts. I can assure you that you will make it up in the future.

"YOU ARE driving a car that lacks class. Turn it over to your wife and get one of those big ones that have prestige written all over them. Move into a larger house in a better surburb. The people you will know will be better prospects.

"And by all means join a first-rate golf club where you will play with people who are successful and planning expansion in their plant. You can see where a good architect enters that picture."

Ace said warily, "You mean that I can spend myself into prosperity?"

"Exactly! Not just you. Your wife can help. Hire a cook and get your wife a new mink coat. Send your children to better schools. Through them you will meet well-to-do-parents. Entertain more at your home. Spending becomes all-important nowadays."

BEHIND the professor there were displayed on the wall various professional items — a certificate from the London School of Economics and a graduate diploma from Harvard. There also was an autographed photograph of the major figure in the New Frontier.

Dr. Wayout picked up the copy of the President's Economic Report and handed it to Ace. "Read this. The concept behind my advice to you is all explained in this, with irrefutable proof.

"Keep this copy. I have several more. I am called to Washington frequently for consultation by friends on the staff of the President's Economic Advisors like many other people in the social sciences, I live a sort of double life. Part time in government, and the rest teaching what I learn there."

Ace glanced at a framed photograph of the former department head, his old professor. Prof. Wayout commented, "You see, it was different in his days when you were here taking his course in economics. Fine chap. But old hat, you know."

ACE ROSE and moved toward the door. Dr. Wayout came from behind the desk and extended his hand. "Another suggestion. Why not take your wife to Florida for 10 days? Fly now. Pay later. A good coat of tan will help.

"And I hope you won't mind any suggestion. A new wardrobe is in order. Those lapels are a bit wide."

Ace walked into the cold February day. But within he already felt the warm Florida sun.

More Fear Than Cheer

By Mark Frankland

MOSCOW

There are grounds for believing that the Soviet Union is more concerned than pleased by Britain's failure to enter the Common Market.

The key to the Soviet approach seems to be Moscow's deep distrust of the Franco-German treaty, aimed at increasing military and political cooperation between the two countries.

There has been no official reaction yet to the events in Europe and the press has mainly contented itself with reporting the confusion in the West. But one line of reaction of informed Soviet sources in private has been to stress the dangers of an independent third force in Europe.

Visions of a European nuclear power, independent of America and unchecked by British restraint, would seem to cancel out the pleasure Moscow might take in the sight of such deep cracks in the Western alliance.

The continued presence of American troops in Western Europe — and even America's multilateral nuclear policy for Europe — seem less objectionable and safer when measured against this specter.

Britain's presence in what is to the Soviets an objectionable economic alliance is similarly felt to be safer than its absence.

Suggestions of a Moscow-Paris axis seem a little too simple in this light. Here is pointed out that De Gaulle would be a poor third-power strategist if he did not try to play off Washington against Moscow at this point.

There are certainly Francophiles in Moscow who like the tradition of good Russian-French relations. However, France now drags West Germany behind it and West Germany will be mistrusted in Moscow long after Chancellor Adenauer has gone.

It is pointed out also that De Gaulle soon may have another unconventional partner—Franco's Spain.

In this connection it is worth stressing that the detailed provisions for military co-operation in the French-German treaty will not have escaped notice, although little as yet has been written about them in the press.

Soviet appreciation of the dangers of a third power in Europe would seem likely to have been strengthened by their own troubles with China.

To put it crudely, a world in which all outstanding difficulties can be settled by the two Mr. K's is better and safer, from the Soviet viewpoint than one in which the Chinese and the French have to be consulted too.

The United States' inch differed from that of Canada until 1959.

The Powell Case

By David Lawrence

New York Congressman Gets Special Aid

Equal opportunity now has given way here to "preferential opportunity." A Negro congressman who is chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor is apparently being given favors that white citizens generally do not get.

David Lawrence

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., has just made a comprehensive report on the situation which was published in the Congressional Record. He charges that agencies of the government are "shoveling out the taxpayers' dollars" to Adam Clayton Powell, chairman of the all-important House Committee on Education and Labor, while Mr. Powell himself is "delinquent" in his federal income taxes for the years 1949 through 1955.

The Delaware senator made public a letter he had received from the commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service listing a total of $13,000 as a "fraud penalty" imposed on Mr. Powell. Mr. Williams added:

"While the Treasury Department states that, as yet, it hasn't accepted a compromise for the settling of these taxes, I find no evidence where the department is really trying to collect the money."

SEN. WILLIAMS pointed out in his speech over favors or preferential opportunities allegedly given Rep. Powell, and said:

"Notwithstanding this tax delinquency, three agencies of the government were vying with each other as to which could curry the most favor with Mr. Powell by opening the doors of the federal treasury.

"The Department of Health, Education and Welfare tapped a fund which had been approved by the Congress for the control of juvenile delinquency, and made an outright grant of $250,000 to a foundation which Mr. Powell and his administrative assistant, Mr. Wingate, had organized just eight days before the receipt of the gift.

"The officials of this agency were not quite clear as to whether they thought Mr. Powell would spend this money in studying the juvenile delinquency problem or whether he would use it to organize a domestic peace corps in Harlem. There is one point on which they did agree — that the money would be spent at Mr. Powell's discretion, and apparently without any exercise of control by the federal government.

"The housing and home finance agency, the third government agency, was equally generous; it approved three loans totaling nearly $11 million on property which was being purchased for approximately $8.5 million, and, as further evidence of the administration's philanthropy, it endorsed a bill which would provide complete exemption from all real estate taxes on one of these properties as long as it was owned and controlled by Mr. Powell's outfit."

THE QUESTION that is being asked here now is whether anybody else has gotten or could still get such favors from the Kennedy administration, and whether the rules of "equal opportunity" will be followed hereafter.

It will be interesting to see whether the House of Representatives institutes a full investigation of the whole series of charges made by a member of the upper house. While each house is the sole judge of the behavior of its own members, either house has a right to investigate just what the federal agencies did and what pressures, if any, were brought to bear and by whom to grant Mr. Powell the requests that he made for federal funds.

Before making his speech, Sen. Williams wrote to all the federal agencies involved and received general information concerning the grants. In his address, Mr. Williams made this further comment:

"During the past 12 months various agencies of the government have been scrambling around to see who could give Mr. Powell the most favorable deal. . .

"I cite an example of Mr. Powell's influence with this administration under the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Long-term loans totaling nearly $11 million at interest rates as low as 3⅛ per cent have been approved to Mr. Powell and his associates . . . .

"Not only were these loans sufficient to cover 100 per cent of the acquisition cost of the properties in question, but in one instance the loan approved was for exactly double the acquisition price."

THIS IS something which will certainly cause an arching of eyebrows among those citizens who have applied for loans but have not been given more than the acquisition price.

The real point is not whether any fault lies with an applicant who seeks to get all he can, but whether the federal agencies — anxious to "curry favor" with Chairman Powell, for instance, as Sen. Williams describes it, have overstepped the bounds of propriety.

MOSCOW

The Soviet Union, working hard to improve its domestic and international air services, is seriously considering the reintroduction of big dirigibles.

The first hint of this came in an interview in the government newspaper Izvestia with the head of a state aeronautical design office reported to be planning the airships.

Since then, the government has instructed both the Ministry of Transport Construction and the Soviet Academy of Construction to look closely into the possibility of building and financing them.

The Russian authorities seem to have two main tasks in mind for big airships:

1. The airlifting, to the virgin lands and new development areas in Siberia, of huge components for construction work and factories, without the need to dismantle them beforehand.

2. The dropping of plant and personnel into Arctic regions where extensive new economic and scientific projects are under way.

The official Arctic Research Institute said that it backed airships as a means of overcoming problems of surveying ice conditions and landing men and material where neither fixed wing aircraft or helicopters could put down.

The Russian government seems to be supporting the airship drive on the ground that the serious disadvantages of pre-war ships can now be overcome. The worst of these was the high inflammability of hydrogen, generally used as a lifting gas.

The alternative non-inflammable gas, helium, was available only in the U.S., and it was the hydrogen hazard, cause of the disastrous burning of the German 800-foot, 50-passenger "Hidenburg" at Lakehurst, N.J., on May 6, 1937, which brought the commercial airship era to an end.

Now, however, the Russians are believed to have substantial natural helium supplies available in several areas and there are reports that a big gasfield discovered in recent weeks in the Usthurt Desert between the Aral and Caspian Seas may have a high helium content.

Hookstown Grange Hears Report On Year's Projects

A report on projects for the year were outlined by Mrs. Chester Elliott, chairman of the community service committee, at the meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night at the Grange Hall.

Mrs. Elliott said the annual Grange fair will be held Aug. 21-24.

The Grange also will provide a medical kit for community use, sponsor a Red Cross first aid course, co-operate with volunteer firemen in the Civil Defense program, co-operate with the county extension service to aid 4-H and other groups, and assist the home economics committee in its project, Mrs. Elliott reported.

It also will continue to donate $100 to the scholarship fund at South Side High School and will grant use of the Grange Hall for the post - prom party April 26.

Card parties will be held the second and fourth Saturdays of each month. One is scheduled tonight at the Grange Hall with Lawrence Searight as chairman.

During business, a discussion was held on painting the interior of the building, finishing the floor of the stage and dressing room and the Grange approved the purchase of an emergency lighting system. William Thompson, master, presided.

The home economics committee has distributed favors at City Hospital and is collecting handkerchiefs for the Passavant Home in Rochester.

Degrees will be conferred March 7.

Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. James Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright.

At the meeting Feb. 21, a representative of the Bell Telephone Co., will show a film and speak on all-number dialing.

Franklin County Escapee Nabbed In Waverly Area

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — The sheriffs of Jackson and Pike counties, along with five deputies, surrounded a cabin in a secluded area near here late Friday night and captured Phillip Kelley, one of six prisoners who sawed their way out of the Franklin County Jail in Columbus last month.

Sheriff Jess H. Foster of Pike County and Sheriff John Evans of Jackson County said Kelley, 26, and from Springfield, offered no resistance. Foster said he and Evans had been tracking Kelley for three days. He was found living up a hollow near Beaver Township with an elderly bachelor, Foster said.

Kelley is the fourth of the six fugitives to be picked up. Still at large are Credell Beel, 28, Columbus, and James Johnson, 33, of Cleveland.

Sheriff Stacy Hall was en route here to take Kelley back to Columbus, Foster said.

Kelley and the others escaped by sawing their way through the bars of a second floor window and climbing to the ground down a fire hose.

Demonstration Group Meets At Hammondsville

Mrs. Velma McCourt, Jefferson County home demonstration council director, was in charge.

Mrs. Eunice Iddings is senior counselor and Mrs. Kathleen Martin, junior counselor, who also gave the secretary's report.

A valentine lunch was served 14 members and four guests, Mrs. Barbara Jones, vice president of the Ellwood and Hancock County Farm Women's Clubs, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton of Wellsville, Mrs. Vicky Hower of New Somerset and Mrs. Merle Bremmer.

A special meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Elm's Hall, with Mrs. McCourt in charge, to select the pattern and material for cotton dresses, the group's first project.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mary Pysniak with Mrs. Evelyn Grafton co-hostess. The date will be announced.

Principals To Attend Pittsburgh Sessions

Five area principals will be attending sessions of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, which will continue through Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

Lee Kirkland, Beaver Local High School principal, will attend all sessions.

E. Russell Slack, principal of Wells High School in Newell, is attending the meeting today while George Hargraves, ELHS principal, and Thomas Dixon, Westgate principal, will attend Monday.

Thomas Leek, Salineville High School principal, also will attend.

Ex-Pilot Dies

LODI, N.J. (AP) — Wesley L. Smith, 69, who set a transcontinental record in 1924 when he became the first Army pilot to fly a 50-pound mail load from New York to California, died Thursday in a hospital after a long illness. He was born in Los Banos, Calif.

Sales Of $70,389,000 Set Record For Ferro

Sales of $70,389,000 in 1962 established a new record for the Ferro Corp., exceeding 1961 sales of $63,067,000 by 11 per cent.

Earnings improved from $2,634,000 in 1961 to $2,705,000 in 1962, or from $3.20 per share to $3.27 per share on shares outstanding at the end of the year. These figures are before final audit, the firm said at its Cleveland headquarters.

The concern, with subsidiaries in nine countries outside the United States, experienced increased charges over 1961 of 22 cents per share resulting from abnormal currency devaluations in Argentina and Brazil. International operations on the whole continued to expand with sales up 17 per cent. The domestic portion of the consolidated sales was up 7 per cent.

Ferro operates facilities in East End.

Gov. Rockefeller Faces Crisis On Motor Vehicles

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is faced with a major political and fiscal crisis in New York State over his plan to raise motor vehicle registration charges $48 million a year —an average of $9.50 per vehicle.

The home-front troubles, tied to balancing a record $2.9 billion budget, exploded just as Rockefeller began expanding his national horizons in an apparent quest for the Republican presidential nomination.

In New York protests against the Rockefeller plan to raise registration fees poured into legislative offices, newspapers and automobile clubs and the governor's office.

Charges for registering passenger vehicles now range from $8 to $26, depending upon weight. The governor has proposed to increase the range from $20 to $45. Fees for commercial vehicles would go up a flat 20 per cent.

FBI Arrests 10 In 6 States On Checks, Orders

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The FBI had 10 arrests logged today as agents continued to trace the cashing in six states of almost $80,000 in stolen checks and money orders.

The checks and many of the more than 1,200 money orders were stolen in 11 burglaries here beginning in 1961, the FBI said. They have turned up in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and in Buffalo and other parts of New York State.

Leonard E. Price, 20, and Clifford H. Solomon, 40, both of Buffalo, were arrested Friday.

Four others, all from Buffalo, were arrested earlier this week on similar charges. One was a woman.

Murder Trial Is Set Tentatively Feb. 26

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The second - degree murder trial of Mrs. Loretta Page, 23, in Butler County Common Pleas Court has been tentatively set for Feb. 26.

Mrs. Page pleaded innocent to the charge Friday. Police said she shot her estranged husband Leon, 22, when he broke in on all-night party at her apartment Jan. 12.

BPW Due Movie On Peace Corps

An official film of the Peace Corps, narrated by Dave Garroway, will be screened at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Travelers Hotel.

Miss Hazel McShane will introduce the movie, which shows the training system and the general goals of the corps.

Mrs. Helen Moore, president, will conduct business. Mrs. Virginia Manypenny, chairman, Mrs. Mildred McKim and Mrs. Adelene MacBurney, assisted by Miss Judy Manypenny and Miss Betty Wolfe, high school students, have arranged table decorations on a George Washington theme.

Reservations must be in by Monday with Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, Mrs. Edna Grimm, Miss Gladys Rinehart and Mrs. Margaret Bowen.

Of all the various methods of brewing coffee, percolating is the favorite, a manufacturer of coffee-making equipment asserts.

Hookstown Grange Hears Report On Year's Projects

A report on projects for the year were outlined by Mrs. Chester Elliott, chairman of the community service committee, at the meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night at the Grange Hall.

Mrs. Elliott said the annual Grange fair will be held Aug. 21-24.

The Grange also will provide a medical kit for community use, sponsor a Red Cross first aid course, co-operate with volunteer firemen in the Civil Defense program, co-operate with the county extension service to aid 4-H and other groups, and assist the home economics committee in its project, Mrs. Elliott reported.

It also will continue to donate $100 to the scholarship fund at South Side High School and will grant use of the Grange Hall for the post - prom party April 26.

Card parties will be held the second and fourth Saturdays of each month. One is scheduled tonight at the Grange Hall with Lawrence Searight as chairman.

During business, a discussion was held on painting the interior of the building, finishing the floor of the stage and dressing room and the Grange approved the purchase of an emergency lighting system. William Thompson, master, presided.

The home economics committee has distributed favors at City Hospital and is collecting handkerchiefs for the Passavant Home in Rochester.

Degrees will be conferred March 7.

Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. James Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright.

At the meeting Feb. 21, a representative of the Bell Telephone Co., will show a film and speak on all-number dialing.

Franklin County Escapee Nabbed In Waverly Area

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — The sheriffs of Jackson and Pike counties, along with five deputies, surrounded a cabin in a secluded area near here late Friday night and captured Phillip Kelley, one of six prisoners who sawed their way out of the Franklin County Jail in Columbus last month.

Sheriff Jess H. Foster of Pike County and Sheriff John Evans of Jackson County said Kelley, 26, and from Springfield, offered no resistance. Foster said he and Evans had been tracking Kelley for three days. He was found living up a hollow near Beaver Township with an elderly bachelor, Foster said.

Kelley is the fourth of the six fugitives to be picked up. Still at large are Credell Beel, 28, Columbus, and James Johnson, 33, of Cleveland.

Sheriff Stacy Hall was en route here to take Kelley back to Columbus, Foster said.

Kelley and the others escaped by sawing their way through the bars of a second floor window and climbing to the ground down a fire hose.

Sales Of $70,389,000 Set Record For Ferro

Sales of $70,389,000 in 1962 established a new record for the Ferro Corp., exceeding 1961 sales of $63,067,000 by 11 per cent.

Earnings improved from $2,634,000 in 1961 to $2,705,000 in 1962, or from $3.20 per share to $3.27 per share on shares outstanding at the end of the year. These figures are before final audit, the firm said at its Cleveland headquarters.

The concern, with subsidiaries in nine countries outside the United States, experienced increased charges over 1961 of 22 cents per share resulting from abnormal currency devaluations in Argentina and Brazil. International operations on the whole continued to expand with sales up 17 per cent. The domestic portion of the consolidated sales was up 7 per cent.

Ferro operates facilities in East End.

Locke, institutional representative for scouting for the church, will be presented.

Greeters in the narthex will include Bill Brown, Terry Calhoun, Bob Griffith, Ralph Locke, Tom Snow and Tom Thornton of the Explorers Post.

The narthex exhibit will feature a gold "Miner's Pick" awarded to the post for accumulating the largest number of points on scouting skills at winter camp held Jan. 4-6 at Camp McKinley.

The annual Boy Scout dinner will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the church library. All scouts, their families and other persons interested in scouting are invited to attend the coverdish affair that marks the 51st anniversary of scouting in the Trinity church.

AME Church Sets Founder Day Services

The Sheridan African Methodist Episcopal Church will celebrate Founder's Day with a special program, Sunday at 3 p. m.

In commemoration of the late Richard Allen, first bishop and founder of African Methodism, the observance will be celebrated by other churches of the denomination.

The occasion will also mark the observance of Boy Scout Week and the 100th celebration of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Bishop Allen was born a slave in Philadelphia and at an early age was sold to a farmer near Dover, Del., who later made it possible for Allen and his family to obtain their freedom.

He educated himself by private studying. He was ordained a deacon in 1799 and an elder in 1816, after which he was chosen bishop.

Program participants include Mrs. Lillie Jones of St. Paul's AME Church of Midland and Mrs. Joyce and Charles South of the local church. The Tri-State Male Chorus will provide the music.

Mrs. James G. Douglass, wife of the minister, is in charge of the arrangement.

Youth Series Set For Gardendale

The Rev. Robert P. Thomas, pastor of the Chester First Church of the Nazarene, will conduct youth services at the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene nightly at 7:30 Tuesday through Feb. 17.

The series will follow a banquet at the Fellowship Hall of the Gardendale church Monday evening when Rev. Thomas will speak and screen a film.

The series is sponsored by the Young People's Society of the Gardendale church, with Don Booth president.

The Rev. Robert W. Helfrich is pastor.

Valentine Tea Slated At Wellsville Church

A combined stay-at-home and valentine tea will be held Sunday from 5 to 7 p. m. at Lee's Chapel of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Wellsville under sponsorship of the Women's Missionary Society.

Mrs. Inez Carter is chairman and Mrs. Kathryn Carpenter is president of the missionary group.

At 7:30 p. m., the Roberta Martin Singers of Chicago will be presented by the trustees. The evangelistic singers, writers and singers of over 100 gospel songs, are also recording artists.

The program will open with selections by the host choir, followed by numbers by the Tri - State Male Chorus and the guest singers.

Guests Will Preach At Latter-Day Church

Two branch officers of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be guest speakers at the 10 a.m. service of the local church Sunday.

They are Imri Hutchings, first councilor in the Eastern Atlantic States Mission, and Frank Young, also of Pittsburgh, president of the West Penn District.

Toney Adkins is the local branch president.

Minister At Newell Recalled For 4 Years

The Rev. Ira E. Fowler of the First Church of the Nazarene at Newell has been called to serve as pastor of the church for four more years.

During the 11 a. m. worship Sunday, a six-week tithing emphasis will be launched with a special sermon by the pastor.

Appeals Court Takes Barnett's Case For Study

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal appeals court has taken the criminal contempt case against Mississippi's governor and lieutenant governor under study after first rejecting a plea to let the state bear the responsibility.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals gave no hint when it might rule on the battery of motions presented Friday and move ahead with the charges.

However, Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta said the court would not delay its study of the motions made in behalf of Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr.

The two have been ordered to show why they should not be held in criminal contempt for trying to block the enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith into the University of Mississippi.

At the outset of Friday's hearing, the court—with eight of its nine judges on the bench—made it clear that Barnett and Johnson must shoulder any blame for their acts themselves.

The ruling came when Mississippi attorneys asked that the state be made a party to the case. The actions of Barnett and Johnson—who each personally turned Meredith back from the Ole Miss gates—"were the acts of the state," they claimed.

Band Uniforms Eyed At Lisbon

LISBON — The Lisbon Band Parents Association met Wednesday evening at David Anderson High School and Mrs. Robert A. Williams, president, presided. Purchase of new band uniforms was discussed and Theodore Greener, director, was authorized to make inquiries from several supply houses.

Winners Listed In County Legion Essay Contests

LISBON — Columbiana County winners in the American Legion high school essay contest, "How Can I Preserve the American Democracy," were announced today by Dr. James R. Garstick of Columbiana, chairman. They are:

Ninth grade — Kathleen Scott of Columbiana, sponsored by Post 290, and William Atchison of Winona, United Local, sponsored by Post 684 of Hanoverton.

Tenth grade — Carol Winegord and Eric Keck, both of Columbiana, Post 290.

Twelfth grade — Janie Heinbuch of Salem R.D. 2, United Local, Post 684, and Galen Black of New Waterford R.D. 1, East Palestine High School, Post 31.

The essays are now in district competition with entries from eight other counties. District winners will be entered in the state contest and the 12 state winners will be given an all-expense paid trip to Washington, Dr. Garstick said.

Senior Citizens Air Fund-Raising Plans

Fund-raising projects were outlined at a meeting of the Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon at the VFW Hall. Frank Shone, president, presided.

Members observing their birthday anniversaries in November, December and January were honored.

Shone led group singing. Cards and crafts were enjoyed by the 54 present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Eunice Hogenfield and committee. A color scheme of pink and white was used. Next meeting is Thursday afternoon.

2 Will Be Speakers Before Westgate PTA

Dr. William Sulkes will speak on "Fluoridation of Water" and John Parsons, a representative of the Junior Chambers of Commerce will discuss the proposed "Citizens Scholarship Foundation at a meeting of the Westgate Parent - Teacher Association Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The program theme will be on "Building Up Our Youths." Demonstrations will be presented by the students.

Refreshments will follow in the cafeteria. Mrs. Gerald Manley, president, will preside.

2 Observances Planned On World Day Of Prayer

The program for the annual World Day of Prayer observance March 1 was outlined at the meeting of the Executive Board of the East Liverpool Council of United Church Women Wednesday afternoon at the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church.

There will be two services, one at the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church for the downtown churches and the other in the Boyce Methodist Church for East End congregations.

The Rev. John Stilts will be speaker at the Orchard Grove church, of which he is pastor, for the service to be held at 7:30 p.m., or 2 p.m. in the event of bad weather.

Mrs. Charles Rippeth, first vice president of the council, is general chairman.

Participating churches for the downtown service are St. Stephen's Episcopal, Trinity United Presbyterian, St. John's Lutheran, First Baptist, First Church of Christ, First Methodist and Emmanuel Presbyterian. Mrs. Orval Schoolcraft will be organist.

A rehearsal will be held Feb. 20 at 1:30 p.m. at the Orchard Grove church. Participating churches will send representatives.

Program plans have not been completed for the East End service.

Mrs. Richard Graham, president, presided for business. Mrs. Howard Pearce read the minutes and Mrs. J. B. Arkward, the financial report.

Ten churches were represented during roll call. A contribution of $50 was given to the Salvation Army building fund.

County Campaign About Set In Heart Fund Drive

Final plans are being made for a campaign throughout Columbiana County to raise $15,000 for the Heart Fund, featuring a house-to-house canvass Feb. 24 — "Heart Sunday."

Twing Hiscox of Salem, president of the County Heart Council, said the drive is part of a campaign in Mahoning, Columbiana and Trumbull Counties to obtain $100,000 for research, education and care of heart disease patients.

Hiscox said $12,918 was raised in Columbiana County last year.

Committee chairmen for cities and townships in the drive include Mrs. Austin Moore for East Liverpool, Mrs. Robert Bernstorf for Calcutta and Mrs. Herbert Bar for Wellsville.

Other chairmen are Earl Dickey of Lisbon, Mrs. James Fruit of East Palestine, Mrs. Leo Jenkins of Middleton Township, Mrs. Burtt Cobourn of East Fairfield, Mrs. Mary May Parks of New Waterford.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Klembara of West Point, Thomas Covert of Salem, Mrs. Charles Foster of Unity, Mrs. William Craig of Leetonia, Mrs. Robert Pancake of Pancake Corners and Clarkson, Robert Gonter and William Gonter of Elkrun Township, and Manson Merrick of East Rochester.

Chairmen are being sought for Salineville, Columbiana and Hanoverton.

Speaker Selected For Lisbon World Day Of Prayer Event

The Rev. William Ring, pastor of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ, will be guest speaker for the World Day of Prayer observance March 1 at the First Methodist Church at Lisbon. His sermon will be "More than Conquerors."

A prayer vigil will begin at 6 a. m. in the chapel and continue until the afternoon service at 2.

The event is sponsored by the Lisbon Council of United Church Women.

The Women's Guild met at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ Thursday with 40 present.

The forenoon was spent in quilting and sewing and making supplies for the Columbiana County Cancer Society.

Mrs. Russell McArtor and Mrs. Merle McPherson, assisted by Mrs. James Starkie, were hostesses for the coverdish dinner at noon.

The afternoon session opened with a quiet meditation. Mrs. Kenneth Clapsaddle, president, presided. Plans were made for a Sewing Day Tuesday at 10 a.m.

Purchase of 150 family thankoffering boxes was approved.

A box of sewing supplies will be sent to the Rev. Elden Buck family, missionaries in the South Sea Islands, who visited the church Jan. 31.

Next meeting is March 7.

The Columbiana County 8 and 40 salon of the American Legion Auxiliary met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Effie Broomall of Salem. Mrs. Renee Sechler was assistant hostess.

Donations to the Jewish National TB Hospital at Denver and for a nurse scholarship fund, both state projects, were approved during business meeting. Mrs. Clarence Ball of Lisbon, president, presided.

Mrs. Ruth Parsons of East Liverpool will receive the group March 7.

Eleven attended the meeting of the Girls Guild of St. Jacob's United Church of Christ Thursday evening at the home of Miss Gayle Schnader of the Salem Rd. Mrs. Eunice Rudebock is councilor.

Miss Carol Shade, president, presided for business. Greeting cards were sent to the shutins.

Discarded greeting cards for the overseas project were turned in. Plans for the project trip to a home for the aged were discussed.

"Mission Fields" was the program presented by Miss Rhonda Hill. A songfest, directed by Miss Schnader, recreation and song leader, followed.

Next meeting March 6 will be at the home of Misses Brenda and Karen Wherry of Salem Rd.

Mrs. Bruce Black and Mrs. Pete Cope were guests of the TOC-L Club Thursday evening with Mrs. Roger Warren of the Salem Rd.

Prizes for Hollywood canasta went to Mrs. Black and Mrs. Joe Gallo.

The club will meet Feb. 21 with Mrs. Gallo of McKinley Ave.

The Thursday Night Club was entertained by Mrs. Lester Culbertson of Guilford Lake and guests were Mrs. Foster Lohr and Mrs. Walter Wilson.

Pvt. John E. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of R.D. 1, has been assigned to Ft. Jackson, S. C., for basic training. He entered the Army in December.

Appeals Court Takes Barnett's Case For Study

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A federal appeals court has taken the criminal contempt case against Mississippi's governor and lieutenant governor under study after first rejecting a plea to let the state bear the responsibility.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals gave no hint when it might rule on the battery of motions presented Friday and move ahead with the charges.

However, Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta said the court would not delay its study of the motions made in behalf of Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr.

The two have been ordered to show why they should not be held in criminal contempt for trying to block the enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith into the University of Mississippi.

At the outset of Friday's hearing, the court—with eight of its nine judges on the bench—made it clear that Barnett and Johnson must shoulder any blame for their acts themselves.

The ruling came when Mississippi attorneys asked that the state be made a party to the case. The actions of Barnett and Johnson—who each personally turned Meredith back from the Ole Miss gates—"were the acts of the state," they claimed.

Band Uniforms Eyed At Lisbon

LISBON — The Lisbon Band Parents Association met Wednesday evening at David Anderson High School and Mrs. Robert A. Williams, president, presided. Purchase of new band uniforms was discussed and Theodore Greener, director, was authorized to make inquiries from several supply houses.

It was announced that the annual Columbiana County Band and Choral Festival will be held at the local high school Feb. 23 with 130 band participants and 170 in the choral group.

Mrs. John Drovdlic is chairman of the committee to serve lunch for the practice session of both groups at the school Feb. 16.

The association will serve dinner to the festival group. Mrs. Paul Cross is chairman. Proceeds from the meals will go to the uniform fund.

The association will meet March 6.

Wedding Fete Held For Couple At Elkton

A surprise wedding party was held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Burrell Reeder of Elkton in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Moore.

The former Helen Reeder and Moore, also of Elkton, were married Jan. 10 at the Elkton Methodist Church.

Regional Girl Scout Aides Visit Wellsville

Two regional workers in the National Girl Scout Field Staff explained a film at a meeting of leaders, assistants, committee workers and others at the Covenant United Presbyterian Church in Wellsville Thursday night.

Miss Ruth Fontaine, council advisor, and Mrs. Hallie Laird, regional committeewoman, both of Cleveland, spoke on what is involved in the proposed Girl Scout Council merger with the Wellsville Girl Scout Neighborhood Association. A question-and-answer period followed.

The 20-cent piece had a brief vogue in Nevada mining camps, where it bought two shots of whiskey.

SPIRITUAL HEALING
How do you feel about it? . . . indifferent? . . . skeptical? . . . suspicious? . . . don't believe in it? Yet when Jesus came He brought life and health. The Gospels are filled with the accounts of His healing acts and His commands to go and heal. Why not investigate? Can you lose?

Chester-Newell Girl Scout Aides Told Of Program

Six Chester and Newell Girl Scout leaders attended a meeting Thursday at Steubenville at which the new Girl Scout program to go into effect in September was outlined.

Attending were Mrs. Ralph Wolfe, Mrs. Gene Davis and Mrs. Herman Sayre of Chester and Mrs. Warren Brown, Mrs. Phyllis Grimm and Mrs. Everett London of Newell.

The Chester-Newell Neighborhood Girl Scout Association will meet Monday night at 8 at the Westminster United Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Charles French, chairman, said plans for the annual cookie sale will be aired.

District Girl Scouts Seek Cookie Orders

Girl Scout troops of District 3, including those in Chester, Newell and Toronto, are seeking orders for Girl Scout cookies in an annual project.

Orders will be received by the youngsters until Feb. 22 and delivery dates are March 15-16. Five kinds of cookies are offered.

Over 70 troops in the Upper Ohio Valley Council are participating in the sale. Mrs. John Edward Wilson is chairman.

Dick Powell's Widow Due $4,000 Monthly

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Superior Court granted June Allyson $4,000 monthly as a family allowance for six months or until final inventory is made of the Dick Powell estate.

Executor A. Morgan Maree Jr. requested the order Friday, reporting that the actress was without adequate funds to support herself and their children.

The estate's value has been estimated at $2.5 million, all of which was left to the widow and Powell's four children.

Goodballet Proclaims 'Beauty Week' In City

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet today issued a proclamation designating the period beginning Sunday as "National Beauty Salon Week" in East Liverpool.

The proclamation was issued in connection with the observance sponsored by East Liverpool Unit 15, National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

A highlight of the local program will be a hair style show Wednesday night at Westgate School auditorium. Unit 15 also will offer free services to children who are public wards and to residents of rest homes.

Actor George Dolenz Dies Suddenly At 55

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor George Dolenz, a onetime waiter who began his movie career portraying waiters, died of a heart attack on the roof of a Sunset Strip restaurant he operated.

Well-Prepared

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — A pessimist or a person who believes in preparedness may have written the list of requirements for a sports car rally.

It included: insect repellent, rags for windshield, change of clothing, tow rope, flares, seat belts and paid-up insurance.

Art Teacher Speaks To Midland Rotarians

Thomas Kozar, art teacher at Western Beaver High School in Industry, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday evening at the New Riviera Restaurant.

He was introduced by Frank Meredith, principal.

Business was conducted by Sal Glorioso, president, and devotions were led by John Scully.

Dr. James Swinker will be program chairman at Thursday evening's meeting.

The 15 largest cities populationwise in the U. S. are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore, Houston, Cleveland, Washington, D.C., St. Louis, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Boston, Dallas and New Orleans.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fantastic? . . . Listen!

Last year in the United States one million pounds of sleeping tablets were manufactured.

Each night American people swallowed 12 million doses.

Each night the nervous tensions of millions of people were relaxed artificially and temporarily. No worry was banished; no fear disappeared. No problem came nearer to solution because of a pill . . . and sleep. Troubles were merely postponed.

Peace of mind and rest come, not through pills, but through power found in trusting God.

Then develop that power by going to church regularly. Find there a faith that grows and gives courage. And pray, for "Whatsoever you shall ask in My name, believing, you shall receive."

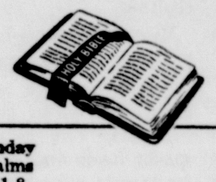
THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.



Fantastic? . . . Listen!

Last year in the United States one million pounds of sleeping tablets were manufactured.

Each night American people swallowed 12 million doses.

Each night the nervous tensions of millions of people were relaxed artificially and temporarily. No worry was banished; no fear disappeared. No problem came nearer to solution because of a pill . . . and sleep. Troubles were merely postponed.

Peace of mind and rest come, not through pills, but through power found in trusting God.

Then develop that power by going to church regularly. Find there a faith that grows and gives courage. And pray, for "Whatsoever you shall ask in My name, believing, you shall receive."

Sinatra Honors Parents On 50th Anniversary

UNION CITY, N.J. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, possibly with some of his Hollywood cronies, planned to join local dignitaries and family friends today in honoring a quiet-living, elderly couple on their 50th anniversary —Sinatra's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sinatra, currently of nearby Weehawken but soon to move to an exclusive residential district in Fort Lee, were married on Feb. 9, 1913.

They will be formally remarried today during a special Mass at St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church with their famous son and some 200 invited guests looking on.

Then the golden anniversary scene switches to a restaurant in neighboring Jersey City for a luncheon celebration of the Sinatras' 50 years together.

The couple has shunned the public spotlight.

Initiation Ceremony Held For 7 By Job's Daughters

An initiation ceremony for seven new members highlighted the meeting of Job's Daughters Bethel 61 Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple. About 100 attended.

The initiates are Debbie Banfield, Betty Jane Dupont, Mary O'Neil, Debbie Reed, Kim Andrews, Nancy Doland and Cynthia Wotring.

Miss Karen Keddie, honored queen, presided. Introduced with honors were Mrs. Leona Howe, member of the Guardian Council of Bethel 55 of Strongsville; Mrs. Jane Halstead, past grand guardian, and her husband, Leroy Halstead, past associate grand guardian, of Youngstown, and visiting honored queens from area bethels.

Miss Judy March, librarian protem, read a poem written by Mrs. Chleo Deshler Goodman in honor of Miss Keddie's theme, "Peace, Joy and Harmony." The birthday march was for Nancy Huston. A dance and skating party will be held tonight at the Casting Club. Guests are invited.

Mrs. Ochsner was honored at a dinner party at The Travelers Hotel by the Guardian Council preceding the meeting. Attending were Miss Keddie, her father, Dale Keddie, and grandmother, Mrs. Albert Keddie, John Hall, Guardian Council grand, Miss Holly Lampman, senior princess, Miss Kay Eaton, junior princess, and their mothers, Mrs. C. Major Lampman and Mrs. Kenneth Eaton.

A reception in the grillroom followed the evening session. A valentine theme predominated in decorations on the buffet table covered with a red cloth. A red and white carnation centerpiece was placed on a large white doily.

The social committee was comprised of Mrs. Arnold McDowell, Mrs. William Underwood, Mrs. Richard Badger, Mrs. Samuel Blackburn and Miss Pauline Lewis.

Next meeting is Feb. 20.

Books Reviewed For Wellsville WSCS Program

Mrs. Eileen Bush combined devotions and the program when she presented the "Stewardship" theme at the meeting of the WSCS Thursday night in the social rooms of the First Methodist Church at Wellsville.

She reviewed two booklets "But Stewardship is My Life" (McCord) and "A Family Affair," prepared by the Methodist Church department on stewardship and finance.

She gave poems by Isaac Watts, Ralph Spaulding Cushman and Annie Johnshon Flint and closed with a poem, "Riches In Christ" (Flint).

Miss Helen Bibbee reviewed the second chapter of the study book "Dimensions of Prayer" — To Pray Is to Change." Business was conducted by Mrs. Olive Banfield, president. She announced that Steubenville District "Day Apart" services will be held at the First Methodist Church March 4 from 10 to 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Sara Miller, Mrs. Thelma Menough, Mrs. Maysel Beck and Mrs. Louise Barcus as the committee.

The president appointed a nominating committee, Mrs. Alice Miller, Mrs. Clara Michaels, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Bianca Eckfeld. The society accepted an invitation from the Pennsylvania Ave. church WSCS of East Liverpool to attend a meeting May 7.

Mrs. Banfield announced "Family Night" will be held Feb. 20 with Mrs. Iva Householder and her circle to arrange a coverdish dinner. Lunch was served by Mrs. Sara Miller, Mrs. Mabel Smith, Mrs. Mildred Urie, Mrs. Eva Vermillion, Mrs. Georgia Couts and Misses Grayce Miller and Miss Bibbee.

OU's President Cites Needs Of Southeast Ohio

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Some 400 representatives of government, industry, and education in southeastern Ohio were told Friday night that highways, rivers, and air service comprise the greatest needs of the area.

The speaker was Dr. Vernon R. Alden, Ohio University president who appeared at the second annual meeting on southeastern Ohio area development.

Rivers must be tamed to create choice industrial cities, highways must be improved, and better air service must be provided, Alden said.

In 1938, 19 island colonies banded together into the West Indies Federation.

Sinatra Honors Parents On 50th Anniversary

UNION CITY, N.J. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra, possibly with some of his Hollywood cronies, planned to join local dignitaries and family friends today in honoring a quiet-living, elderly couple on their 50th anniversary —Sinatra's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sinatra, currently of nearby Weehawken but soon to move to an exclusive residential district in Fort Lee, were married on Feb. 9, 1913.

They will be formally remarried today during a special Mass at St. Augustine's Roman Catholic Church with their famous son and some 200 invited guests looking on.

Then the golden anniversary scene switches to a restaurant in neighboring Jersey City for a luncheon celebration of the Sinatras' 50 years together.

The couple has shunned the public spotlight.

OU's President Cites Needs Of Southeast Ohio

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Some 400 representatives of government, industry, and education in southeastern Ohio were told Friday night that highways, rivers, and air service comprise the greatest needs of the area.

The speaker was Dr. Vernon R. Alden, Ohio University president who appeared at the second annual meeting on southeastern Ohio area development.

Rivers must be tamed to create choice industrial cities, highways must be improved, and better air service must be provided, Alden said.

In 1938, 19 island colonies banded together into the West Indies Federation.

Parked Vehicle Drifts

Milk Truck Arrives 'Hard Way'

This driverless dairy truck made an almost perfect four-point landing when it drifted away late Friday afternoon, plunged over two brick walls and landed in the yard of a Minerva St. home.

No one was injured but the crash damaged the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Allison, 742 Minerva St., and left front end and side of the Golden Star Dairy truck operated by Earl Lester Murray, 50, of 322 2nd St., Wellsville, police said.

The damage to the Allison residence included the interior and exterior of the rear wall, window frame and a utility cabinet. A refrigerator was moved several inches by the impact. Milk bottles were broken as the truck landed.

Mrs. Allison stared in disbelief from the kitchen window as the truck sailed over the retaining wall and then she fled out the front door.

Murray said he had halted on Eugene Pl., a narrow dirt street between Minerva and Riley Aves., and started toward the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fair, 653 Riley Ave., when the emergency brake apparently slipped and the truck started to drift.

Murray said he ran alongside the truck and pulled the sliding door off its track in an attempt to get inside and halt the vehicle. As it gained speed and neared the wall, Murray stopped. "I expected it to tip over on its top and hoped it would hit the tree."

Mrs. Allison was making cookies in the kitchen and had her back to the window. Hearing a grinding noise, she turned around and saw the truck coming toward the window.

Almost paralyzed with fear, Mrs. Allison stared at the truck and then ran to the front and outside the home.

Mrs. Fair was watching Murray when she saw the truck start to roll and fly over the walls.

Ohioville CD Activity Aired

Progress of Civil Defense activities in the Ohioville area were discussed at a meeting of the Ohioville CD unit Wednesday night in the Fairview Grange Hall.

Sam McKinney, director, commended chairmen of the the eight units now operating, including medical, schools, transportation, police, welfare, shelter, ways and means and radiology. Volunteers are needed and any interested resident may call McKinney at NEwton 4-8725 or the secretary, Mrs. Joseph Welsh, NEwton 4-8543.

The police unit is taking applications for 25 to 50 men. Interested persons may call Victor Simpson, SPruce 5-1847.

All persons in the borough who own station wagons or trucks were urged to register with the CD unit, allowing the vehicles to be used in case of a disaster. Sam Adkins, chairman, may be reached at NEwton 4-8459.

Women and girls in the area interested in joining the welfare unit may contact the co-chairmen, Mrs. George Mastrovich, NEwton 4-8131, or Mrs. Ruth Gifford, SPruce 4-6244. Volunteers are needed.

John Flasco, school unit chairman, announced plans for a drill evacuation of the schools in the area. Problems involved were discussed.

Registrations for the first aid course being sponsored by the medical unit still are being accepted. Interested persons may contact Mrs. George Daniels, MIssion 3-6328.

Next meeting will be announced.

Meets At Hanoverton

County's Legion Council Told Of Park Expansion

LISBON — Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, representing the Parks and Forest Council, discussed the proposed plans for the expansion of Beaver Creek State Park at the Columbiana County American Legion council's meeting Friday night at Hanoverton Post 684. Albert Hayes of Post 290 of Columbiana, county commander, presided.

Bert Keck of Post 736 of Glenmoor, first vice commander, reported that the county membership at 2,502 with 204 needed to reach the quota.

James Cregar of Post 374 of East Liverpool, second vice commander, reminded members of the county birthday dinner to be held at the Valley Golf Club in Columbiana March 9. A dance will follow the dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Dale Brenner of the host post, county Gift-For-The-Yanks chairman, said the county council and affiliated units had contributed over $1,000 to the fund.

John Bender of Post 244 at East Sparta, said the posts in the 10th District contributed over $3,000.

The fund is used to buy gifts for hospitalized veterans and their families at Christmas. The county groups were thanked for their contributions.

Harmon Zepernick of Post 56 of Salem suggested that members write to Columbiana County commissioners and urge them to continue the strong Civil Defense organization in the county and to appropriate funds for it.

Gerald Knight of Massillon, 10th District second vice commander, reported Massillon had submitted a bid for the department bowling tournament for 1964 and asked that all bowlers attending this year's tournament at Dayton support Massillon.

Dwight Bush of Post 574 at North Georgetown, district first vice-commander, said that although the district is ahead of last year's membership as of this date, posts have been slow in turning in their membership cards. He urged all posts to make an extra effort to sign up their delinquent members before the American Legion birthday celebration March 15.

Guests included Paul Richeson, Stark County commander, and Frank Beane, District chaplain, both of Canton, and Verlin Swearington, commander of Post 221 in Massillon.

Hayes reminded that reservations for the birthday dinner must be turned in to him by March 6. There will be no Council meeting next month due to the dinner, Hayes said.

Dwight Bush of Post 574 at North Georgetown, district first vice-commander, said that although the district is ahead of last year's membership as of this date, posts have been slow in turning in their membership cards. He urged all posts to make an extra effort to sign up their delinquent members before the American Legion birthday celebration March 15.

Guests included Paul Richeson, Stark County commander, and Frank Beane, District chaplain, both of Canton, and Verlin Swearington, commander of Post 221 in Massillon.

Hayes reminded that reservations for the birthday dinner must be turned in to him by March 6. There will be no Council meeting next month due to the dinner, Hayes said.

Tigers Eye 3rd Win This Week After Spilling Chester

Cline Nets 29, Coulter 26 In Scoring Battle; ELHS At Niles

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

All week long Coach Jim Harris repeatedly warned his squad about a possible letdown against Toronto.

The Potters must have taken his words lightly, because for better than three quarters Friday night at Memorial Auditorium the Blue and White cagers seemed in the clouds from last weekend's two victories.

Some 1,000 fans watched as East Liverpool came roaring back in the closing minutes to pull a 50-47 victory from the fire against an ambitious bunch of Red Knights.

The Potters have been in several close finishes this season and usually lost them, but Friday night was different. The victory pushed East Liverpool's winning streak to three games and the season record to 5-9.

THE THANKS for the victory again can go to Dean Cline, who came up with his usual fine game while sinking 29 points, with eight coming in the fourth period. Last night's total puts him in the 300 club with 320.

Cline and Frank McComas teamed up for 14 points in the torrid finish to rub out the Toronto lead that had stared the Potters in the face from midway in the second period.

McComas didn't have a point for three quarters, but finally got them when they counted with three field goals in the final period.

TONIGHT the Potters, who have posted all five victories this season on the friendly confines of Memorial Auditorium, will travel to Niles.

The action will get under way at 7 with a reserve contest. The varsity tipoff should be around 8:30.

The well-balanced Niles squad spilled Ursuline, 85-56, last night on the Niles court, with Bo Rein scoring 20 points. The other four starters also were in the double figures.

LAST NIGHT'S victory pushed Niles' record to 8-5 for the season. The ELHS-Niles battle is a Big 8 contest.

As the seconds ticked away Friday night at the MA East Liverpool's hopes of staying on the win trail were dimmed for awhile mainly because of Tom Coulter, the red-haired flash of the Toronto five.

Coulter lost his scoring duel with Cline, winding up with 26. But in the second quarter he couldn't be stopped.

Harris had assigned Bob Forzano, his top defensive man, to Coulter. The Toronto star was held to one field goal in the first quarter, but broke loose with some long one-handed shots in the second period that netted 15 points in eight minutes.

EITHER shooting from 30 to 35 feet out or driving, Coulter didn't miss. He hit on 7 of 9 attempts and staked his team to a 28-22 halftime lead.

At one stretch in the second period he scored seven straight points, taking the Red Knights from behind 17-15 to a 22-17 lead.

Coulter slowed down in the third period, netting five points, but the Potters couldn't get started and remained behind the Knights, 37-33, when the quarter ended.

LINVILLE dropped in a foul and Kraft made two key free throws with 2:59 remaining. This put the Potters within two points of the lead, 44-42.

COULTER put Toronto in front again with a foul at 1:48 remaining, but that was the last point Toronto was to score.

McComas was jumping and tipped the ball to Ed Prentice, who in turn tipped to Cline cutting under the basket for an easy layup and two points which put East Liverpool in front 48-47 with 1:28 left.

Cline broke loose for one more basket before the game ended to clinch it for the Potters.

Toronto had a 19-17 edge in field goals, but the Potters made 16 of 28 fouls to the Red Knights 9 of 18.

Other than Cline, no other Potter starter had more than six points. The same goes for Toronto, with Coulter collecting the majority, but Saxton contributed nine markers and defensively blocked several shots by the Potters. Cline made 10 of 23 field goal attempts.

EAST LIVERPOOL had a very poor shooting percentage and was actually fortunate to win with it. The Potters showed only 17 of 69, for 24 per cent. Toronto was higher with 19 of 54.

The loss lessened the hopes of Coach Paul Kalivoda's team to be top seeded when the Sectional AA tourney rolls around. Toronto now shows an 8-4 record.

Massey Nets 22 For Subs In 58-47 Win

Joe Massey, a 5-7 guard, poured in 22 points and helped push the East Liverpool reserves back on the win trail in a 58-47 victory over the Toronto jayvees Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

The young Potters led all the way with quarter leads of 11-8, 24-17, and 41-32. The victory was the 10th in 14 games for Coach Frank Chan's squad.

Barrett Is Only Winner In Rams' Wrestling Loss

Joe Barrett was the only South Side wrestler to record a victory as Trinity High rolled over the Rams mat squad, 53-5, Friday night at South Side.

The loss puts South Side's record at 3-7 for the season.

Barrett, a 165-pounder, decisioned his opponent 6-4 for the long victory. Wilbert King scored South Side's other two points when he grappled to a 2-2 draw in the 180-pound match.

South Side will play host to Burgettstown Tuesday.

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's Tigers swing against West Branch tonight in quest of their third victory of a busy week, marked by two significant lineup changes in the stretch drive of the campaign.

The Tigers appear a favorite against the West Branch Warriors of Coach Joe Tucker, who own a 7-8 record and a four - game losing streak. Tonight's game is at the Salem High School gym and reserve action is set for 7 o'clock.

WELLSVILLE, which began the week by rapping Steubenville Central, came back Friday night to thrash Chester's Panthers, 68-30, before several hundred fans at Beacom Memorial gym.

The 38-point triumph for Wellsville was the second this year over outclassed Chester. The Tigers had won on the Chester boards by 30 points.

Coach Jack McDevitt again shuffled his lineup for the Chester game, starting Terry Flesch, 6-3 junior, at center, and Alvin Thompson, 5-11 senior, at guard, in place of regulars Steve Baldwin, 6-5 pivot, and Andy Dash, 5-11 guard.

McDEVITT indicated Flesch and Thompson may also start tonight, along with Ed Nelson, Forrest Harris and Jim Powell, regulars all season long.

The Tigers catch West Branch in a slump, after consecutive defeats to Youngstown Ursuline, Woodrow Wilson, Canfield and Rayen. But Tucker's Warriors won six straight early in the season over Greenford, Minerva, North Lima, East Palestine, Louisville and Lakeview.

Wellsville stands tall with a 10-4 record after the romp over Chester, last game in a rivalry of many years. The Panthers become part of a three-way consolidation next season.

Wellsville scored the first time it got possession, taking a 2-0 lead on Ed Nelson's clever layup. Terry Flesch added two free throws and a jump shot for a 6-0 lead. The Tigers were in front, 11-7, after the first period.

—:—

CHESTER hung fairly close in the second quarter, trailing by only 15-12 with 5:44 left. But Wellsville kept shooting and rebounding and pulled away to a 29-16 halftime lead.

Chester's Jim Tridico opened the third quarter with a free throw, but Wellsville then hit nine straight points before the Panthers could retaliate. The quarter ended with the Tigers far in front, 47-23.

Chester (6-8) managed only three field goals in the fourth quarter to eight by Wellsville. Kelse Johnson accounted for two of them in the last few seconds on drive shots.

WELLSVILLE'S Harris, banging in four field goals in the closing quarter, finished with 18 points to lead the Tigers. Contributing 10 each were Nelson, Baldwin and Flesch, while Andy Dash hit eight and Jim Powell five.

Four of Chester's starters tallied, with Bob Myers leading the way with 10 points. Superior height enabled the Tigers to attempt 20 more field goals than the losers. Wellsville tried 67, hitting 29, while Chester tried 47 and made 13.

IN A CLOSE preliminary game, the Wellsville Reserves extended their record to 11-3 by edging Chester, 48-42. Coach Chick McMillan's Tigers were forced to come from behind to win, with Flesch missing from the lineup.

Lester Bennett hit 14 points and improving Melvin Pullie, junior center, fired in 16 to lead Wellsville. Pat Welch was also in double figures with 12. Clutter's nine led Chester.

Poland Rolls Over Lisbon Quint, 50-44

LISBON — The stage is set for tonight's Lisbon - at - Columbiana battle which will decide the outcome of the 1963 Tri-County season.

Both contenders were upset Friday night. Lisbon dropped a 50-44 decision to Poland in the County seat and Columbiana traveled to Minerva only to be surprised, 59-52.

Going into tonight's game at Columbiana, the Clippers are 9-2 in league play while Lisbon is 8-3. A victory by the Clippers would leave the Tri-County flag fly over Columbiana High.

The Poland-Lisbon battle was close all the way but Poland stayed in front with the exceptions of several deadlocks.

Bulldogs Bow To Louisville

EAST PALESTINE — Edging ahead in the final few seconds, Louisville turned back East Palestine High, 44-43, in a Tri-County League battle here Friday night.

Smotrilla of East Palestine hit the final basket for the Bulldogs, but Louisville gained possession and stalled the final few seconds to preserve the victory.

Dickey led the losers (5-10) with 15 points. Gladieux topped Louisville's attack with 11 points.

McGuire Nets 31; Salineville Wins

Coach Al Girone of Salineville High confronted Beaver Local with a shuffled lineup Friday night and it brought dividends in the form of a 74-63 victory.

The junior, 6-1 Tom McGuire, poured in 31 points for a new career high to lead Salineville, while Larry Smith and Mervin Jones, sophs, also collected double figures.

Salineville pulled away from a 13-13 first quarter tie and went on to pin the 13th setback in a row and 14th of the season on Coach Tom McCall's Beavers.

But the verdict came at the free throw line, as Salineville was outgoaled by one. The Indians hit 24 of 40 free throws to make up the deficit.

McGuire, hitting from in close, bagged 10 goals and 11 free throws for 31 points, while Smith had 15 and Jones 12. Jones and sophomore Glen Stewart fouled out in the final quarter of the free-wheeling game.

Salineville also scored 74 points in its other victory this season over Jewett.

Beaver's point production of 63 was the highest of the year, but it wasn't quite enough. Leading Beaver Local were Dennis Horger, smooth guard, with 19 points, and Gary Shaw with 18. George Gaydos finished with 10.

Both squads will be in action tonight, with Salineville visiting United and Beaver Local entertaining Springfield.

Columbiana Fails, 59-53, At Minerva

MINERVA — While Lisbon was losing to Poland Friday night, Columbiana could have pretty well sewed up the Tri-County title with a victory but the Minerva Lions had different ideas.

Minerva, the same team that handed Lisbon its first league defeat two weeks ago, upset Columbiana, 59-52, here Friday night.

The Clippers can wrap up the title tonight on their own floor when they meet the only other contender for the crown — Lisbon.

Minerva trailed 27-23 at halftime, tied the count at 37-37 when the third period ended then defeated the Clippers in the final eight minutes.

All five starters for Minerva broke into the double figures with Dan Clapper's 16 points leading the way.

Cumberland Cold In 48-34 Defeat

Usually high scoring New Cumberland hit a season's low in field goal production Friday night and absorbed a 48-34 defeat at Follansbee St. Anthony.

Coach John Kuzio's Blue Raiders, who average close to 60 points an outing, collected only a dozen goals and 10 free throws as St. Anthony gained revenge for an early loss at New Cumberland.

Follansbee came from four points behind at halftime to spurt ahead by eight in the third quarter, and the Steelmen won going away.

Bowler Racks Up 12 Strikes, But No 300

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—It isn't easy to bowl 12 straight strikes in one game and miss a perfect 300, but R. M. Hobbs did it Friday night and scored only 299.

Hobbs scored his first strike on the wrong lane. The error was discovered and he started over on the right lane.

Eleven more strikes followed, but his 13th ball—the 12th that counted—left one pin standing.

Cline Nets 29, Coulter 26 In Scoring Battle; ELHS At Niles

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

All week long Coach Jim Harris repeatedly warned his squad about a possible letdown against Toronto.

The Potters must have taken his words lightly, because for better than three quarters Friday night at Memorial Auditorium the Blue and White cagers seemed in the clouds from last weekend's two victories.

Some 1,000 fans watched as East Liverpool came roaring back in the closing minutes to pull a 50-47 victory from the fire against an ambitious bunch of Red Knights.

The Potters have been in several close finishes this season and usually lost them, but Friday night was different. The victory pushed East Liverpool's winning streak to three games and the season record to 5-9.

THE THANKS for the victory again can go to Dean Cline, who came up with his usual fine game while sinking 29 points, with eight coming in the fourth period. Last night's total puts him in the 300 club with 320.

Cline and Frank McComas teamed up for 14 points in the torrid finish to rub out the Toronto lead that had stared the Potters in the face from midway in the second period.

McComas didn't have a point for three quarters, but finally got them when they counted with three field goals in the final period.

TONIGHT the Potters, who have posted all five victories this season on the friendly confines of Memorial Auditorium, will travel to Niles.

The action will get under way at 7 with a reserve contest. The varsity tipoff should be around 8:30.

The well-balanced Niles squad spilled Ursuline, 85-56, last night on the Niles court, with Bo Rein scoring 20 points. The other four starters also were in the double figures.

LAST NIGHT'S victory pushed Niles' record to 8-5 for the season. The ELHS-Niles battle is a Big 8 contest.

As the seconds ticked away Friday night at the MA East Liverpool's hopes of staying on the win trail were dimmed for awhile mainly because of Tom Coulter, the red-haired flash of the Toronto five.

Coulter lost his scoring duel with Cline, winding up with 26. But in the second quarter he couldn't be stopped.

Harris had assigned Bob Forzano, his top defensive man, to Coulter. The Toronto star was held to one field goal in the first quarter, but broke loose with some long one-handed shots in the second period that netted 15 points in eight minutes.

EITHER shooting from 30 to 35 feet out or driving, Coulter didn't miss. He hit on 7 of 9 attempts and staked his team to a 28-22 halftime lead.

At one stretch in the second period he scored seven straight points, taking the Red Knights from behind 17-15 to a 22-17 lead.

Coulter slowed down in the third period, netting five points, but the Potters couldn't get started and remained behind the Knights, 37-33, when the quarter ended.

LINVILLE dropped in a foul and Kraft made two key free throws with 2:59 remaining. This put the Potters within two points of the lead, 44-42.

COULTER put Toronto in front again with a foul at 1:48 remaining, but that was the last point Toronto was to score.

McComas was jumping and tipped the ball to Ed Prentice, who in turn tipped to Cline cutting under the basket for an easy layup and two points which put East Liverpool in front 48-47 with 1:28 left.

Cline broke loose for one more basket before the game ended to clinch it for the Potters.

Toronto had a 19-17 edge in field goals, but the Potters made 16 of 28 fouls to the Red Knights 9 of 18.

Other than Cline, no other Potter starter had more than six points. The same goes for Toronto, with Coulter collecting the majority, but Saxton contributed nine markers and defensively blocked several shots by the Potters. Cline made 10 of 23 field goal attempts.

EAST LIVERPOOL had a very poor shooting percentage and was actually fortunate to win with it. The Potters showed only 17 of 69, for 24 per cent. Toronto was higher with 19 of 54.

The loss lessened the hopes of Coach Paul Kalivoda's team to be top seeded when the Sectional AA tourney rolls around. Toronto now shows an 8-4 record.

Barrett Is Only Winner In Rams' Wrestling Loss

Joe Barrett was the only South Side wrestler to record a victory as Trinity High rolled over the Rams mat squad, 53-5, Friday night at South Side.

The loss puts South Side's record at 3-7 for the season.

Barrett, a 165-pounder, decisioned his opponent 6-4 for the long victory. Wilbert King scored South Side's other two points when he grappled to a 2-2 draw in the 180-pound match.

South Side will play host to Burgettstown Tuesday.

Poland Rolls Over Lisbon Quint, 50-44

LISBON — The stage is set for tonight's Lisbon - at - Columbiana battle which will decide the outcome of the 1963 Tri-County season.

Both contenders were upset Friday night. Lisbon dropped a 50-44 decision to Poland in the County seat and Columbiana traveled to Minerva only to be surprised, 59-52.

Going into tonight's game at Columbiana, the Clippers are 9-2 in league play while Lisbon is 8-3. A victory by the Clippers would leave the Tri-County flag fly over Columbiana High.

The Poland-Lisbon battle was close all the way but Poland stayed in front with the exceptions of several deadlocks.

Beaver Local Falls, 74-63

McGuire Nets 31; Salineville Wins

Coach Al Girone of Salineville High confronted Beaver Local with a shuffled lineup Friday night and it brought dividends in the form of a 74-63 victory.

The junior, 6-1 Tom McGuire, poured in 31 points for a new career high to lead Salineville, while Larry Smith and Mervin Jones, sophs, also collected double figures.

Salineville pulled away from a 13-13 first quarter tie and went on to pin the 13th setback in a row and 14th of the season on Coach Tom McCall's Beavers.

But the verdict came at the free throw line, as Salineville was outgoaled by one. The Indians hit 24 of 40 free throws to make up the deficit.

McGuire, hitting from in close, bagged 10 goals and 11 free throws for 31 points, while Smith had 15 and Jones 12. Jones and sophomore Glen Stewart fouled out in the final quarter of the free-wheeling game.

Salineville also scored 74 points in its other victory this season over Jewett.

Beaver's point production of 63 was the highest of the year, but it wasn't quite enough. Leading Beaver Local were Dennis Horger, smooth guard, with 19 points, and Gary Shaw with 18. George Gaydos finished with 10.

Both squads will be in action tonight, with Salineville visiting United and Beaver Local entertaining Springfield.

Columbiana Fails, 59-53, At Minerva

MINERVA — While Lisbon was losing to Poland Friday night, Columbiana could have pretty well sewed up the Tri-County title with a victory but the Minerva Lions had different ideas.

Minerva, the same team that handed Lisbon its first league defeat two weeks ago, upset Columbiana, 59-52, here Friday night.

Minerva trailed 27-23 at halftime, tied the count at 37-37 when the third period ended then defeated the Clippers in the final eight minutes.

All five starters for Minerva broke into the double figures with Dan Clapper's 16 points leading the way.

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High's Tigers swing against West Branch tonight in quest of their third victory of a busy week, marked by two significant lineup changes in the stretch drive of the campaign.

The Tigers appear a favorite against the West Branch Warriors of Coach Joe Tucker, who own a 7-8 record and a four - game losing streak. Tonight's game is at the Salem High School gym and reserve action is set for 7 o'clock.

WELLSVILLE, which began the week by rapping Steubenville Central, came back Friday night to thrash Chester's Panthers, 68-30, before several hundred fans at Beacom Memorial gym.

The 38-point triumph for Wellsville was the second this year over outclassed Chester. The Tigers had won on the Chester boards by 30 points.

Coach Jack McDevitt again shuffled his lineup for the Chester game, starting Terry Flesch, 6-3 junior, at center, and Alvin Thompson, 5-11 senior, at guard, in place of regulars Steve Baldwin, 6-5 pivot, and Andy Dash, 5-11 guard.

McDEVITT indicated Flesch and Thompson may also start tonight, along with Ed Nelson, Forrest Harris and Jim Powell, regulars all season long.

The Tigers catch West Branch in a slump, after consecutive defeats to Youngstown Ursuline, Woodrow Wilson, Canfield and Rayen. But Tucker's Warriors won six straight early in the season over Greenford, Minerva, North Lima, East Palestine, Louisville and Lakeview.

Wellsville stands tall with a 10-4 record after the romp over Chester, last game in a rivalry of many years. The Panthers become part of a three-way consolidation next season.

Wellsville scored the first time it got possession, taking a 2-0 lead on Ed Nelson's clever layup. Terry Flesch added two free throws and a jump shot for a 6-0 lead. The Tigers were in front, 11-7, after the first period.

—:—

CHESTER hung fairly close in the second quarter, trailing by only 15-12 with 5:44 left. But Wellsville kept shooting and rebounding and pulled away to a 29-16 halftime lead.

Chester's Jim Tridico opened the third quarter with a free throw, but Wellsville then hit nine straight points before the Panthers could retaliate. The quarter ended with the Tigers far in front, 47-23.

Chester (6-8) managed only three field goals in the fourth quarter to eight by Wellsville. Kelse Johnson accounted for two of them in the last few seconds on drive shots.

WELLSVILLE'S Harris, banging in four field goals in the closing quarter, finished with 18 points to lead the Tigers. Contributing 10 each were Nelson, Baldwin and Flesch, while Andy Dash hit eight and Jim Powell five.

Four of Chester's starters tallied, with Bob Myers leading the way with 10 points. Superior height enabled the Tigers to attempt 20 more field goals than the losers. Wellsville tried 67, hitting 29, while Chester tried 47 and made 13.

IN A CLOSE preliminary game, the Wellsville Reserves extended their record to 11-3 by edging Chester, 48-42. Coach Chick McMillan's Tigers were forced to come from behind to win, with Flesch missing from the lineup.

Lester Bennett hit 14 points and improving Melvin Pullie, junior center, fired in 16 to lead Wellsville. Pat Welch was also in double figures with 12. Clutter's nine led Chester.

Cumberland Cold In 48-34 Defeat

Usually high scoring New Cumberland hit a season's low in field goal production Friday night and absorbed a 48-34 defeat at Follansbee St. Anthony.

Coach John Kuzio's Blue Raiders, who average close to 60 points an outing, collected only a dozen goals and 10 free throws as St. Anthony gained revenge for an early loss at New Cumberland.

Follansbee came from four points behind at halftime to spurt ahead by eight in the third quarter, and the Steelmen won going away.

St. Anthony also swept the reserve game, 43-34.

Bowler Racks Up 12 Strikes, But No 300

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—It isn't easy to bowl 12 straight strikes in one game and miss a perfect 300, but R. M. Hobbs did it Friday night and scored only 299.

Hobbs scored his first strike on the wrong lane. The error was discovered and he started over on the right lane.

Eleven more strikes followed, but his 13th ball—the 12th that counted—left one pin standing.

Leopards Capture 10th Section Win

By ANDY NUZZO

The Freedom Bulldogs came to Midland Friday night with the idea of pulling the biggest upset in Section 8 play this season, and after the first half of play it seemed they might spring it.

But Hank Kuzma's quintet was not about to give in to this Bulldog whim and finished strong in the second half to win by a lopsided 48-25 margin.

Gene Cercone's Bulldogs battled the Leopards on even terms for 19 minutes before giving way to Midland's superior strength.

As it turned out the biggest upset of the season took place—much to the liking of the Leopards — in the Monaca gym where the Indians turned the tables on the second - place New Brighton Lions, 54-46.

The Leopards rolled up their 10th straight section win of the season and moved their three-year sectional winning skein out to 27 games.

New Brighton's loss to Monaca gave them an 8-2 slate and Midland can clinch a tie for the section crown if they defeat the Lions at New Brighton next Tuesday.

The turning point in Friday night's contest came with 4:21 left in the third quarter and Midland leading, 21-17.

Katekovich was also the Bulldogs big man on the boards and when he departed the Leopards had little trouble picking off rebounds.

When he left the game, Katekovich had 11 points to his credit, all of them coming in the first half. He was the high scorer of the night for Freedom as no other Bulldog scored more than four points.

In the second half Midland employed a full - court press that that thoroughly confused the Freedom offense. The Bulldogs managed only eight points in the final two periods while Midland poured in 29 to make a rout of the game.

Bill Sallis led the Leopards in the scoring and rebounding departments once again. The big senior scored only two field goals but converted 14 of 16 free throws for 18 points and he came down with 13 rebounds.

Gary Perkins contributed seven points to the Midland attack and, along with Norman Vanlier, played an outstanding floor game both offensively and defensively.

Bob Boyle, Freedom's diminutive 5-4 senior guard, was outstanding in directing the Bulldog offense.

Neither team shot well from the field. In fact, no player on either squad sank more than three field goals. Midland managed 16 of 57 attempts for 28 per cent while Freedom could only hit on seven of 36 shots for 19 per cent.

In the first half Freedom used a tight zone defense and a slow, deliberate offense to cause the Leopards a lot of trouble.

Midland didn't score until the 3:23 mark of the opening period when Sallis sank two free throws to knot at 2-2.

Perkins and Ray Hoppa added successive jump shots to give Midland a 6-2 lead they held throughout the contest.

Midland led, 8-5, at the end of the initial period and took a slim 19-16 margin to the dressing room at the half.

Upon the departure of Katekovich, Midland took full command of the game. With the score standing at 21-19 in favor of Midland, Henry Slappy ripped the cords with a jumper and Sallis added four free throws to give the Leopards a 27-19 lead with three minutes remaining in the third canto.

The Leopards increased their lead to 30-20 at the three-quarter mark and coasted home in the final period.

The Midland jayvees easily defeated the Freedom subs in the preliminary, 59-41. Pete Cilli led the Leopard subs with 14 points. Ray Oliver added 11. Len Carroll was high for Freedom with eight points.

Rebels Drop 4th Contest

Springfield Local Tops Crestview; Kress Scores 26 In 87-50 Finish

Springfield Local, a team to keep your eye on in the Class A ranks, fired over 50 per cent and wrecked Crestview, 87-50, Friday night on the Crestview floor.

Trailing 19-17 at the end of the first quarter, Springfield began to move and took a 40-27 lead by halftime. The visitors posted their 13th victory in 16 games while Crestview dropped its fourth tilt while winning 12.

Even in defeat, Jim Kress continued his hot hand, pouring in 26 points to maintain his average of about 27 per game. The 6-5 cager had 10 field goals and six fouls.

Rich Brungard who made 8 of 12 shots in the first half wound up with 23 points while his running mate Ron Sonedecker fired in 20 points.

Hitting extremely well from the field, Springfield also was accurate from the foul line showing 19 for 24.

The Springfield reserves won, 37-28.

5 Starters Gain Double Figures

BETHANY — The Newell Vikings came up with their hottest night of the season, firing 61 per cent to walk over Bethany, 89-60, here Friday night.

Hitting on 35 of 57 shots, Coach John Robison's squad notched its 15th victory against three setbacks.

Tom Franczek, a consistent scorer all season, came up with one of his best nights by scoring 21 points. He was followed closely by Sam Simmons who hit for 19, Jim Johnson with 18, Terry Robinson 13 and Fred Ferrell 12. Dave Bell had six markers to round out the scoring.

Even hitting such a high percentage, Newell didn't pull away until the final eight minutes. The halftime score found Newell on top, 35-26, while the third period total showed 63-50.

Bethany, paced by Jay Reck's 25 points, only hit 36 per cent on 21 of 58 attempts.

United's Bid Falls Short In 48-46 Loss

HANOVERTON — A determined bid by United High fell short in the fourth quarter and Carrollton eked out a 48-46 victory here Friday night.

Carrollton, which entered the game with an 8-6 mark, held a halftime lead of 30-18 and a third quarter margin of 39-32.

Coach Larry Joseph's Eagles, who now stand 5-10 on the season, came roaring back in the final eight minutes.

Carrollton managed to stall during the last minute to preserve the victory.

Bob Noble and Gerald Newell teamed up for 15 and 14 points respectively to lead the visitors while Bud Hawkins paced United with 14.

The United reserves won, 47-38.

South Siders Turn Cold In 52-25 Defeat

South Side dipped as low as the temperature outside, hitting on only 12 of 60 shots, in dropping a 52-25 encounter at Peters Township Friday night.

The Section 15 game saw Peters Twp. take a 15-2 first period lead, 24-8 at halftime and 37-10 after three periods.

South Side came on to score 15 points in the fourth quarter, more than the Rams had totaled in three previous periods. The loss sent South Side's overall record to 3-13.

Simon and Shelton with 18 and 16 respectively paced the winners while Jerome Szatkowski, with nine points, was high for the Rams.

Georgia Tech, Stanford Upset By Tulane And USC

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lady Luck, a season-long companion of Georgia Tech's basketball team, finally tilted up her nose and turned her back on the Yellow Jackets.

The Engineers were rambling along with a 17-1 record, a share of the Southeast Conference lead and the ranking of sixth in the nation before the well ran dry.

Lowly Tulane shocked the Yellow Jackets 77-69 in overtime, one of the two nationally ranked teams to fall in Friday night upsets. Southern California whipped No. 10 Stanford 61-57 in the other.

Tulane's triumph over Georgia Tech put idle Mississippi State—the only previous conqueror of the Yellow Jackets—in a commanding position in the SEC while Stanford's loss dropped the Indians to a tie for second in the Big Six.

Mississippi State, ranked eighth in the country, now leads the SEC with a 6-1 record with seven league games remaining. Georgia Tech is 6-2 with six left. They don't play each other again.

Washington, which edged California 64-62 on the Huskies' home court while Stanford was losing at home, barged into the Big Six lead while Stanford slipped to a tie for second with idle UCLA. Washington is 5-3 in the league, Stanford and UCLA each 3-2.

In some of the other major action, Holy Cross extended its winning string to 10 in a 77-62 victory over Villanova, Penn regained the Ivy League lead by beating Penn 76-69, Brigham Young edged New Mexico 76-73 and Texas Western clipped Utah State 57-55.

Georgia Tech, which had had its moments of good fortune in climbing high in the national rankings, finally ran out of luck at New Orleans. The Engineers had won four previous overtime games, a fifth by one point, two more by two points, one by three points and two others by four points.

Gordon Martin scored 30 points for Southern California as the Trojans, in last place in the Big Six, handed Stanford only its second home loss in two years. The lead changed hands six times in the second half before the Trojans went ahead to stay.

In other major action Princeton outlasted Brown 71-63, Cornell beat Harvard 68-54, Dartmouth edged Columbia 58-57, Duquesne whipped Seton Hall 91-74, Clemson defeated Virginia 86-64, Louisiana State stopped Vanderbilt 63-56, George Washington beat The Citadel 59-52, Portland won from Oregon State 67-58, Idaho beat Oregon 79-61 and Seattle stormed Montana 100-63.

Wills' Pay Boosted $15,000 To $45,000 For '63 Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have rewarded Maury Wills for his baseball exploits of 1962 with a contract for $45,000.

Acclaimed as the nation's outstanding professional athlete, the National League's Most Valuable Player, and showered with awards in numerous testimonials around the nation, the little Dodger shortstop sat down with General Manager Buzzie Bavasi Friday and found he had been given a $15,000 boost over his 1962 salary.

Six years ago Wills was earning $350 a month with the Seattle Rainers of the Pacific Coast League. He signed with the Dodgers last year for $24,000 but in mid-season Bavasi tore up the contract and changed the figure to $30,000.

Wills, who set a major league record by stealing 104 bases last year, said the mark is safe this year "at least from me."

"I can't say how many bases I'll steal this season, but I know the pitchers will be gunning for me when I get on base," said Wills. "I hope they do watch me, because if they concentrate on me they won't be so effective at home plate.

"I honestly believe I could beat the 104 mark, myself, but I'd have to go after it from the start of the season, and my motive would be a selfish one."

Beery Scores 30 To Pace Salem's Easy 89-51 Romp

SALEM — All-Ohio candidate Bill Beery flipped in 30 points to lead Salem High's Quakers in a 89-51 romp over Boardman here Friday night.

The burst sent Beery over the 1,000 mark for three-years as he nears scoring records for single season and career. Jack Alexander's 1,050 points is the standard for four-years.

The Quakers, 10-5, return to action tonight against Alliance in a Big 8 league battle.

Beery, boosting his point production to 341 this season, was followed by pivot Bob King with 18 and Marvin Waller with 14. Rousher led Boardman with 19.

Pastroni's 3-1 Choice Tonight In Bout On TV

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV starting at 10 p.m., EST.

This is Thornton's first crack at a ranking fighter and he makes his New York and TV debut with an impressive won-lost and knockout record. He has a 26-2 log, including 18 knockouts, and nine straight victories. The 23-year-old Californian has stopped his last eight opponents.

Pastrano, a 28-year-old veteran of 12 years of pro battling, also has a streak going. The swarthy ring cutey from Miami Beach has gone unbeaten in his last four fights with three victories and one draw. He has a 57-10-7 record, including 12 knockouts.

The Mets tied a major league record last year when Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman hit pinch home runs in the same game against Philadelphia.

Hebert's 134 Leads Palmer One Stroke

By CARL BELL

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Veteran Jay Hebert, who has gone 2½ years without winning a golf tournament, carried a shaky one-stroke lead into the third round of the $35,000 Phoenix Open today.

Hebert, with back-to-back 67s, was 10 under par at 134 for 36 holes over the 6,679-yard Desert Course at Arizona Country Club.

A stroke away was Palmer, who bolstered the defense of his two consecutive Phoenix championships by matching Hebert's 67 Friday.

Player was one more stroke back at 136. Nicklaus, who beat Player in a playoff at Palm Springs Monday, was in a group at 137 along with Dick Hart, Gardner Dickinson, Johnny Pott and Tommy Bolt.

Hebert posted his second 7-under 67 on the strength of seven birdies, two bogeys and nine pars —far less spectacularly than Palmer got his.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Leading scorers after the second round of play in the $35,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament:

Jay Hebert	67-67—134
Arnold Palmer	68-67—135

Baylor Off Form But Sparks Rally As Lakers Roll

By The Associated Press

The Western Division frontrunners in the National Basketball Association flashed from behind in the closing minutes Friday night and clipped the Chicago Zephyrs 94-91 for their 10th victory in their last 11 starts. The Lakers have won eight straight at home and have a remarkable 22-2 record at Los Angeles.

Elsewhere, the Syracuse Nats hit the highest point total of the season, rapping the Detroit Pistons 162-135; the Boston Celtics pulled away in the third quarter and whipped the New York Knicks 129-97; and the Cincinnati Royals trimmed the St. Louis Hawks 116-112.

Baylor, averaging 33 points per game, scored only eight in the first half against the Zephyrs and was benched for much of the second half. But the brilliant Laker returned to action with 8 minutes to go and spearheaded the winning drive.

He hit on a hook shot that brought the Lakers to within one point, 85-84, later tied it at 86-86 with a driving layup, then put in the clinching basket on a long jumper. Baylor finished with 16 points.

Leopards Capture 10th Section Win

By ANDY NUZZO

The Freedom Bulldogs came to Midland Friday night with the idea of pulling the biggest upset in Section 8 play this season, and after the first half of play it seemed they might spring it.

But Hank Kuzma's quintet was not about to give in to this Bulldog whim and finished strong in the second half to win by a lopsided 48-25 margin.

Gene Cercone's Bulldogs battled the Leopards on even terms for 19 minutes before giving way to Midland's superior strength.

As it turned out the biggest upset of the season took place—much to the liking of the Leopards — in the Monaca gym where the Indians turned the tables on the second - place New Brighton Lions, 54-46.

The Leopards rolled up their 10th straight section win of the season and moved their three-year sectional winning skein out to 27 games.

New Brighton's loss to Monaca gave them an 8-2 slate and Midland can clinch a tie for the section crown if they defeat the Lions at New Brighton next Tuesday.

The turning point in Friday night's contest came with 4:21 left in the third quarter and Midland leading, 21-17.

Katekovich was also the Bulldogs big man on the boards and when he departed the Leopards had little trouble picking off rebounds.

When he left the game, Katekovich had 11 points to his credit, all of them coming in the first half. He was the high scorer of the night for Freedom as no other Bulldog scored more than four points.

In the second half Midland employed a full - court press that that thoroughly confused the Freedom offense. The Bulldogs managed only eight points in the final two periods while Midland poured in 29 to make a rout of the game.

Bill Sallis led the Leopards in the scoring and rebounding departments once again. The big senior scored only two field goals but converted 14 of 16 free throws for 18 points and he came down with 13 rebounds.

Gary Perkins contributed seven points to the Midland attack and, along with Norman Vanlier, played an outstanding floor game both offensively and defensively.

Bob Boyle, Freedom's diminutive 5-4 senior guard, was outstanding in directing the Bulldog offense.

Neither team shot well from the field. In fact, no player on either squad sank more than three field goals. Midland managed 16 of 57 attempts for 28 per cent while Freedom could only hit on seven of 36 shots for 19 per cent.

In the first half Freedom used a tight zone defense and a slow, deliberate offense to cause the Leopards a lot of trouble.

Midland didn't score until the 3:23 mark of the opening period when Sallis sank two free throws to knot at 2-2.

Perkins and Ray Hoppa added successive jump shots to give Midland a 6-2 lead they held throughout the contest.

Midland led, 8-5, at the end of the initial period and took a slim 19-16 margin to the dressing room at the half.

Upon the departure of Katekovich, Midland took full command of the game. With the score standing at 21-19 in favor of Midland, Henry Slappy ripped the cords with a jumper and Sallis added four free throws to give the Leopards a 27-19 lead with three minutes remaining in the third canto.

The Leopards increased their lead to 30-20 at the three-quarter mark and coasted home in the final period.

The Midland jayvees easily defeated the Freedom subs in the preliminary, 59-41. Pete Cilli led the Leopard subs with 14 points. Ray Oliver added 11. Len Carroll was high for Freedom with eight points.

United's Bid Falls Short In 48-46 Loss

HANOVERTON — A determined bid by United High fell short in the fourth quarter and Carrollton eked out a 48-46 victory here Friday night.

Carrollton, which entered the game with an 8-6 mark, held a halftime lead of 30-18 and a third quarter margin of 39-32.

Coach Larry Joseph's Eagles, who now stand 5-10 on the season, came roaring back in the final eight minutes.

Carrollton managed to stall during the last minute to preserve the victory.

Bob Noble and Gerald Newell teamed up for 15 and 14 points respectively to lead the visitors while Bud Hawkins paced United with 14.

The United reserves won, 47-38.

Pastroni's 3-1 Choice Tonight In Bout On TV

The 10-rounder will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV starting at 10 p.m., EST.

This is Thornton's first crack at a ranking fighter and he makes his New York and TV debut with an impressive won-lost and knockout record. He has a 26-2 log, including 18 knockouts, and nine straight victories. The 23-year-old Californian has stopped his last eight opponents.

Pastrano, a 28-year-old veteran of 12 years of pro battling, also has a streak going. The swarthy ring cutey from Miami Beach has gone unbeaten in his last four fights with three victories and one draw. He has a 57-10-7 record, including 12 knockouts.

The Mets tied a major league record last year when Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman hit pinch home runs in the same game against Philadelphia.

5 Starters Gain Double Figures

BETHANY — The Newell Vikings came up with their hottest night of the season, firing 61 per cent to walk over Bethany, 89-60, here Friday night.

Hitting on 35 of 57 shots, Coach John Robison's squad notched its 15th victory against three setbacks.

Tom Franczek, a consistent scorer all season, came up with one of his best nights by scoring 21 points. He was followed closely by Sam Simmons who hit for 19, Jim Johnson with 18, Terry Robinson 13 and Fred Ferrell 12. Dave Bell had six markers to round out the scoring.

Even hitting such a high percentage, Newell didn't pull away until the final eight minutes. The halftime score found Newell on top, 35-26, while the third period total showed 63-50.

Bethany, paced by Jay Reck's 25 points, only hit 36 per cent on 21 of 58 attempts.

Georgia Tech, Stanford Upset By Tulane And USC

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lady Luck, a season-long companion of Georgia Tech's basketball team, finally tilted up her nose and turned her back on the Yellow Jackets.

The Engineers were rambling along with a 17-1 record, a share of the Southeast Conference lead and the ranking of sixth in the nation before the well ran dry.

Lowly Tulane shocked the Yellow Jackets 77-69 in overtime, one of the two nationally ranked teams to fall in Friday night upsets. Southern California whipped No. 10 Stanford 61-57 in the other.

Tulane's triumph over Georgia Tech put idle Mississippi State—the only previous conqueror of the Yellow Jackets—in a commanding position in the SEC while Stanford's loss dropped the Indians to a tie for second in the Big Six.

Mississippi State, ranked eighth in the country, now leads the SEC with a 6-1 record with seven league games remaining. Georgia Tech is 6-2 with six left. They don't play each other again.

Washington, which edged California 64-62 on the Huskies' home court while Stanford was losing at home, barged into the Big Six lead while Stanford slipped to a tie for second with idle UCLA. Washington is 5-3 in the league, Stanford and UCLA each 3-2.

In some of the other major action, Holy Cross extended its winning string to 10 in a 77-62 victory over Villanova, Penn regained the Ivy League lead by beating Penn 76-69, Brigham Young edged New Mexico 76-73 and Texas Western clipped Utah State 57-55.

Georgia Tech, which had had its moments of good fortune in climbing high in the national rankings, finally ran out of luck at New Orleans. The Engineers had won four previous overtime games, a fifth by one point, two more by two points, one by three points and two others by four points.

Gordon Martin scored 30 points for Southern California as the Trojans, in last place in the Big Six, handed Stanford only its second home loss in two years. The lead changed hands six times in the second half before the Trojans went ahead to stay.

In other major action Princeton outlasted Brown 71-63, Cornell beat Harvard 68-54, Dartmouth edged Columbia 58-57, Duquesne whipped Seton Hall 91-74, Clemson defeated Virginia 86-64, Louisiana State stopped Vanderbilt 63-56, George Washington beat The Citadel 59-52, Portland won from Oregon State 67-58, Idaho beat Oregon 79-61 and Seattle stormed Montana 100-63.

Wills' Pay Boosted $15,000 To $45,000 For '63 Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have rewarded Maury Wills for his baseball exploits of 1962 with a contract for $45,000.

Acclaimed as the nation's outstanding professional athlete, the National League's Most Valuable Player, and showered with awards in numerous testimonials around the nation, the little Dodger shortstop sat down with General Manager Buzzie Bavasi Friday and found he had been given a $15,000 boost over his 1962 salary.

Six years ago Wills was earning $350 a month with the Seattle Rainers of the Pacific Coast League. He signed with the Dodgers last year for $24,000 but in mid-season Bavasi tore up the contract and changed the figure to $30,000.

Wills, who set a major league record by stealing 104 bases last year, said the mark is safe this year "at least from me."

"I can't say how many bases I'll steal this season, but I know the pitchers will be gunning for me when I get on base," said Wills. "I hope they do watch me, because if they concentrate on me they won't be so effective at home plate.

"I honestly believe I could beat the 104 mark, myself, but I'd have to go after it from the start of the season, and my motive would be a selfish one."

Beery Scores 30 To Pace Salem's Easy 89-51 Romp

SALEM — All-Ohio candidate Bill Beery flipped in 30 points to lead Salem High's Quakers in a 89-51 romp over Boardman here Friday night.

The burst sent Beery over the 1,000 mark for three-years as he nears scoring records for single season and career. Jack Alexander's 1,050 points is the standard for four-years.

The Quakers, 10-5, return to action tonight against Alliance in a Big 8 league battle.

Beery, boosting his point production to 341 this season, was followed by pivot Bob King with 18 and Marvin Waller with 14. Rousher led Boardman with 19.

By The Associated Press

The Western Division frontrunners in the National Basketball Association flashed from behind in the closing minutes Friday night and clipped the Chicago Zephyrs 94-91 for their 10th victory in their last 11 starts. The Lakers have won eight straight at home and have a remarkable 22-2 record at Los Angeles.

Elsewhere, the Syracuse Nats hit the highest point total of the season, rapping the Detroit Pistons 162-135; the Boston Celtics pulled away in the third quarter and whipped the New York Knicks 129-97; and the Cincinnati Royals trimmed the St. Louis Hawks 116-112.

Baylor, averaging 33 points per game, scored only eight in the first half against the Zephyrs and was benched for much of the second half. But the brilliant Laker returned to action with 8 minutes to go and spearheaded the winning drive.

He hit on a hook shot that brought the Lakers to within one point, 85-84, later tied it at 86-86 with a driving layup, then put in the clinching basket on a long jumper. Baylor finished with 16 points.

Hebert's 134 Leads Palmer One Stroke

By CARL BELL

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Veteran Jay Hebert, who has gone 2½ years without winning a golf tournament, carried a shaky one-stroke lead into the third round of the $35,000 Phoenix Open today.

Hebert, with back-to-back 67s, was 10 under par at 134 for 36 holes over the 6,679-yard Desert Course at Arizona Country Club.

A stroke away was Palmer, who bolstered the defense of his two consecutive Phoenix championships by matching Hebert's 67 Friday.

Player was one more stroke back at 136. Nicklaus, who beat Player in a playoff at Palm Springs Monday, was in a group at 137 along with Dick Hart, Gardner Dickinson, Johnny Pott and Tommy Bolt.

Hebert posted his second 7-under 67 on the strength of seven birdies, two bogeys and nine pars —far less spectacularly than Palmer got his.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Leading scorers after the second round of play in the $35,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament:

Jay Hebert	67-67—134
Arnold Palmer	68-67—135

Newspaper Group Lauds 4 Distinguished Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four distinguished Ohioans whose careers have boosted the prestige of Ohio were lauded Friday night by the Ohio Newspaper Association.

Gov. James A. Rhodes presented governor's awards to the four at the ONA's annual banquet.

Plaques were presented to Dr. Charles A. Doan, dean emeritus of the Ohio State University School of Medicine and president of the American Society of Hematology; William M. Kiplinger, Bellefontaine native who founded the Washington Kiplinger newsletter; Randall M. Ruhlman, Cleveland Chamber of Commerce executive, and E. J. Thomas, chairman of the board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Akron.

The association also honored youths from Newark and Springfield with traditional awards designating them as Ohio's best newspaperboys. Judge Kingsley A. Taft, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, presented certificates to Nelson A. Smith, 14-year-old carrier for the Newark Advocate, in the junior division, and to Michael J. Moone, 17, Springfield News and Sun, senior division.

In an unexpected presentation, the association gave its Distinguished Service Award to Paul R. Gingher, Columbus, the ONA's general counsel, for his "many contributions to the press of Ohio."

All officers of the association were re-elected, including Louis B. Seltzer, Cleveland Press and News as president; Raymond E. Dix, Wooster Daily Record, vice president, and Frank W. Spencer, Newark Advocate, board chairman.

Among speakers at the Friday afternoon session was Robert Wallace, publisher of the Chicago Tribune. Wallace praised Seltzer's stand in the Cleveland newspaper strike, adding "this gallant and courageous struggle he is waging will long be recognized as an epoch, a landmark, in the history of American newspapering."

George B. Hammond, executive director of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, told the publishers at a breakfast session today that a study should be made of state government in an attempt to make it more efficient.

Hammond said the publishers "have an obligation to help Ohio and asserted "our two organizations have the leadership to get such a movement started.

"We have allowed a billion-dollar business in which we all are shareholders to drift along.

"No one can imagine operating a business of any substance without periodically reviewing its operation," he said.

4 In Drag Race Case Penalized; Others Forfeit

Four East Palestine area boys nabbed last weekend by an Ohio Highway Patrolman who said they and four Pennsylvania youths were preparing for a drag race were fined and given suspended jail terms Thursday by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine.

The four Beaver Falls area youths who failed to appear and forfeited $15 bonds were ordered to report for hearings next Thursday in a court directive issued by Judge Arfman.

Fined $50 and costs and 10 days in jail — with $25 of the fine and the term suspended — were James McGinnis of Park Ave., Charles Hofstetter of R. D. 1, David Parks of E. Martin St. and James Coakley of Bacon Ave., all cited for parking on the highway.

Forfeiting bonds on the same charge were Ronald Fields and Gerald Laughgry of Beaver Falls and Fred Freed and Charles Miladin of Beaver Falls R. D.

State Patrolman D. E. Johnson cited the eight on Route 154 between Negley and Rogers. The youths had not actually started the racing, so he charged them with parking on the road.

Actor Tony Curtis Weds German Actress

Both admitted they were nervous at their wedding Friday night.

Curtis, 37, and Miss Kaufmann, 18, were married in a five-minute civil ceremony before Clark County District Judge George Marshall.

Top Newsboys Also Honored

Newspaper Group Lauds 4 Distinguished Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four distinguished Ohioans whose careers have boosted the prestige of Ohio were lauded Friday night by the Ohio Newspaper Association.

Plaques were presented to Dr. Charles A. Doan, dean emeritus of the Ohio State University School of Medicine and president of the American Society of Hematology; William M. Kiplinger, Bellefontaine native who founded the Washington Kiplinger newsletter; Randall M. Ruhlman, Cleveland Chamber of Commerce executive, and E. J. Thomas, chairman of the board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Akron.

The association also honored youths from Newark and Springfield with traditional awards designating them as Ohio's best newspaperboys. Judge Kingsley A. Taft, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, presented certificates to Nelson A. Smith, 14-year-old carrier for the Newark Advocate, in the junior division, and to Michael J. Moone, 17, Springfield News and Sun, senior division.

In an unexpected presentation, the association gave its Distinguished Service Award to Paul R. Gingher, Columbus, the ONA's general counsel, for his "many contributions to the press of Ohio."

All officers of the association were re-elected, including Louis B. Seltzer, Cleveland Press and News as president; Raymond E. Dix, Wooster Daily Record, vice president, and Frank W. Spencer, Newark Advocate, board chairman.

Among speakers at the Friday afternoon session was Robert Wallace, publisher of the Chicago Tribune. Wallace praised Seltzer's stand in the Cleveland newspaper strike, adding "this gallant and courageous struggle he is waging will long be recognized as an epoch, a landmark, in the history of American newspapering."

George B. Hammond, executive director of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, told the publishers at a breakfast session today that a study should be made of state government in an attempt to make it more efficient.

Hammond said the publishers "have an obligation to help Ohio and asserted "our two organizations have the leadership to get such a movement started.

"We have allowed a billion-dollar business in which we all are shareholders to drift along.

"No one can imagine operating a business of any substance without periodically reviewing its operation," he said.

4 In Drag Race Case Penalized; Others Forfeit

Four East Palestine area boys nabbed last weekend by an Ohio Highway Patrolman who said they and four Pennsylvania youths were preparing for a drag race were fined and given suspended jail terms Thursday by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine.

The four Beaver Falls area youths who failed to appear and forfeited $15 bonds were ordered to report for hearings next Thursday in a court directive issued by Judge Arfman.

Fined $50 and costs and 10 days in jail — with $25 of the fine and the term suspended — were James McGinnis of Park Ave., Charles Hofstetter of R. D. 1, David Parks of E. Martin St. and James Coakley of Bacon Ave., all cited for parking on the highway.

Forfeiting bonds on the same charge were Ronald Fields and Gerald Laughgry of Beaver Falls and Fred Freed and Charles Miladin of Beaver Falls R. D.

State Patrolman D. E. Johnson cited the eight on Route 154 between Negley and Rogers. The youths had not actually started the racing, so he charged them with parking on the road.

Actor Tony Curtis Weds German Actress

Both admitted they were nervous at their wedding Friday night.

Curtis, 37, and Miss Kaufmann, 18, were married in a five-minute civil ceremony before Clark County District Judge George Marshall.

The two largest and most important Philippine islands are Luzon, which is about Ohio's size, and Mindanao, a little bigger than Indiana.

"The reason I said to hurry home was so you could put sand on the walk."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I clean a parchment lampshade?

A. You can do this job by rubbing the shade with a fresh piece of white bread, or with an art-gum eraser, or with a cloth dipped in milk. In any case, be sure to brace the inside of the shade with one hand as you rub with the other — or you could very possibly find your rubbing hand suddenly on the other side of the shade!

Q. How can I improve the appearance of leather shoes?

A. Rub the leather of the shoes with the inside of a freshly - cut orange peel, then polish with a soft cloth, and see how it improves the appearance.

Q. What is a good "homemade" bathroom deodorizer?

A. A bottle of lemon juice, left uncorked in the bathroom, will do the trick.

Q. How can I clean velour and other soft-finish furniture upholstery?

A. Merely by applying some dry-cleaning fluid with a piece of cheese-cloth, then brushing up the nap afterward with a soft brush.

Q. How can I remove varnish stains from fabrics?

A. Saturate with turpentine, then rub the fabric between the hands, and sponge with alcohol or chloroform.

Q. What can I do when ink has been spilled on a furniture top?

A. After quickly blotting up as much as you can, apply a dampened cloth to the spot and press it down firmly. Turn the cloth to a clean place, and again press it against the stain. Repeat as many times as may be necessary. Do not rub the ink in. Ink also washes off some surfaces easily.

Junior Editors Quiz on CORAL

QUESTION: Are corals animals?

ANSWER: When people speak of "coral" they often mean the beautiful white or pink objects we find in curio shops. These are not animals but skeletons or foundations, which were built by the little flower-like sea creatures called coral polyps. Sometimes the animal itself is meant by "coral" or both the animal and it's rocklike foundation. In (1) we see the animal or polyp, which often looks like a sea going f l o w e r, polyps being closely related to sea anemones. As the polyp grows, cells at its base take lime from sea water and build a snug cup or base of limestone in which the animal can sit (2). Some corals grow singly, but most join together at the base into colonies, and, as they are consantly being added to, become coral reefs. A living coral colony may look as in (3); after the animals die the cups are left (4). There are many kinds, most living in warm tropical water. Many kinds of brilliantly colored fish take up residence in the coral reefs, which look like underwater gardens. In the Pacific, coral reefs formed around the tops of submerged mountains. As mountains submerged completely, coral rings grew up, making the islands we call "atolls."

FOR YOU TO DO: Buy some pieces of coral to go with your rock or mineral collection and study them closely to see the little cups in which the polyps sat while alive.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1866, the Nebraska Territory held its first constitutional convention. The following year Congress voted to admit Nebraska to the Union over President Andrew Johnson's veto.

On this day:

In 1861, the Congress of the Confederate States of America formed its own government with Jefferson Davis as provisional president.

UAW Official Found Guilty In Conspiracy

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Richard T. Gosser, 62-year-old United Auto Workers Union vice president who has been convicted in connection with the removal of confidential documents from Internal Revenue Service files, faces a possible sentence of up to five years in prison and $10,000 in fines.

Gosser was one of three men found guilty Friday night by a U. S. District Court jury. The jury of seven men and five women deliberated slightly more than five hours before returning the verdict against Gosser; his 40-year-old assistant, Don Pinciotti, and Ted Maison, 44, described as a numbers racket figure.

Gosser had no comment, but his attorneys are expected to appeal. Judge Frank L. Kloeb delayed sentencing pending possible appeal.

Meanwhile, the UAW said in Detroit that union officials would meet Monday to review the conviction.

Gosser and Pinciotti took the stand during the nine-day trial to deny charges they were involved in a conspiracy to defraud the government by securing copies of documents relating to Gosser's income tax returns.

Gosser said he did not know Maison or Mrs. Patricia Niedomski, a former IRS clerk who testified that she passed copies of the documents to Maison. He denied any knowledge of the papers which were found in Pinciotti's desk when government agents raided the labor leader's office last November.

Federal agents testified they saw Mrs. Niedomski, who was cooperating in the government investigation, pass documents to Maison, and later saw Maison hand an envelope containing the documents to Pinciotti in a restaurant.

The government said the documents concerned Gosser's income tax for the years 1956, 1957 and 1958.

Covington's Assured Of New IRS Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—The city of Covington, Ky., had assurance today it will still be the site of a proposed multi-million dollar Internal Revenue center in northern Kentucky.

Covington Mayor John J. Maloney said Friday after a meeting with Bernard Boutin, administrator of the General Services Administration, that he was satisfied the center would be built in his city.

A disagreement between the federal government and officials of Covington prompted the meeting. The crux of the dispute was GSA's plan to construct the five-state data processing center with federal money instead of through private capital under a lease arrangement, as originally planned.

Cost of the building will be between $3 and $4 million.

2 Youths Arrested On Weapons Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Ohio youths armed with .45 caliber pistols and wearing white pit helmets and white trousers were arrested Friday in Brooklyn for violating the Sullivan anti-weapons law.

Police said Ronald Murphy, 19, of Wilmington, Ohio, and Michael Nehtz, 18, of Dayton, Ohio, said they wanted to go to Africa.

The Ohio youth said that they purchased the pistols in Dayton and drove to New York to book passage or stow away aboard an African bound vessel. Murphy lives at 1645 Hillcrest Ave.

Mother, 19, Charged

CLEVELAND (AP) — A charge of manslaughter has been filed against a 19-year - old mother whose son was found dead in his crib Wednesday. Charged Friday was Artria Turpin. Dr. Samuel Gerber, Cuyahoga County coroner, ruled the woman's son, Allen, six months, died of malnutrition.

Rebirth Of Patriotism Seen Way To Fight Communism

The need for a rebirth of patriotism and ideals to combat communism was stressed by L. Stanley Whippo of Pittsburgh at the meeting of the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

"Khrushchev will have his way only if we forget what it means to be an American," the procedures analyst for the U.S. Steel Corp. said in speaking on "On Being A Cornball".

"Love of country was a dominant factor in bringing our nation to the forefront," Whippo declared.

Recalling the pride Americans had in Lt. Col. John H. Glenn's historic orbit of the earth a year ago, Whippo said a wave of nationalism swept the country and people were proud to be Americans.

"But the feeling persists that Americans are too sophisticated now to show their love of country or be patriotic. A patriot now is a cornball; a right-winger who is regarded suspiciously.

"It is alarmingly apparent that we no longer have the innate pride or, being conformists, are afraid to show our patriotism," he continued.

One startling fact was revealed when some Americans became turncoats following their capture in Korea. The turncoats were not properly schooled in the history, heritage and principles upon which our country was founded.

"How often do we display the flag? How many times do we stop and consider the contributions made by Washington and Lincoln? Recalling the parades and bands that created a patriotic feeling on Memorial Day, Independence Day and Armistice Day, Whippo said stirring marches seldom are played.

"In the main, little attention is devoted to the thought of what it means to be an American. We are soothed by music such as "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes". Sousa lifted the spirits of America with his marches, such as "Stars and Stripes Forever," "El Capitan" and other compositions.

Recalling the feats of the astronauts, Whippo asked, "Must we be hero-oriented to celebrate the fact that we are Americans?" We also should get as enthusiastic over our ideals and philosophy."

Whippo was introduced by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, program chairman. A group of high school boys were guests.

South Side PTA Sets Program For Monday

"College Admission" will be the topic at the meeting of the South Side Parent-Teacher Association Monday night at 8 in the multi-purpose room at the South Side elementary school at Hookstown.

Clifford Campbell, assistant to the dean of admissions at the University of Pennsylvania, will speak at the session aimed primarily at parents and high school students who are urged to attend.

Founder's Day also will be observed and Mrs. Franklin Walker, president, will preside.

The executive committee will meet at 7:30.

Salary Talks Continue In Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The striking Cleveland Newspaper Guild and publishers were to continue discussing salary minimums today in talks aimed at settling the 72-day strike against the city's two daily newspapers.

Both sides talked about this issue in a three-hour bargaining session Friday, but there was no report of progress. Top minimum under the old contract for newsmen with five years' experience was $145.

Plain Dealer negotiators reportedly have reached agreement on all issues except money. In addition to wages, negotiations on union security remain to be resolved between the Guild and publishers of the Cleveland Press and News.

The striking printers also met for three hours Friday. A union spokesman said mutual problems were discussed but nothing significant resulted. Talks were broken off, subject to the call of the publishers.

The printers have been demanding a $15 a week wage increase over two years, plus fringe benefits.

Also on strike are the mailers, machinists and Teamsters. Money items appear to be the main stumbling blocks to settlement of those disputes.

Contracts of all 12 newspaper unions have expired, but only the non - striking pressmen have reached a contract settlement with the publishers. Their two-year pact calls for $10 weekly wage increases and improved vacation pay, plus fringe benefits and improved working conditions.

Depot Damaged In Derailment To Be Torn Down

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A railroad depot that was battered in the derailment of 13 cars on an Erie - Lackawanna freight train was so badly damaged it will be torn down, according to Assistant Fire Chief Robert Thompson.

A tank car smashed into the passenger end of the depot and the roof of an express office collapsed as a result of Friday's derailment. A parked automobile was pushed into the baggage room as the freight cars tumbled off the tracks.

Perl Harper, an express clerk, said he heard the cars hit and rushed to get out of the one-story frame building. "The roof was literally falling in behind me," he said.

One derailed tank car was loaded with pentane, a highly volatile chemical. Some 20 nearby residents were evacuated as a precaution, and firemen played water on the wreckage for several hours to keep the tank car cool.

Railroad officials said no estimate of damage was available. The wreck was blamed on trouble in a coupling on the 42nd car of the Chicago-to - New York freight.

The top news story of 1888 was the blizzard from March 11 to 14, which immobilized New York and took 400 lives.

Lisbon Historical Unit Told Of Hong Kong

LISBON — Leland S. Firestone described a trip to Hong Kong to visit his daughter and son-in-law at a meeting of the Lisbon Historical Society Tuesday night at the high school.

He reported that the island of 29 square miles has 3½ million people. He discussed the island's water shortage and the beautiful mountains which he visited during his stay.

Robert Kelm talked about the 1963 centennial observance of Gen. John Morgan's raid planned for July. The secretary reported the club has 150 members.

Next meeting is June 4.

Southern Local Board To Air Kindergarten

A decision on whether to proceed with plans for a summer kindergarten in Southern Local School District is expected at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night at 7:30 at Salineville High School.

A six-week half-day summer kindergarten, with two teachers, has been proposed, and survey sheets have been prepared. Jack Baker, executive head, estimated the program would cost about $800 for teachers and equipment.

The board is also scheduled to consider policy on class trips and revision of the present 8-4 elementary-secondary system to a 6-6 system, Baker said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The city of Covington, Ky., had assurance today it will still be the site of a proposed multi-million dollar Internal Revenue center in northern Kentucky.

Covington Mayor John J. Maloney said Friday after a meeting with Bernard Boutin, administrator of the General Services Administration, that he was satisfied the center would be built in his city.

A disagreement between the federal government and officials of Covington prompted the meeting. The crux of the dispute was GSA's plan to construct the five-state data processing center with federal money instead of through private capital under a lease arrangement, as originally planned.

Cost of the building will be between $3 and $4 million.

2 Youths Arrested On Weapons Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Ohio youths armed with .45 caliber pistols and wearing white pit helmets and white trousers were arrested Friday in Brooklyn for violating the Sullivan anti-weapons law.

Police said Ronald Murphy, 19, of Wilmington, Ohio, and Michael Nehtz, 18, of Dayton, Ohio, said they wanted to go to Africa.

The Ohio youth said that they purchased the pistols in Dayton and drove to New York to book passage or stow away aboard an African bound vessel. Murphy lives at 1645 Hillcrest Ave.

Mother, 19, Charged

CLEVELAND (AP) — A charge of manslaughter has been filed against a 19-year - old mother whose son was found dead in his crib Wednesday. Charged Friday was Artria Turpin. Dr. Samuel Gerber, Cuyahoga County coroner, ruled the woman's son, Allen, six months, died of malnutrition.

Rebirth Of Patriotism Seen Way To Fight Communism

The need for a rebirth of patriotism and ideals to combat communism was stressed by L. Stanley Whippo of Pittsburgh at the meeting of the Lions Club Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel.

"Khrushchev will have his way only if we forget what it means to be an American," the procedures analyst for the U.S. Steel Corp. said in speaking on "On Being A Cornball".

"Love of country was a dominant factor in bringing our nation to the forefront," Whippo declared.

Recalling the pride Americans had in Lt. Col. John H. Glenn's historic orbit of the earth a year ago, Whippo said a wave of nationalism swept the country and people were proud to be Americans.

"But the feeling persists that Americans are too sophisticated now to show their love of country or be patriotic. A patriot now is a cornball; a right-winger who is regarded suspiciously.

"It is alarmingly apparent that we no longer have the innate pride or, being conformists, are afraid to show our patriotism," he continued.

One startling fact was revealed when some Americans became turncoats following their capture in Korea. The turncoats were not properly schooled in the history, heritage and principles upon which our country was founded.

"How often do we display the flag? How many times do we stop and consider the contributions made by Washington and Lincoln? Recalling the parades and bands that created a patriotic feeling on Memorial Day, Independence Day and Armistice Day, Whippo said stirring marches seldom are played.

"In the main, little attention is devoted to the thought of what it means to be an American. We are soothed by music such as "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes". Sousa lifted the spirits of America with his marches, such as "Stars and Stripes Forever," "El Capitan" and other compositions.

Recalling the feats of the astronauts, Whippo asked, "Must we be hero-oriented to celebrate the fact that we are Americans?" We also should get as enthusiastic over our ideals and philosophy."

Whippo was introduced by Dr. J. Fraser Jackson, program chairman. A group of high school boys were guests.

South Side PTA Sets Program For Monday

"College Admission" will be the topic at the meeting of the South Side Parent-Teacher Association Monday night at 8 in the multipurpose room at the South Side elementary school at Hookstown.

Clifford Campbell, assistant to the dean of admissions at the University of Pennsylvania, will speak at the session aimed primarily at parents and high school students who are urged to attend.

Founder's Day also will be observed and Mrs. Franklin Walker, president, will preside.

The executive committee will meet at 7:30.

Salary Talks Continue In Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The striking Cleveland Newspaper Guild and publishers were to continue discussing salary minimums today in talks aimed at settling the 72-day strike against the city's two daily newspapers.

Both sides talked about this issue in a three-hour bargaining session Friday, but there was no report of progress. Top minimum under the old contract for newsmen with five years' experience was $145.

Plain Dealer negotiators reportedly have reached agreement on all issues except money. In addition to wages, negotiations on union security remain to be resolved between the Guild and publishers of the Cleveland Press and News.

The striking printers also met for three hours Friday. A union spokesman said mutual problems were discussed but nothing significant resulted. Talks were broken off, subject to the call of the publishers.

The printers have been demanding a $15 a week wage increase over two years, plus fringe benefits.

Also on strike are the mailers, machinists and Teamsters. Money items appear to be the main stumbling blocks to settlement of those disputes.

Contracts of all 12 newspaper unions have expired, but only the non - striking pressmen have reached a contract settlement with the publishers. Their two-year pact calls for $10 weekly wage increases and improved vacation pay, plus fringe benefits and improved working conditions.

Banquet Set April 3 For Safety Awards

The annual awards banquet of the Columbiana County Industrial Safety Committee will be held April 3 at the St. Paul Church auditorium, Michael Schuller, chairman, announced today.

The reports for 1962 have been summarized by the committee and sent to the Ohio Industrial Commission at Columbus for confirmation, he said. When the figures are returned, the results will be announced.

Depot Damaged In Derailment To Be Torn Down

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A railroad depot that was battered in the derailment of 13 cars on an Erie - Lackawanna freight train was so badly damaged it will be torn down, according to Assistant Fire Chief Robert Thompson.

A tank car smashed into the passenger end of the depot and the roof of an express office collapsed as a result of Friday's derailment. A parked automobile was pushed into the baggage room as the freight cars tumbled off the tracks.

Perl Harper, an express clerk, said he heard the cars hit and rushed to get out of the one-story frame building. "The roof was literally falling in behind me," he said.

One derailed tank car was loaded with pentane, a highly volatile chemical. Some 20 nearby residents were evacuated as a precaution, and firemen played water on the wreckage for several hours to keep the tank car cool.

Railroad officials said no estimate of damage was available. The wreck was blamed on trouble in a coupling on the 42nd car of the Chicago-to - New York freight.

The top news story of 1888 was the blizzard from March 11 to 14, which immobilized New York and took 400 lives.

Lisbon Historical Unit Told Of Hong Kong

LISBON — Leland S. Firestone described a trip to Hong Kong to visit his daughter and son-in-law at a meeting of the Lisbon Historical Society Tuesday night at the high school.

He reported that the island of 29 square miles has 3½ million people. He discussed the island's water shortage and the beautiful mountains which he visited during his stay.

Robert Kelm talked about the 1963 centennial observance of Gen. John Morgan's raid planned for July. The secretary reported the club has 150 members.

Next meeting is June 4.

Southern Local Board To Air Kindergarten

A decision on whether to proceed with plans for a summer kindergarten in Southern Local School District is expected at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night at 7:30 at Salineville High School.

A six-week half-day summer kindergarten, with two teachers, has been proposed, and survey sheets have been prepared. Jack Baker, executive head, estimated the program would cost about $800 for teachers and equipment.

The board is also scheduled to consider policy on class trips and revision of the present 8-4 elementary-secondary system to a 6-6 system, Baker said.

The Son Lincoln Didn't Know

It took Robert Todd's unexpected appearance in an unlikely place to thaw the strange coolness between him and the President

By JOSEPH N. BELL

ILLUSTRATION BY ISA BARNETT.

ROBERT TODD LINCOLN, the eldest son of President Abraham Lincoln, was in Washington on a special mission. He was determined to persuade his father to permit him to join the Army when he graduated from Harvard College in a few weeks.

It was late fall of 1864. Lincoln had just been re-elected to a second term as President. U. S. Grant had been put in command of the Army of the Potomac and was closing a ring about Robert E. Lee. The end of the war was in sight—and Robert Lincoln, draft-age son of the President, was still a civilian and feeling it keenly.

There had been caustic and bitter cartoons in the opposition press about "The Prince of Rails," as Bob Lincoln was derisively called. While his father enforced a draft law he considered unjust (because it permitted a draftee to avoid service by offering money or a human substitute), some newspapers were saying: "Lincoln buys his own son out of the Army while calling for new drafts of the sons of others."

For two years, Bob had wanted to leave college and join the Army. But before doing so, he wanted his father's permission, in order to avoid family scandal.

The President's permission had not been forthcoming, however, and Bob knew the reason. His father's reluctance stemmed from the fact that his mother was still grieving over the loss of Bob's brother, Willie, a sensitive, precocious child who died in the White House in 1862, when he was just 10 years old. Mary Lincoln simply couldn't bear the thought of risking the loss of another son—this time in battle.

THERE WAS a strange, detached relationship between the two. Bob had seen little of his father when he was growing up. When Abraham Lincoln had finally settled down to practicing law in Springfield, Ill., Bob had been sent to school in New Hampshire. Physically, Robert was short and slight, and personally he was quiet and reserved—in many ways the exact opposite of his father.

On his infrequent visits to the White House, he would sometimes observe with envy his father's easy, affectionate relationship with his two younger brothers, Willie and the irrepressible Tad. Once he had found 12-year-old Tad sporting a "lieutenant's commission" (given him in jest by the War Department) and imperiously drilling the White House servants at the end of a long working day. Bob ordered Tad to stop. When he refused, Bob angrily reported the incident to his father. The President dismissed it as a joke, leaving his eldest son bewildered and hurt.

Now, Robert Lincoln was in Washington determined to exact a promise that he could join the Army. He had been trying unsuccessfully to see his father all day—and the evening was denied him, too. There was a state reception for visiting diplomats, and the President would have to stand for hours in the receiving line. Bob had to return to Harvard the following morning; yet he must see his father. But how?

That evening, in the midst of the reception, the bored and distraught President—his thoughts far away on the battlefield with General Grant—was brought abruptly back to the queue of people before him. A familiar voice was saying: "Good evening, Mr. President. I wonder if I might have a few minutes of private conversation with you?"

THE DELIGHTED President couldn't believe his eyes. It was the sober, serious Robert; he had worked his way up through the long line of well-wishers to his father. For an instant, there passed between them a warmth that neither had ever fully known before. The President cuffed his son playfully on the cheek, then drew him aside from the line. They talked.

Soon after, a letter was sent from the Executive Mansion to General Grant in the field. It said in part:

"Please read and answer this letter as though I was not President but only a friend. My son, now in his 22nd year, having graduated at Harvard, wishes to see something of the war before it ends. Could he, without embarrassment to you or detriment to the service, go into your military family . . . ?"

Robert Lincoln served for the remainder of the war on Grant's staff. He won the friendship and respect of his comrades in arms.

And he not only survived the war, but the rest of his family, as well. Robert Lincoln, who died in 1926 at the age of 83, was the only son of Abraham Lincoln to reach maturity—and the last surviving male descendant of one of America's most beloved Presidents.

ROBERT TODD LINCOLN, the eldest son of President Abraham Lincoln, was in Washington on a special mission. He was determined to persuade his father to permit him to join the Army when he graduated from Harvard College in a few weeks.

It was late fall of 1864. Lincoln had just been re-elected to a second term as President. U. S. Grant had been put in command of the Army of the Potomac and was closing a ring about Robert E. Lee. The end of the war was in sight—and Robert Lincoln, draft-age son of the President, was still a civilian and feeling it keenly.

There had been caustic and bitter cartoons in the opposition press about "The Prince of Rails," as Bob Lincoln was derisively called. While his father enforced a draft law he considered unjust (because it permitted a draftee to avoid service by offering money or a human substitute), some newspapers were saying: "Lincoln buys his own son out of the Army while calling for new drafts of the sons of others."

For two years, Bob had wanted to leave college and join the Army. But before doing so, he wanted his father's permission, in order to avoid family scandal.

The President's permission had not been forthcoming, however, and Bob knew the reason. His father's reluctance stemmed from the fact that his mother was still grieving over the loss of Bob's brother, Willie, a sensitive, precocious child who died in the White House in 1862, when he was just 10 years old. Mary Lincoln simply couldn't bear the thought of risking the loss of another son—this time in battle.

THERE WAS a strange, detached relationship between the two. Bob had seen little of his father when he was growing up. When Abraham Lincoln had finally settled down to practicing law in Springfield, Ill., Bob had been sent to school in New Hampshire. Physically, Robert was short and slight, and personally he was quiet and reserved—in many ways the exact opposite of his father.

On his infrequent visits to the White House, he would sometimes observe with envy his father's easy, affectionate relationship with his two younger brothers, Willie and the irrepressible Tad. Once he had found 12-year-old Tad sporting a "lieutenant's commission" (given him in jest by the War Department) and imperiously drilling the White House servants at the end of a long working day. Bob ordered Tad to stop. When he refused, Bob angrily reported the incident to his father. The President dismissed it as a joke, leaving his eldest son bewildered and hurt.

Now, Robert Lincoln was in Washington determined to exact a promise that he could join the Army. He had been trying unsuccessfully to see his father all day—and the evening was denied him, too. There was a state reception for visiting diplomats, and the President would have to stand for hours in the receiving line. Bob had to return to Harvard the following morning; yet he must see his father. But how?

That evening, in the midst of the reception, the bored and distraught President—his thoughts far away on the battlefield with General Grant—was brought abruptly back to the queue of people before him. A familiar voice was saying: "Good evening, Mr. President. I wonder if I might have a few minutes of private conversation with you?"

THE DELIGHTED President couldn't believe his eyes. It was the sober, serious Robert; he had worked his way up through the long line of well-wishers to his father. For an instant, there passed between them a warmth that neither had ever fully known before. The President cuffed his son playfully on the cheek, then drew him aside from the line. They talked.

Soon after, a letter was sent from the Executive Mansion to General Grant in the field. It said in part:

"Please read and answer this letter as though I was not President but only a friend. My son, now in his 22nd year, having graduated at Harvard, wishes to see something of the war before it ends. Could he, without embarrassment to you or detriment to the service, go into your military family . . . ?"

Robert Lincoln served for the remainder of the war on Grant's staff. He won the friendship and respect of his comrades in arms.

And he not only survived the war, but the rest of his family, as well. Robert Lincoln, who died in 1926 at the age of 83, was the only son of Abraham Lincoln to reach maturity—and the last surviving male descendant of one of America's most beloved Presidents.

How to Guard Your Family Against Crime

This is National Crime Prevention Week, a good time to learn how you can avoid innocently aiding and abetting some crook

By PETER J. PITCHESS

as told to Patricia and Ron Deutsch

CRIME, like disease, can be prevented.

Most crimes are spur-of-the-moment things. The criminal watches for an opportunity and strikes quickly. If you know what he is looking for, you can often remove that opportunity—and prevent the crime.

For example, in a very large percentage of the car-theft cases in Los Angeles County last year, the keys had been left in the ignition. In many other cases, doors were left temptingly open.

Locking your car doesn't mean you are safe from theft, but a thief is more likely to pass up a locked car for an easier mark.

Much of the same is true of most other criminal acts against American families. You should learn how your family is vulnerable to crime—and how you can reduce the vulnerability.

Many shoppers, for example, leave valuable items lying on the back seats of unlocked cars. Never leave such property in view. Lock it in the trunk. No thief will jimmy a trunk unless he knows there is a real prize inside. It takes a crowbar, and the ensuing scene is an attention-getter.

At home, your garage is especially vulnerable, since it is full of nice pawnables. In most garage thefts last year, the door was wide open. Also, many a mower, bike, or power tool was left temptingly outside.

Keep things under cover. And lock your garage. Sure, the lock can be picked. But why should a thief bother when some kindly soul will make it all so much simpler by being careless? Another precaution you can take is to know what you own. Keep a simple list of valuables—cars, cameras, mowers, appliances—with their make, color, model, year, registration, and engine numbers. Then we police know just what we're looking for. The article may go through several hands before we catch up to it, and we must prove it's yours.

Any experienced thief can get into your house. But you can take steps to discourage him from trying—not only with locks but with light.

BURGLARS usually strike in the dark hours. They are nervous. And light makes them feel they may be watched. That's why my office started a "burn-a-light-at-night" program.

For a penny or two, you can burn a light all night. Where? At least one inside and one out. Unless the thief knows you have a Rembrandt inside, he'll probably hunt a darker corner.

Keep your privacy, too, and that of your neighbors. Americans rarely demand identification before they ask an "insurance inspector" in or give a "credit checker" a rundown on the living habits of the people next door.

Think how much anyone can learn from such questions. And think before you publicize your vacation trip, your new mink, or the fact you're never home at noon. The good thief is eager to know.

If you leave home for a trip, let the police know. Get someone to pick up mail, newspapers, and throw-aways. Leave a light burning.

What about the woman home alone? Her best protection is in light and drawn shades, together with wholesome suspicion of callers. But there are two other important defenses—a telephone by the bed and a dog. Remember, it's the bark, not the size, that counts in a dog. A small yippy dog can wake a neighborhood, and criminals hate noise.

As for the telephone, don't hesitate to call us. The prowler you see about your house may be a man the police are hunting.

Late at night, people should walk where there is light. If you think you are being followed, just pound on the nearest door. (It's amazing how few people will do this.) If a threat comes close, yell!

In our schools, our officers now teach children to refuse candy, gifts, rides, and attentions from strangers—especially in movies or when they are alone. But there are things we'd like to teach parents as well. And the first is: know where your children are.

Know when school is out, where Johnny will be playing, and what time he'll be home for supper. Then enforce those times. Insist that Johnny phone you if he is late for any reason. You'd be shocked to know how many missing-child reports we get hours late.

A threat to safety is as much our business as the accomplished criminal act. Only you can tell us of that threat. If we don't know the dangers, we can't do our job of protecting you.

He took as his text the story of Ananias, who told a lie to Peter and was struck dead. "God doesn't strike people dead for lying the way He used to," he said, getting more nervous with each word until his thoughts became jumbled, and he concluded: "If he did, where would I be?"

When he heard the congregation snicker, he realized what he had said, but he was quick-witted enough to come up with an answer: "I'll tell you where I would be—I would be right here, preaching to an empty house."

Two men from Mars decided to reconnoiter Earth, but to get a true picture they realized they must appear as inconspicuous as possible. They obtained everyday American dress, learned the language, and in general made themselves as ordinary as possible.

Through their first day on Earth, nobody noticed a thing about them, and when they ate dinner at an exclusive restaurant that night it was almost in celebration over their disguises. But as they were paying their checks, they were astonished to hear the waiter say:

"You must be from Mars."

"What? How could you tell?" the Martians asked, dumbfounded. "Well," the waiter replied, "you're the first customers to pay cash since I've been working here."

A family was spending a holiday at a Florida resort, and the mother and her daughter went to the beach. "Now don't go in the water," the mother said. "It's too cold." Then she shouted, "Don't play in the sand, either—it's too damp."

A few minutes later, when the daughter began playing with some children, the mother called again: "Mustn't play with strangers, dear." The child came over and asked for an ice-cream cone. "No," the mother replied, "it's too fattening."

"Well, then may I have a hamburger?" the girl asked.

"It'll spoil your dinner," the mother answered. Then she turned to a bystander and sighed: "Did you ever see such a neurotic child?"

Carl Akeley moved leisurely toward the stairs—and I was moving with him. "Tell me," he said, "what are you doing here?"

The Great Man's cragged face stared with a kind of defiant serenity from posters, from pages of our two local newspapers. Power and enigma of the African wilderness shone in his eyes—as if a pride of lions walked with him.

His name was Carl Akeley; and although it is now more than 40 years since last I looked at him, I still remember vividly the moment when his big misshapen fingers touched my life.

In those days, I was surrounded by Little Men. My father was divorced and mainly out of the picture. My maternal grandfather—hard-working, taciturn, grimly honest—was still a Little Man. So was the man who owned the newspaper which my mother edited, and where I worked, helping her. So were the bulk of those who walked the Webster City streets.

A staunch Jerry Lewis fan, Patti has played "straight woman" to a million gags for the last 18 Valentine's Days.

In 1946, Jerry joined Dean Martin. Their almost instant success thrilled us all, and Jerry's insane comedy routines, both on stage and off, had everybody collapsing with laughter. When Jerry and Dean appeared in New York, Jerry stopped traffic for blocks by playing a saxophone in his underwear from a hotel balcony.

I was often embarrassed by such clowning, but I kept hoping it was a problem Jerry would work out for himself. These were the years when Jerry and Dean spent months on the night-club circuit. Because of the children, I couldn't travel with Jerry, who hated to be alone, and so the two partners became like brothers. Jerry was the goofy kid and Dean was the older boy who encouraged and laughed at the antics.

Once, after reading about a raucous party in Chicago, I said to Jerry: "I know you want friends, and I ask only one thing. Please don't do anything that will make people feel sorry for me."

Jerry promised to try, but the need to be loved by strangers remained terribly urgent. He kept clowning, and every time the columnists reported another of his wild stunts, I felt like wincing. At one point, I became so depressed I told Jerry: "I've waited so long for you to start behaving like an adult, and now I'm not sure I want to wait any more."

WHEN JERRY realized I meant these words, it came as a jolt—but it was a turning point in our marriage. From that day, he began to make a serious effort to understand what he was doing and why.

The wild antics finally came to an abrupt end when Jerry and Dean broke up their partnership. Few people know how hard this decision was. Jerry loved Dean, but they were such different people that tension between them as performers was inevitable. The days that followed the breakup were perhaps the most painful in Jerry's life. He seemed completely lost. He even refused to go out to a restaurant unless I accompanied him.

We decided to vacation in Las Vegas, and Jerry began to feel better. Our last day there Sid Luft called to say that Judy Garland had laryngitis and couldn't do her night-club show. He asked if Jerry would go on in her place.

I saw the scared, little-boy look on Jerry's face; it had been years since he had done a single. "What do you think?" he whispered to me, his hand covering the phone.

"I think you're big enough to do it," I said.

Jerry took a deep breath and said, "Yes," into the phone. That evening he swept the audience into wild applause with one of the finest performances of his career.

I felt tremendous pride in Jerry that night. The pride has been growing ever since. He has become more mature and confident. When he is working on a movie or tv show, he may sometimes clown as in the old days, but it's less frantic. Everyone, from technicians to producers, knows he is serious about his work and respects him for this.

I'M NOT SAYING Jerry no longer needs people around him. He still hates to be alone, and at night he finds it hard to fall asleep unless he has me or a close friend nearby. When he had to go to Arizona recently to shoot sequences for his new movie, "The Nutty Professor," I flew out with him at his request.

One trait of Jerry's that surprises most people is his yearning for perfection in everything. This occasionally creates problems for his sons.

There was one occasion several years ago when Gary, our oldest, was deliberately rude to me at the dinner table. Some fathers might have shouted, but Jerry immediately grabbed his belt for a whipping.

After the punishment, Gary ran to his room in tears while Jerry stood trembling. We have an intercom system which allows us to talk and hear from every room in the house. It was turned on when Gary said to me a few minutes later: "You know, Mom, I think Dad must love me very much. That's why he gets so angry and wants to hurt." When I got back to Jerry, he was in tears. I don't think he has ever forgotten those words.

There's a growing gentleness in my funny Valentine these days. Perhaps he is learning that the people who count in his life really do love him. The other night, he said: "Honey, I love you, but I also need you. Loving and needing—they go together."

When Jerry said this, I knew how deeply I loved and needed him, too.

tic jokes I felt the gentleness of this young man and his deep need for affection.

In 1946, Jerry joined Dean Martin. Their almost instant success thrilled us all, and Jerry's insane comedy routines, both on stage and off, had everybody collapsing with laughter. When Jerry and Dean appeared in New York, Jerry stopped traffic for blocks by playing a saxophone in his underwear from a hotel balcony.

I was often embarrassed by such clowning, but I kept hoping it was a problem Jerry would work out for himself. These were the years when Jerry and Dean spent months on the night-club circuit. Because of the children, I couldn't travel with Jerry, who hated to be alone, and so the two partners became like brothers. Jerry was the goofy kid and Dean was the older boy who encouraged and laughed at the antics.

Once, after reading about a raucous party in Chicago, I said to Jerry: "I know you want friends, and I ask only one thing. Please don't do anything that will make people feel sorry for me."

Jerry promised to try, but the need to be loved by strangers remained terribly urgent. He kept clowning, and every time the columnists reported another of his wild stunts, I felt like wincing. At one point, I became so depressed I told Jerry: "I've waited so long for you to start behaving like an adult, and now I'm not sure I want to wait any more."

WHEN JERRY realized I meant these words, it came as a jolt—but it was a turning point in our marriage. From that day, he began to make a serious effort to understand what he was doing and why.

The wild antics finally came to an abrupt end when Jerry and Dean broke up their partnership. Few people know how hard this decision was. Jerry loved Dean, but they were such different people that tension between them as performers was inevitable. The days that followed the breakup were perhaps the most painful in Jerry's life. He seemed completely lost. He even refused to go out to a restaurant unless I accompanied him.

We decided to vacation in Las Vegas, and Jerry began to feel better. Our last day there Sid Luft called to say that Judy Garland had laryngitis and couldn't do her night-club show. He asked if Jerry would go on in her place.

I saw the scared, little-boy look on Jerry's face; it had been years since he had done a single. "What do you think?" he whispered to me, his hand covering the phone.

"I think you're big enough to do it," I said.

Jerry took a deep breath and said, "Yes," into the phone. That evening he swept the audience into wild applause with one of the finest performances of his career.

I felt tremendous pride in Jerry that night. The pride has been growing ever since. He has become more mature and confident. When he is working on a movie or tv show, he may sometimes clown as in the old days, but it's less frantic. Everyone, from technicians to producers, knows he is serious about his work and respects him for this.

I'M NOT SAYING Jerry no longer needs people around him. He still hates to be alone, and at night he finds it hard to fall asleep unless he has me or a close friend nearby. When he had to go to Arizona recently to shoot sequences for his new movie, "The Nutty Professor," I flew out with him at his request.

One trait of Jerry's that surprises most people is his yearning for perfection in everything. This occasionally creates problems for his sons.

There was one occasion several years ago when Gary, our oldest, was deliberately rude to me at the dinner table. Some fathers might have shouted, but Jerry immediately grabbed his belt for a whipping.

After the punishment, Gary ran to his room in tears while Jerry stood trembling. We have an intercom system which allows us to talk and hear from every room in the house. It was turned on when Gary said to me a few minutes later: "You know, Mom, I think Dad must love me very much. That's why he gets so angry and wants to hurt." When I got back to Jerry, he was in tears. I don't think he has ever forgotten those words.

nish the wherewithal for my sister and myself to attend school in that city. He had neglected us for many years, but we believed eagerly in his promises and made the change.

I was 14: tall and gangling and ridden almost equally with ambitions to be a crack entomologist specializing in butterflies and moths and to enlist in the Army for service overseas in World War I. Neither of these ambitions was achieved; but I did try.

On the entomological front, I soon made contact with Dr. Gerhardt at the Field Museum. Why this genial man put up with me is something I will never know; but he did his best to welcome the fumbling intrusion of an enthusiastic boy who came claiming his time on Saturdays and sometimes late on weekday afternoons also.

One cold winter day, in that drafty tangle of dim hallways I found a small assemblage of museum officials and workmen who were, for the moment, honored by the presence of Carl Akeley. He had dropped in to give his opinion concerning some exhibits. I stood close and, with the rest, thrilled to the impressive conversation of this internationally famous naturalist, explorer, and sculptor, who towered like a silver-clad peak in his field.

There were not many more moments of happiness for me in Chicago, however. My father was arrested for using the mails to defraud; I quit school and went to work as an office boy to help provide eating money for the family. Then the Child-Labor inspectors caught up with me and threw me out of my job because I was under 16. We had to go back to Iowa.

For me, returning to Webster City High School was a painful experience. I was now three years behind my old class, and I was more aware than ever that the school was filled with parrot voices, squeaking and quacking trivial parrot notions. But I did not know how really painful school could be until I made the mistake of bragging that I had met Carl Akeley, stood beside him, even—I laughed—worked with him.

Fervently, I launched into a recital of Akeley's accomplishments. I pointed out how he had revolutionized the whole process of zoological exhibitions by striving for a presentation in which specimens were set before the public in their natural posture and surroundings. I told of his journeys and writings, his fight to protect the gorillas from those who would murder them pointlessly.

"And yet I guess you couldn't call a man like that very soft," I added, "not a man who actually killed a leopard with his bare hands!"

"Bare hands?"

"He had nothing else at the moment, and it was a case of either Dr. Akeley or the leopard. He doesn't hanker after killing animals, but that time he had to do it."

Loose Talk in Front of Spies

They stood regarding me doubtfully. There were not only friends in this crew, there were Enemies as well: the ones whom we called spies—spies for the Principal, spies for the Superintendent. I was sticking my neck way out. I should have known better, but didn't.

"What do you mean, Mack? You say you worked with him—"

"Certainly!" I shot back with all the show-off arrogance of youth (most especially youth which has been savagely bruised). "We helped move some things out of an exhibit and put them in another case. Everybody worked and shoved, side by side! Even the head of the museum. Sure, I met Carl Akeley and worked with him."

That time I was really asking for it. And I got it. Oh, how I got it . . .

When I arrived at school that fateful morning, there were people waiting for me in the hall. I saw faces smiling, and some of the smiles weren't very pleasant. I felt a little chilly but still didn't know why.

"Mack, have you seen the bulletin board?"

No, I had not; so they led me up to read the thing displayed there.

The homemade handbill was prepared in neatest type. There was a picture of Carl Akeley and the announcement that, while in town for the lecture, he had consented to talk to the high-school students that very morning. Worst of all was the paragraph appended, which read something like this:

"It may interest the high-school classes to know that one of their fellow members, Mack Kantor, once became acquainted with Dr. Akeley and worked side by side with him at the Field Museum in Chicago. No doubt this will come as a surprise to many, and probably it will be an especially happy surprise for Dr. Akeley to greet his old friend. Mack will be encouraged to meet with Dr. Akeley immediately after the latter has finished his discourse in the assembly room."

The whole purpose of this enterprise, of course, was to reveal me as a liar. In our tenderhearted Webster City of that period there was, unhappily for me, a school of thought which reiterated through the years: "Mack will probably turn out to be just like his father."

I stood there with personal and social disaster only minutes ahead. Carl Akeley wouldn't remember me, naturally enough. Why should he recall a bony schoolboy who had been one of a throng—three years before—and during a momentary encounter?

Leading a Lamb to Slaughter

There was sweat on the back of my neck, sweat under my hair. I tried to smile . . .

"Did you hear that?" said a voice in my ear. "They've just rung the bell for assembly. Come on, Mack. Up to the assembly room!"

Then I was walking. My footfalls sounded tiny and far away.

We reached the assembly room. I was in a trance. Somehow I sat down, tried to grin feebly; and then the next moment the Superintendent was on the platform with Carl Akeley beside him.

I haven't the slightest idea what Carl Akeley talked about that morning; didn't know then, can't tell you now. Brief it must have been: speakers were never asked to appear for more than 15 minutes. But it seemed like 15 hours to me.

Eventually we applauded the speaker. A bell rang for dismissal, and we all rose up and turned away from our desks; we filled the aisles.

I tried to find shelter behind others, tried to droop down, efface myself physically, and this was difficult to manage because I was tall. Then quickly . . . oh, it will be over soon, it will be over . . . my nickname was called—a single syllable like the cracking of a whip.

"Mack," the Superintendent called. "Come here!" He was smiling—how he smiled—and the burly Principal was grinning behind him.

Carl Akeley halted and looked puzzled.

"Just a minute, sir, if you please," said the Principal. "Here's an old friend of yours."

Somehow, I'd walked that distance to the front of the room. I stood there and looked into those deep-set eyes. Feebly, I was extending my hand.

"Surely, Dr. Akeley," said the Superintendent, "you'll remember someone who says he knew you at the Field Museum?"

They repeated my name again and again—repeated it with various inflections, and their triumphant leer was as the smirk of devils. Three hundred students stood staring, wondering what would happen; but most of them thought they knew. And all those teachers rimmed along the back of the room and at the sides—they were watching, the world was watching.

I said: "Dr. Akeley, sir. It was only once that we met. I was with Dr. Gerhardt. They were moving an exhibit—"

A Last-Minute Reprieve

The expression on his face underwent complete alteration. Never have I seen so much compassion, such nobility projected into a human countenance, and all in a split second.

He knew! Dr. Akeley knew. He knew what they were trying to do to me.

"Remember you?" he cried. "Of course I remember you!"

He repeated the name they had uttered to him, the name he had never heard before, would never recall more; yet he made a magic of it.

"Of course, of course!" he cried. "In Chicago, some years ago. Yes, you've grown so much, Mack, I didn't know you! You were a friend of Osgood, right? Of course, of course—"

And I hadn't been a friend of Dr. Osgood; I had only watched him in admiration, when sometimes we passed in a museum corridor.

Carl Akeley moved leisurely toward the staircase—and I was moving with him because he had his arm across my shoulders and was impelling me on his way, which had now become my way.

"Tell me," he said, "what are you doing here?"

"Well, sir, I was interested in entomology at that time. But now I want to be a writer. I'm working on a newspaper, part time, and going to school the rest of the time."

"Ah, yes," he said. "Writing: sad and lonely business! But of course—" The deep eyes peered at me. "If you're determined, there will be no stopping you." His thick arm, that arm so torn and scarred, tightened across my shoulders.

Students and teachers had parted to let us through as we went down the stairs. We reached the second floor and then shook hands.

"Sir," I said, "I've got to go to class. It was nice of you to—remember me—"

"How could I help it?" said the Great Man. "And, Mack—you'll be at my lecture tonight?"

"Yes, sir. I'll be there."

So his voice comes down the years—all the way from the Africa where his gnarled bones rest, all the way from that challenging Paradise which his soul must be exploring.

In those few minutes, by force and example, he had taught me something that I needed very much to learn. He taught me that the measure of a man's true greatness is not necessarily in the extent of his accomplishments but in the extent to which his heart remains unsoiled, unspoiled, forever understanding.

I had been surrounded by rodents and needed to meet up with a tawny lion. I had met one.

Jerry Lewis, My Funny Valentine

By PATTI LEWIS
As told to Marya Saunders and Bob Gaines

What's it like to be married to a zany comic? Jerry's wife tells us in this intimate, heart-warming love letter

BEING IN LOVE with one of the world's most successful and zany comedians is like holding onto the tail of a kite in a hurricane. The ups and downs are breath-taking.

For 18 Valentine's Days, I have played "straight woman" to a million Jerry Lewis gags—and then supplied a shoulder to cry on when the gags turned to tears. During those years, I have been buffeted by the endless contradictions of my amazing and creative husband. For example:

—Jerry can negotiate a million-dollar tv contract, then come home wearing crazy eyeglasses and phony buck teeth to play with our five boys, four dogs, and three cats.

—He wants a peaceful and orderly home, but I never know when he may suddenly run into the kitchen and try to tape the cook to the stove.

—He will play the tv and hi-fi at an ear-splitting yowl (he's slightly deaf in one ear), then insist we give away our pet duck because it's too noisy.

In the words of that wonderful Rodgers and Hart song, Jerry is "My Funny Valentine." But although life with him is a constant stream of paradoxes, he is the secure foundation on which my life is built. He has become a fine artist and a responsible, loving husband and father. And he has given me a home, children, pride—and the strength of a deep and growing love.

We were such lonely, frightened children when we first met. My parents were divorced. Jerry's parents had been in show business, and he grew up shunted among relatives.

In 1944, I had a job singing with a dance band in Detroit. Jerry was doing a pantomime of opera records during the intermissions. He was a skinny, wild, 17-year-old kid who clowned to get attention and love. Often he would jar me with crazy antics, but then he'd become strangely gentle.

On our first date, we sat down over a chicken salad and were so shy we could barely talk. Several weeks later, Jerry took me to the same restaurant. When he couldn't get attention from the waiters, he dumped a bowl of oatmeal over his own head.

We had a lunatic courtship. He used to scrawl love notes on my dressing-room mirror with lipstick and hide in the dark corners backstage and jump out at me with jokes and gags. He was wild and unpredictable, but beneath his fran-

For 18 Valentine's Days, I have played "straight woman" to a million Jerry Lewis gags—and then supplied a shoulder to cry on when the gags turned to tears. During those years, I have been buffeted by the endless contradictions of my amazing and creative husband. For example:

—Jerry can negotiate a million-dollar tv contract, then come home wearing crazy eyeglasses and phony buck teeth to play with our five boys, four dogs, and three cats.

—He wants a peaceful and orderly home, but I never know when he may suddenly run into the kitchen and try to tape the cook to the stove.

—He will play the tv and hi-fi at an ear-splitting yowl (he's slightly deaf in one ear), then insist we give away our pet duck because it's too noisy.

In the words of that wonderful Rodgers and Hart song, Jerry is "My Funny Valentine." But although life with him is a constant stream of paradoxes, he is the secure foundation on which my life is built. He has become a fine artist and a responsible, loving husband and father. And he has given me a home, children, pride—and the strength of a deep and growing love.

We were such lonely, frightened children when we first met. My parents were divorced. Jerry's parents had been in show business, and he grew up shunted among relatives.

In 1944, I had a job singing with a dance band in Detroit. Jerry was doing a pantomime of opera records during the intermissions. He was a skinny, wild, 17-year-old kid who clowned to get attention and love. Often he would jar me with crazy antics, but then he'd become strangely gentle.

On our first date, we sat down over a chicken salad and were so shy we could barely talk. Several weeks later, Jerry took me to the same restaurant. When he couldn't get attention from the waiters, he dumped a bowl of oatmeal over his own head.

We had a lunatic courtship. He used to scrawl love notes on my dressing-room mirror with lipstick and hide in the dark corners backstage and jump out at me with jokes and gags. He was wild and unpredictable, but beneath his fran-

STRIKE OUT?

America has long been batting high in science and invention, business and trade, living standards and ideals for peace. But there may be scoreless innings if we do not train enough heavy hitters with higher education.

This is causing concern. Many colleges are in a squeeze. Some face shortages, and in less than 10 years there will be twice as many applicants.

To stay ahead, we must see that our colleges have modern laboratories, enough classrooms and a steady supply of competent teachers.

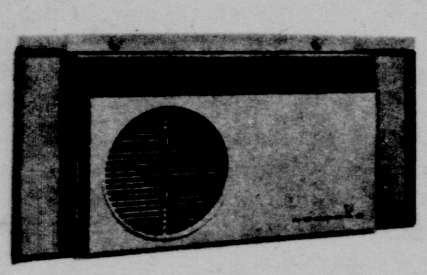
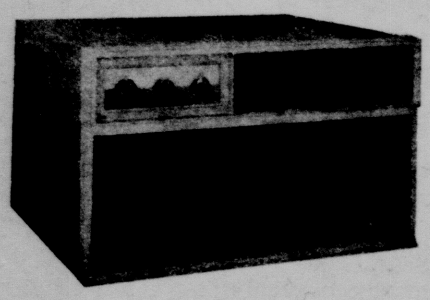
Gibson's Air Sweep unit features oscillating vanes that automatically can sweep cool air from wall to wall every five seconds.



This Fedders' unit sports a weather wheel, which enables air to flow in any two directions, and an air cushion that reduces operating sound.



Whirlpool built a comfort-guard control into its room units, designed to reduce overchilling and help balance room temperature.

For cooling a youngster's room on a tight budget, parents might select Carrier's Ready-Mount unit—it's easy to install, has high- and low-speed settings, washable filter.

and now..."INSTANT EXERCISE!"

Get the slimmer, stronger body you want with a fabulous new minute-a-day short-cut developed and proved out by a leading coach

IMAGINE a 6-second exercise that helps keep you fit better than 24 push-ups! Or, another that's capable of doubling muscular strength in 3 weeks!

Both these "quickie" exercises are part of a fantastically simple body-building method developed by Alabama fitness expert and athletic coach, Dr. Donald J. Salls. His own trim physique, his family's vigorous health and the nail-hard brawn of his teams are dramatic proof of the results he gets — not to mention the steady stream of reports coming in from housewives, athletes, even school children who have discovered Dr. Salls' remarkable "static exercises."

Most Americans find exercise a tedious chore. Yet we all recognize the urgent personal and social needs for keeping our bodies strong, shapely and healthy. What man wouldn't take secret pride in displaying a more muscular figure? What woman doesn't long to trade in those flabby spots for a slimmer, more attractive figure?

The endless time and trouble required to get such results has been a major, if not impossible, hurdle for so many of us. But now doctors, trainers and physical educators are beginning to recommend the easy new approach to body fitness and weight control that Dr. Salls has distilled down to his wonderfully simple set of 10 exercises.

Each of Dr. Salls' exercises take only 6 seconds. All total just 1 minute per day. And you can do most of these "static exercises" almost anywhere—at work, waiting for a bus, while shaving in the morning. No special equipment is required. There's no special exertion, not even heavy breathing!

"Research shows that the right kind of exercise is much more important than how much you take," points out Dr. Salls. And there's overwhelming evidence that his kind of exercise is the right kind. The revolutionary principle he's applying has the impressive support of such institutions as New York University as well as leading physiologists, physical educators, Olympic stars, fashion models and scores of professional athletes.

Time Magazine, Reader's Digest, newspapers and scientific journals have started to call nationwide attention to the exciting concept behind Dr. Salls' minute-a-day "static exercises." One leading university recently published a bulletin stating: "This new method brings together all the known scientific facts of strength development and body mechanics. It is scientifically proven and a very rapid way of developing super strength."

It all started when a European scientist tied down one leg of a frog in a laboratory experiment. Later inspection revealed that the tied leg grew stronger than the free leg — because of what physiologists call isometric tension. The same principle then was applied to the human body. Within days, specialized tension exercises of a few seconds duration each were found to greatly increase muscular strength, firm up flabby areas, even improve bust profile and general posture. As word spread, the method became a widely held professional secret among fitness experts.

Then Dr. Salls perfected his set of "10 static exercises in 1 minute"— his XSXIM Program — built on this quick, almost effortless approach.

Results have been surprising. For example:

Mrs. Arland Carter, Ft. Payne housewife, reports that in 14 days Dr. Salls' exercises took ¾ of an inch off her calfs, 1 inch off her thighs, 2 inches off her waist and increased her bust measurement ¾ of an inch.

E. V. Newman, a supervisor of physical education in Alabama, writes that "after 3 weeks of isometric exercises one of my students increased his ability to press (lift) from 160 pounds to 240 pounds."

J. B. Hammett, a Jacksonville service station operator, states that Dr. Salls' "static exercises" have allowed him to take 3½ inches off his waistline, trim down to a youthful 30½ inch girth in less than 10 weeks.

stronger, firmer muscles • slimmer waist, thighs, calfs, forearms, neck • increased bust development for women better muscular tone and coordination • improved posture, stronger back • greater muscular endurance.

Results are controlled primarily by the individual's own ideas of how far he or she desires to carry body building. If a man wants to have bulging weight-lifter's arms and shoulders, he simply concentrates more on certain of Dr. Salls' exercises. If a housewife seeks a more shapely midriff, a few weeks with several of the 6-second workouts usually will bring the desired results.

Now you — and your children, too — can have stronger, slimmer, healthier bodies without either the strain or boredom of old-fashioned exercises. Dr. Salls will send a full set of his instructions, complete with illustrations, to interested readers who use the coupon on this page. Remember! These exercises are different: they take you just 6 seconds each!

GEORGIA BEAUTY

MORNING STRETCH

for Dr. Salls, former Alabama football star, and his family is limited to his ten 6-second exercises. Yet this remarkably easy new routine keeps them in better condition than the tedious, old-fashioned "daily dozen."

Cook in cool comfort is the idea behind this General Electric unit. It fits a single pane of glass without blocking light or view, has four rotating air directors.

Conditioning

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

AIR CONDITIONING is an enjoyment that needn't wait until the "season" begins.

Bought early, a room air conditioner will be ready to provide cool comfort on the first hot day—which may be well in advance of normal summer heat waves.

Preseason buying also gives a family time to shop for the model that's just right for its needs or have a dealer order a model that's not in stock at the moment.

The exhaust cycle found on most units provides a winter bonus by freshening stale rooms without the chill of open doors and windows. And for millions of hay-fever and allergy sufferers, who feel better with the controlled temperature and filter-pure air supplied by air conditioning, there is this added incentive: the Internal Revenue Service allows an air conditioner to be deducted as a medical expense—provided it is recommended by a physician, is used specifically to help relieve illness, and does not become a permanent part of the dwelling.

The new room air conditioners are quieter and more attractive than ever. The majority are constructed of weather-resistant materials and finishes that give years of protection. Some are small enough to fit the width of a windowpane, and one leading firm has covered its units with beautiful cabinet-like fronts to match the four most popular periods of décor—traditional, early American, provincial, and contemporary.

OTHER FEATURES to look for include: thermostats which operate automatically once set; removable, washable filters; two- and three-speed fans; adjustable controls for directing the cool air flow where desired; settings for fresh air and exhaust without cooling.

A unit with too much cooling capacity will cost more to buy and operate but will not do better than one that is correctly matched to the job. The most accurate method of rating a room air conditioner is by measuring its capacity in British Thermal Units per hour. BTUs indicate the amount of heat a unit removes from a room each hour. This rating is replacing inaccurate ton and horsepower designations.

The most popular air-conditioner sizes range from 6,000 to 8,000 BTUs. But the trend today is toward 8,000 to 10,000 and even larger capacities that can cool more than one room.

Under a program sponsored by the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, the cooling capacities of more than 92 percent of all room air conditioners on the market are certified by an independent testing laboratory. Customers can ask to see the latest directory of certified models and also can ask to be shown the official certification seal affixed to the unit.

SARAKA SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF "AFTER 45" IRREGULARITY

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

Doctor-approved bulk stimulant helps keep you comfortably on schedule as no ordinary laxative can!

As we grow older, our systems may often need outside aid to help maintain a normal regularity pattern. Continued use of strong drug laxatives can be irritating, even dangerous. That's why many doctors recommend SARAKA, the pure, all-vegetable bulk stimulant laxative for middle age and over. SARAKA supplies the moist, bland bulk that is so essential to healthy bowel function. And only SARAKA has a gentle stimulant action to help ease this bulk through your system plus Vitamin B_1.

Special note to weight watchers: Lack of sufficient bulk in 900 calorie liquids can lead to constipation. If this occurs, supplement your daily diet with all-vegetable SARAKA.

Jeweled Nutmeg Mold

- 2 tablespoons (2 env.) unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 3 cups cold water
- 1 egg
- 4 egg yolks
- 1¾ cups instant nonfat dry milk
- 2 tablespoons vanilla extract
- ¼ cup ice-cold water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 4 egg whites
- ¾ cup (about 6 oz.) chopped mixed candied fruits

1. Mix the first four ingredients together in the top of a double boiler. Stir in the 3 cups water.

2. Beat the egg and egg yolks together. Stir with 1½ cups of the dry milk crystals into the gelatin mixture.

3. Set over simmering water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a spoon, about 18 min. Cool. Stir in vanilla extract.

4. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of thick, unbeaten egg white. If chilled over ice and water, stir frequently; if chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally.

5. Combine the ¼ cup dry milk crystals and ice-cold water; using a rotary beater, beat until soft peaks form. Add lemon juice and continue beating until stiff peaks form.

6. Using a clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff (but not dry) peaks are formed. Stir candied fruits into gelatin mixture; fold in whipped nonfat dry milk and the egg whites.

7. Turn into a fancy 2-qt. mold which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm, 4 to 6 hrs. Unmold onto a chilled serving plate. 8 to 10 servings

Crimson Soup

Emphasize the lovely color of this soup by arranging a tray with a crystal pitcher of soup and demitasse cups for service in the living room.

- 1 1-lb. can diced beets, drained (reserve liquid)
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ cup cider vinegar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 cups chilled cream

1. Combine the reserved beet liquid and enough water to make 1 cup. Add the sugar, vinegar, and salt and stir until sugar is dissolved.

2. Force beets through a coarse sieve or food mill into the liquid mixture. Cover and chill thoroughly. Just before serving, blend in the cream.

About 8 servings

Note: If desired, soup may be served hot.

DINNER MENU

Crimson Soup
Roast Loin of Pork — Hot Cinnamon Apples
Broccoli with Buttery Lemon Crunch
Mashed Potatoes
Grapefruit-Avocado Salad
Celery Curls — Assorted Yeast Rolls
Jeweled Nutmeg Mold — Almond Awards
Coffee

Roast Loin of Pork

Rub a 3- to 5-lb. pork loin roast with a mixture of 4 teaspoons dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon Accent, and ¼ teaspoon black pepper. Place pork, fat side up, in a shallow roasting pan. Insert roast-meat thermometer in center of thickest part of meat, being sure it does not rest in fat or on bone. Roast, uncovered, at 350°F 2 to 3 hrs., allowing 35 to 40 min. per pound. Meat is done when internal temperature reaches 185°F. Remove thermometer and transfer meat to a heated serving platter. Garnish with Hot Cinnamon Apples.

Hot Cinnamon Apples

- 3 cups sugar
- 1½ cups water
- ⅔ cup red cinnamon candies
- ½ teaspoon red food coloring
- 6 small tart cooking apples, cored and pared

1. Combine the first four ingredients in a large, deep saucepan; bring to boiling, stirring until sugar and candies are dissolved.

2. Add apples to sirup and simmer, uncovered, until apples are tender, about 10 min.; turn frequently. Remove from heat and allow to stand about 20 min., or until apples are evenly colored, turning frequently.

3. Serve hot as a meat accompaniment. 6 servings

Broccoli with Buttery Lemon Crunch

- 1½ lbs. broccoli, cooked in salted water
- ¼ cup butter
- ½ cup coarse dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed in a garlic press or minced
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Few grains black pepper

1. While broccoli is cooking, heat ¼ cup butter in a large skillet; add crumbs and heat, stirring frequently, until well browned. Remove crumbs from butter with a slotted spoon and mix with the lemon peel.

2. Put remaining ingredients into skillet; heat until butter is lightly browned. Add broccoli and turn gently until well coated with butter. Transfer broccoli to a heated vegetable dish and pour remaining garlic butter over it. Top with the "lemoned" crumbs.

About 6 servings

Grenadine Salad Dressing

- ¾ cup grenadine
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1½ teaspoons whole celery seed
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Few grains white pepper
- ½ teaspoon grated onion
- ¾ cup salad oil

1. Combine first seven ingredients and beat with a rotary beater until thoroughly mixed.

2. Add the salad oil very gradually, beating constantly; continue beating until dressing thickens slightly. Chill; stir or shake before using.

About 1½ cups dressing

Grapefruit-Avocado Salad — Serve Grenadine Salad Dressing with slices of avocado, grapefruit segments, thin slices of pared cucumber, and thin sweet onion rings arranged on a chilled serving plate lined with lettuce.

Almond Awards

Buttery rich and crunchy—call it candy or call it cookie?

- ½ cup butter
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter
- 1 cup almonds, finely chopped
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup whipping cream

1. Cream ½ cup butter, lemon peel, and ½ cup sugar until fluffy. Blend flour and salt; add to creamed mixture in halves, mixing until well blended after each addition.

2. Turn into an 11x7x1½-in. pan; spread into an even layer.

3. Bake at 375°F for 12 min.

4. Meanwhile, melt ½ cup butter in a heavy saucepan; add almonds and ½ cup sugar. Cook the mixture 3 min., stirring constantly.

5. Stir in cream and heat to boiling; cool slightly. Spoon topping over partially baked layer.

6. Return to oven and bake 20 min. longer, or until light golden. Cool completely; cut into squares or bars.
